Housing Bill Shelved by House Rules Unit, 7 to 5

By Robert C. Albright
Post Reporter

A House Rules Committee coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats yesterday refused to clear the Administration's long-range housing bill for House action.

Overriding the wishes of House leaders who have scheduled the bill as a "must," the committee rejected the housing rule by a vote of 7 to 5.

A motion was entered to reconsider the vote Monday, but Rules Chairman Adolph Sabath (D., Ill.) said he doubted anything would come of it. A shift of one vote would simply tie up the count without budging the bill.

Leaders Alter Plans

House Democratic leaders, who had assembled a caucus of House Democrats in anticipation of a favorable vote, promptly made other plans. Under Speaker Rayburn's "antiblockade" rule, adopted early this session, the Rules Committee can be by-passed. The bill can be brought to a House test on June 27, if the committee doesn't change its mind.

Asked if the leadership has the votes to pass housing legislation, Speaker Rayburn told newsmen: "I think so. I think we can pass the bill when the time comes."

The caucus assembled at 4 p. m., shortly after the committee balked at a rule. House Majority Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) addressed Democrats briefly. Then they were released subject to another conference call on the eve of a House housing showdown.

Pre-Vote Caucus Planned

"The caucus was predicated on the theory that the Rules Committee would act at this time," explained Rayburn. "Since we haven't a rule, and since we may not have a chance to consider the bill before June 27, we doubted the wisdom of a caucus now. We do intend to have a caucus before the bill is considered."

These three Southern Democratic members of the committee voted with four Republicans against clearance: Representatives E. E. Cox (Ga.), Howard W. Smith (Va.) and William M. Colmer (Miss.).

The solid Republican "No" vote was cast by Representatives Leo E. Allen (Ill.), Clarence J. Brown (Ohio), James W. Wadsworth (N. Y.) and Christian A. Herter (Mass.).

The bill has already passed the Senate in slightly different form. The House version calls for 1,050,000 public housing units. The Federal Government would make a maximum contribution of 400 million dollars a year for 40 years. State and local governments would put up the remainder.

A letter from Budget Director Frank Pace, jr., replying to queries put to him by the committee, said the cost of the program would be less than has been generally esti-

Senate Approves Funds Bill Cut By $68 Million

By The Associated Press

Economy advocates scored their first sizable victory yesterday as the Senate approved an appropriation bill from which $68,580,000 had been cut.

By a voice vote it stamped its OK on a measure allotting $671,782,000 to operate the State, Justice and Commerce Departments as well as the Judiciary for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The measure provides: $260,172,000 for the State Department, $130,971,000 for the Justice Department, $259,904,000 for the Commerce Department and $20,734,720 for the Judiciary.

The total is $12,833,000 less than the House provided and $68,580,000 below President Truman's budget requests.

The State Department took a slash of $11,233,000 below the House figure.

Number of Idle Rises 273,000 In Five Weeks to 3,289,000

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

Some 273,000 more persons were looking for jobs in May than in April, a month earlier, the Census Bureau reported yesterday.

In a month when the total of employable persons without jobs usually gets less, the number increased from 3,016,000 in the week ending April 9 to 3,289,000 in the week ending May 14.

In other words, the increase was, according to the Census Bureau announcement "contrary to seasonal expectations."

"However," the bureau added, "there was evidence that seasonal factors played an important role in the change. Two thirds of the increase occurred among young persons of high school and college age, probably reflecting their early entry into the labor market in search of summer or post-graduation jobs."

Compared with a year ago the figures are more startling. In May, 1948, there were only 1,761,000 persons looking for work. The increase this year to 3,289,000 is a jump of more than 86 per cent.

The way this difference was brought about was:

The number of persons wanting jobs increased by 1,562,000 between May, 1948, and May, 1949. The number of jobs increased by only 34,000. The result was that 1,528,000 more persons were unemployed than a year ago.

Although the total number unemployed increased both over a year ago and over the month earlier, the total number employed also increased. This was due to an increase in the number of persons employed on farms. Employment in agriculture was 8,974,000; in April it was only 7,820,000; in May a year ago it was only 7,861,000.

But in nonagricultural industries it was only 49,720,000 compared with 49,999,000 in April and 50,800,000 in May, 1948.

In making its survey the bureau counted as employed all persons who had jobs even though they were idle because of strikes, illness, vacations or on layoffs of less than 30 days.

It also counted as employed persons working as little as one hour a week for pay, profit or family benefit, such as many farm wives and children helping in the fields without direct cash payment.

The bureau said that special studies in May showed "about 1,500,000 persons with normally full-time jobs were working short hours, generally three or four days during the week ending May 14, because of slack work, material shortages, job turnover and similar factors."

Senate Group to Propose $3-Billion Budget Cut

Senator McClellan (D., Ark.) said yesterday a proposal to cut Government spending next year by as much as three billion dollars will be handed to the Senate soon.

McClellan said the measure will be offered by the Senate Expenditures Committee, which he heads.

McClellan said the economy proposal will call on Mr. Truman to trim from one and a half to two billion dollars from the proposed spending of domestic agencies.

"Then maybe Congress itself can take enough off of the European recovery bill to make up the rest," he added.

This would be a cut of a billion or more in foreign aid funds, he indicated.

The proposal was agreed upon, McClellan said, at a closed-door meeting of the expenditures group yesterday.

Slum Drive Of Baltimore Type Studied

By Sam Zagoria
Post Reporter

An enthusiastic exposition of the Baltimore plan for slum cleanup yesterday prompted the District Commissioners to begin a study of how it may be applied to Washington.

Commissioners John Russell Young and Guy Mason indicated after a meeting with G. Yates Cook, chief of the Baltimore Health Department housing division, that they approved the plan. Brig. Gen. Gordon R. Young, who was not present at the meeting, has already voiced support for the program.

Wants Specific Information

Commissioner Mason disclosed that he planned to ask Corporation Counsel Vernon E. West to investigate what additional legislation or regulations might be required to start the citywide program rolling.

West said the Commissioners' police powers to safeguard the health and welfare of the residents were broad, but he would require specific information on what the program goals would be before replying to the city heads' request.

One of the goals which Cook recommended strongly was the elimination of Washingtons' 9000 to 10,000 outside toilets and 10,000 to 15,000 yard water hydrants. He said these primitive facilities could result in "raw sewage being siphoned into city drinking water."

A Tedious Process

These outdoor units have "weep holes" below the freezing line to permit drainage during cold weather. Often, however, sewage and filth have been known to filter into the holes and be drawn up into the water lines after a water main break or serious fire caused a strong pull on the lines, Cook said.

In Baltimore, these and other insanitary conditions have been

Home Loans Here Dive 54% Below 1948

By S. Oliver Goodman
Post Reporter

Home mortgage loans made by members of the District of Columbia Building and Loan League have nose-dived 54 per cent in the first four months this year, as compared with the same 1948 period.

F. Willson Camp, league secretary, reported yesterday that an estimated 19 million dollars was loaned by the 27 member associations through April, against 41 million dollars in the corresponding period last year.

Number of loans fell from about 4800 last year to 2700 for the four-month period this year.

Buyer resistance to inflated home prices is the main reason given for the slump in mortgage activities. Hesitantly advanced from another source was the opinion that perhaps Washington has caught up with its housing shortage. Large apartment projects have been completed in recent months, supplying living quarters to persons who otherwise might be in the market as home purchasers. These persons no longer are bidding wildly for homes, but are content to wait and shop around for prices more within their means.

Meanwhile, investment share accounts of the 27 loan associations approximated 300 million dollars at the end of April. This was an increase of about 24 million dollars for the past 12 months, indicating an ample reservoir of buying power.

With mortgage loan activity falling off, the institutions' cash position is mounting and they are cutting their borrowings from the Federal Home Loan Bank, according to Camp.

$8 Million School Program Announced by Prince Georges

An eight-million-dollar county school construction program was announced yesterday by the Prince Georges County Commissioners.

They further indicated they will increase this figure with an additional two-million-dollar bond issue if necessary.

The Commissioners also took some of the sting out of the $343,000 cut made recently in the schools' operating fund in the new budget.

They allocated all the estimated revenue from now legalized slot machines for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to the schools—a windfall that is expected to total $189,000.

The announcement on the school construction program followed a meeting of the Commissioners and the County Board of Education.

The Commissioners said they had authorized the Board of Education to proceed with "necessary preliminaries" to the program, which will bring the county $7,993,000 in State funds.

Of this sum, it was announced, $1,642,000 will be in the form of an outright grant from the State, and $6,351,000 will be a loan.

During its last session, the Legislature authorized a 10-million-dollar bond issue for Prince Georges County schools.

This means the county can float an additional two-million-dollar bond issue to supplement the State funds if necessary. And the Commissioners apparently are ready to do this if the extra money is needed.

The Board of Education, in agitating for school construction, has estimated that the present county

Puerto Rico Plane Crash Fatal to 54

San Juan, Puerto Rico, June 7 (AP).—A twin-engined transport plane bound for the United States with 75 Puerto Rican passengers and 6 crew members dived into coastal waters in a rainstorm early today and 54 persons apparently perished.

An official list of survivors tonight gave only 27 names, although the Coast Guard had indicated earlier 28 had been rescued.

The transport was a C-46 of Strato Freight, Inc., a two-plane charter service with headquarters at Bradley Field, Conn. Engine trouble struck it soon after the takeoff on a flight to Miami, Fla., and Newark, N. J.

One of the six crew members, Capt. Al Cockrell of Pittsfield, Mass., was among those missing and presumed dead.

19 Children Aboard

There were 19 children aboard, including three less than a year old. Among the first bodies recovered was that of a young girl who in death still clutched a small doll.

Twenty-one bodies had been recovered tonight. Many are believed to have been trapped inside the plane which sank in four minutes after the crash in 40 feet of water.

The stewardess, Miss Judith Hale of Binghamton, N. Y., told rescue workers Cockrell had given her his lifejacket in the sea.

Capt. D. H. Dexter, in charge of the Coast Guard base here, said he did not believe any more would be found alive. Twenty-five of the 27 saved themselves by swimming to shore.

United States Coast Guard and Navy vessels and United States Army planes took part in the rescue work.

Trying to Return

The plane, crippled and trying to return to the San Juan Airport, made a crash landing in the Atlantic about four miles from the airport.

Reports from survivors indicated more than half the passengers were still aboard when the plane went under.

The crew members who survived, in addition to Miss Hale, were the plane captain, Lee H. Wakefield of Stamford, Conn., First Officer (pilot) Jack Connell of The Bronx, N. Y.; Copilot George S. Cary of West Hartford, Conn., and Steward A. Gonzales, a Puerto Rican.

Salvador Caro, head of the Puerto Rican Transportation Authority, said the plane was not overloaded. He reported it was carrying 44,500 pounds, or 500 pounds under its legal weight limit. He said a preliminary inquiry showed nothing was wrong with its condition at the moment of the takeoff.

Leoffler Seeks Pat on Back, Is Told He Owes U. S. $119,515

By Jack Walsh
Post Reporter

After golf concessionaire S. G. Leoffler, sr., said yesterday his company should be commended instead of condemned for its operation of the District's public courses, a GAO auditor testified that Leoffler owes $119,515.18 to the Government.

The diametrically opposite views were expressed before a special investigating House Public Lands subcommittee. Leoffler was on the stand all morning; the Government auditor did his testifying in the afternoon.

Later, Chairman Monroe M. Redden (D., N. C.), said Leoffler would have an opportunity to answer the charge at today's hearing.

Bertram B. Barr, GAO auditor-in-charge of the Greater New York area, answered 60 leading financial questions posed by Representative Norris Poulson (R., Calif.), himself a certified public accountant.

Barr said that the amount due the Government over the period of Leoffler's last five year contract was $119,515.18.

Asked to comment on Barr's charges last night, Leoffler said, "If I'm given a chance, I'll answer him tomorrow (Wednesday.)"

Poulson said that the Loeffler partnership was "guilty of morally crooked conduct as premeditated as though the money had been taken out of the till," and that the Government "stood by and let the golf course managers get away with it."

Under Poulson's rehearsed questioning, Barr brought out numerous "unusual" transactions.

The Government auditor began by saying that his examination disclosed a complete lack of responsibility on the part of the concessionaire.

"The antiquated bookkeeping system and inadequacy of explanations in the records of the transactions plus the fact that books of account were not set up for at least eight months after the contract was awarded is indicative of poor business operations," Barr said.

He added that the concessionaire was "in a position to dissipate or otherwise dispose of funds at will which included profits due the Government."

This was in sharp contrast to Leoffler's testimony. After requesting to be put under oath, the

'By Wide Consent a Very Able Man'

Desire Not to Damage Hiss 'Any More Than Necessary' Made Him Lie, Chambers Says

By Murrey Marder
Post Reporter

New York, June 7.—Whittaker Chambers today said that the reason he first lied to a Federal grand jury by withholding part of his spy-ring charges against Alger Hiss was to avoid involving Hiss "any more than necessary."

Chambers, admitted former courier for a Communist espionage "apparatus" and chief prosecution witness in the perjury trial in which Hiss is accused of supplying him secret State Department documents, declared in Federal Court:

"I was particularly anxious not to injure Mr. Hiss any more than necessary out of the grounds of past friendship and because, he is, by widespread consent, a very able man.

"Therefore, I chose to jeopardize myself rather than reveal the full extent of his activities and those of others. . . .

"I sought to give those people whom I had last known within the Communist Party or on its fringes an equal opportunity with me to find the strength necessary for such a break (from the party). . . ."

As Chambers, former $30,000-a-year senior editor of Time Magazine, delivered this statement from the witness stand, both the 44-year-old Hiss and his wife, Priscilla, stared at him intently, but with no visible change of expression.

Hiss, who has flatly denied Chambers' charges of Communist activity, was an assistant to the assistant secretary of state at the time Chambers alleges he supplied the secret papers. Until last month, Hiss was the $20,000-a-year president of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace.

Chambers, who touched off the charges against Hiss last August before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, admitted today that when he testified before a Federal grand jury in October he committed perjury a total of seven times.

He previously admitted, under the probing cross-examination of Lloyd Paul Stryker, chief defense counsel for Hiss, that he perjured himself by false answers to the House committee on two occasions.

The false statements admitted by Chambers, and several of the other discrepancies in his charges, stem from his belated charge that Hiss agreed to furnish him with secret documents which Chambers said he turned over to Communist espionage agents.

In his appearances before the House committee, and in his first testimony before the grand jury, Chambers accused Hiss only of being a member of the Communist underground.

The first time the other charges came to light was on November 17, 1948, in pretrial depositions for a $50,000 libel suit filed against him by Hiss, in Baltimore, just after Chambers said he located some of the 10-year-old documents given him by Hiss.

Hiss, in the perjury indictment, is charged with denying that he gave Chambers any official papers in the first three months of 1943, and denying that he even saw Chambers after January 1, 1934. Because of the three-year statute of limitations, neither Hiss nor Chambers can be charged with espionage.

At 3:15 today, in the fifth day of the trial, Defense Attorney Stryker abruptly concluded the cross-examination of Chambers which began on Thursday. The first question asked by Prosecutor Thomas F. Murphy on redirect examination, was aimed at explaining Chambers' frequent admissions of perjury.

"Mr. Chambers," asked Murphy, "did you tell the grand jury in the month of December, 1948, why you hadn't told them before (on October 14-15) about Mr. Hiss and the documents . . . ?"

Stryker immediately leaped to his feet to object, saying that subject was not at issue, but he was overruled by Judge Samuel H. Kaufman.

"As nearly as I can remember," said Chambers, "I told them that in testifying from August (before the House committee) on, I had two purposes.

"One purpose was to dispose in part and to paralyze the Communist conspiracy; the other purpose was to preserve from injury, insofar as I could, all individuals involved in the past in that conspiracy.

"Any revelation involved injury, but I told them there are degrees of injury and I sought to keep from them the ultimate consequences of what they (his alleged collaborators) had done."

Chambers then went on to explain that until November, 1948, he had concealed Hiss' alleged role in the espionage from everyone, including his own lawyers.

Under earlier cross-examination by Stryker, Chambers denied there was any political motivation in his

Laborites Back 'Austerity' in Face of Slump

Blackpool, England, June 7 (U.P.).—Britain's Labor Party conference today indorsed the government's bitterly criticized austerity program despite warning from Lord Strabolgi that an "economic blizzard" was about to strike the country.

The conference then went into secret session to plan its campaign in the next general election. Informed members said the party would need at least $1,600,000 to achieve victory against Winston Churchill's resurgent Conservative Party.

Lord Strabolgi, influential Labor peer, urged the party to hold a general election this fall because Britain was "about to enter a most difficult economic situation in which it will be difficult to explain to the people exactly how it has arisen and how we must meet it."

"There is a great deal of economic misunderstanding and before the whole weight of the blizzard strikes us I suggest we should go to the country this autumn," he said.

But the date for the general election—if it was fixed or even hinted—in the tactical discussion was a secret. Lord President of the Council Herbert Morrison

Area Construction Industry Threatened With New Strike

By Sam Stavisky
Post Reporter

Washington's construction industry, crippled by a 7-day strike of carpenters and 6-day walkout of building laborers, is faced with the threat of a third strike by AFL craftsmen as soon as the first two disputes are settled.

The Reinforced Steel Workers met Friday night, it was learned yesterday, and voted to ask international headquarters for permission to proceed, if necessary, with a strike to obtain an increase of 25 cents an hour.

This group of some 200 building trades workers—known as rodmen—function in the building of concrete walls. Under their old contract, which expired April 30, the rodmen get $2.35 an hour. Negotiations between the rodmen and the builders and subcontractors have been at a standstill since the carpenters walked out last week.

Meanwhile, some 5000 carpenters were holding out firmly for a 10-cent-an-hour raise on their former pay of $2.40 an hour. B. B. Blackburn, secretary-treasurer of the Carpenters District Council, declared yesterday that "close to 100" builders have signed the new agreement, despite the opposition of the Master Builders Association and the Concrete Contractors Council.

Blackburn said that two-thirds of the carpenters have thus far been able to find work.

The Master Builders Association yesterday said it had received notification from Eugene Simpson and Brother, a builder not a member

Open Session Shows Wide Split at Paris

By Russell Hill

Paris, June 7 (NYHT).—The Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers today held its first nonsecret session since Thursday. The extent of the differences separating the Soviet Union from the West over methods of reuniting Berlin was fully revealed.

There is, in fact, only the smallest area of completely inconsequential, contingent agreement.

Out of 12 paragraphs in a Russian proposal, there is agreement on the first and the last, according to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

Secretary of State Acheson remarked sardonically that this is equivalent to agreeing on the whiskers and tail of some creature without knowing whether it was an animal, a fish or a bird in between.

The main disagreement centers around the veto to be exercised in a revived Four-Power Allied Kommandatura.

Vishinsky wants every appointment and every law passed by an elected Berlin assembly subject to the veto. The Western delegates argue it is impossible to run a city that way.

This already has been demonstrated and there is no point in turning into that blind alley again, they say.

So it is that the balance sheet of 14 arduous sessions of the conference must be drawn up without any entries on the credit side.

There has been no approach to an agreement on a way of unifying Germany. Apparently none of the four delegations expected that. There was, however, some

U. S. Reveals Data Rather Than Give Up Coplon Case

Judge Reeves Orders Documents Placed In Evidence, Even If It Endangers Lives

By Bill Brinkley
Post Reporter

A half-dozen different kinds of restricted atomic-research instruments have been shipped out of this country to Russia, it was revealed yesterday at the Judith Coplon espionage trial in District Court.

The shipments were made by Amtorg, official Soviet purchasing agency, whose orders "generally paralleled those of the Atomic Energy Commission," according to one manufacturer's report to the FBI.

Disclosure of this information came as the FBI opened its secret counterespionage files for all the world to see rather than drop spy charges against Miss Coplon, 28-year-old former Justice Department analyst.

Shipment in 1947 Disclosed

One batch of atomic energy instruments left New York on August 21, 1947, one secret FBI report disclosed.

They were made by the Cyclotron Specialties Co. under contract to Amtorg.

The company was investigated by the FBI on a report that it was "not securing proper export control licenses for this type of restricted equipment."

But before it could be stopped one order of the instruments went aboard the SS Mikhail Kutuzov, which carried them to Russia.

They consisted of radiation-detection equipment such as the following:

Geiger-Muller counters, ionization chambers, electroscopes—these are used in detecting ionizing radiation, the emanations given off by fissionable materials.

Proportional counters, scaling units, count-rate meters—these register the frequency of emanations.

These instruments were described last night by an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman as "indispensable in developing an atomic-energy industry, whether for peacetime or wartime uses."

U. S. Leads in Manufacture

The spokesman described them as "not secret devices—they are used in thousands of laboratories in this country in experimental work with radio isotopes."

But he added, "This country is away in the lead in the production of these instruments."

Another shipment was found being loaded aboard the S. S. Murmansk on September 2, 1947, for shipment to Leningrad. This one was removed.

As late as January 11, 1949, it was discovered that "crates" of materials which require a special Atomic Energy Commission license for export were being held at Claremont Terminal, N. J., in the name of Amtorg. The report did not indicate whether the clearance had been obtained.

It was indeed a spectacular day in District Court as top-secret FBI information—including such matters as telephone numbers of confidential informants—poured into the court record.

Had Hinted Dropping of Case

Chief Prosecutor John M. Kelley, jr., had objected in strongest terms to introduction of the documents. Their disclosure, he claimed, would endanger the security of the United States. He hinted that the Government might drop its case against Miss Coplon if Judge Albert L. Reeves ordered them introduced.

But yesterday Judge Reeves ruled that the Government must produce the documents:

"They do not suggest danger to our national security or our national defense," the judge ruled. "The most that could be said of their harmful effect, if any, if they be exposed, is that they would produce irritation and perhaps render nugatory efforts of our intelligence service on particular inquiries and maybe endanger individual lives."

One such life, the prosecution contended as it marched relentlessly on with its case against Miss Coplon despite the ruling, was that of "Confidential Informant SF 1463."

Only this mystifying identification was given on one of the several secret documents introduced yesterday.

Defense Attorney Archibald Palmer was not satisfied and hammered into FBI Special Agent Robert J. Lamphere, on the witness stand, as to what the "SF" meant.

Lamphere refused to answer. Prosecutor Kelley arose to his feet to say in stern, dramatic tones that to identify the two letters would be to threaten a man's life.

"The mere location of the informant might be a serious threat to his life," he said to a hushed courtroom. "It would enable those interested in this information other than the United States Government to identify the informant."

But Palmer, storming back towards the witness, again demanded that he answer.

The FBI agent, his face taut, again refused.

The defense attorney appealed to the judge.

As a dramatic tension settled over the courtroom, the white-haired jurist leaned over the bench toward the witness and directed him to answer.

"I will take full responsibility," he said.

Lamphere waited a moment, then leaned slightly forward.

"The SF stands for San Francisco," he said through tense lips.

The information was on one of the 12 "date slips" which the prosecution contends were found in Miss Coplon's purse when she and Valentin Gubitchev, at that time a Soviet U. N. engineer, were arrested March 4 in New York.

One was a terse three-liner referring to "Stuart Legg—possible Russian espionage agent," then beneath this: "Frink, NY, 1/14/49, RE: Frederic March."

March Not Identified

There was no identification of March.

Another said: "According to T-5, Tseko Etropolski, first secretary, Bulgarian Legation, is the party whip in the Legation and has taken on administrative functions so far as security is concerned. The informant states that his duties are limited to propaganda and intelligence work. He has been in contact with the Soviet Embassy and with representatives of other satellite diplomatic representatives."

The slips which the Department of Justice prosecutors fought so hard to keep from being revealed were as dramatic as a mystery novel in parts, pouring out scattered details of counterespionage. They remained mystifying, like reading the first chapters of a novel and then losing the book. One slip headed "Eli Potash" went thus:

"7/19/48—subject phoned Confidential Informant SF 1463, made appointment for 7/20/48. Subject stated he'd been in Amtorg offices in New York where he'd been told about informant. He stated he was interested in articles from Amtorg that informant had . . .

Saxton advised that he contacted Potash's home on 10/23 and was informed by woman who answered that Potash could be reached at Mutual 7393, which telephone is that of Confidential Informant. LA 2617 advised he knew subject through business relationship and that Potash has recently been granted a license from Intourist. At the present time Potash operated from his home (the word 'informant' is in brackets here) and has no place of business."

The slip continues:

"Subject associating with Serge de Touloff, owner of 'World in Music' store, 1507 North Western ave., L. A. In a letter to Soviet Consulate 10/31/47, De Touloff's wife Gania requested that her Soviet citizenship be reinstated and that she be permitted to return to Russia. The 'World in Music' store has been subject of several complants received by this office to the effect that it may be cover for other activities. These suspicions appear to be based on fact that store does little business and that there appears to be considerable activity in room at rear of the building."

Concentrate on Literature

And again:

"SF 1565 stated that Jeremiah Feingold stocks various Russian art goods, books, music and literature. Feingold told informant that he'd been told by representatives of the Soviet consulate that they did not want him to pay too much attention to the art work and books but to concentrate on selling the literature."

Palmer yesterday read to the jury four of the slips which he had demanded the prosecution produce. At one point during his reading of the top-secret counterespionage documents he turned to Lamphere and demanded:

"Did you know that a representative of Tass (Soviet news agency) was in this courtroom and also attending the daily sessions which Mr. Kelley holds for the press at the end of the day?"

"Include yourself in that, Mr. Palmer," the prosecutor roared.

"Did you know the gentlemen sitting over there," Palmer exclaimed, thrusting his outstretched arm toward the figure of the Tass reporter at the press table.

Lamphere said he didn't know a Tass man was present and Judge Kelley said, "Let's get on with the case."

Firey exchanges between Palmer and Kelley have become old stuff in the long, cyclonic trial. They were perhaps more bitter yesterday as the prosecution met defeat on its effort to keep FBI counterespionage files out of open evidence.

But also yesterday there were the harshest kind of words passing between Palmer and Lamphere as Palmer forced the G-man agent to reveal some of the FBI's innermost secrets.

"Don't raise your voice to me," Palmer raged at one point as Lamphere answered a question.

"I am raising my voice to you," Lamphere stormed.

Judge Breaks It Up

"Behave yourself!" Palmer snapped to the G-man—faces of lawyer and witness no more than a few inches apart.

"Don't badger me!" the FBI agent shouted.

Judge Reeves broke it up.

Decision to continue the prosecution of Miss Coplon even if it meant exposing FBI counterespionage files was so momentous that it was taken to Attorney General Tom C. Clark, it was reported authoritatively.

Clark personally decided that whatever Judge Reeves ruled about the documents, the case against the former Government girl charged with taking and copying secret Government documents to aid Russia would be pressed to the end.

Planted on Her Desk

And so the gates opened yesterday.

"Data Slips" Introduced

The documents introduced in evidence yesterday included 12 so-called "data slips"—extracts of secret FBI reports—which the Government claims were found in the Barnard College honor graduate's purse when she was arrested March 4 in New York and charged with taking and copying secret Government documents to pass along to Russia.

It was these dozen data slips which the prosecution wanted suppressed because their publication might jeopardize national security. Palmer got through the reading of four of them to the jury yesterday.

Judge Reeves also ruled that the Government must make available the full text of other FBI reports related to the case.

The document containing the reports on Amtorg was contained in an attachment to a decoy memorandum which has been planted on Miss Coplon's desk in the Department of Justice.

On the stand yesterday, Agent Lamphere separated the true and untrue sections of the memorandum.

Untrue, he said, was the part saying that Isadore Needleman, Amtorg attorney, and another of the agency's officials were undercover espionage agents for the United States.

But he desribed as "authentic" that part of the report which related the Amtorg shipment of atomic-energy instruments to Russia.

Geiger Counters Shipped

The August, 1947, shipment was of instruments manufactured by the Cyclotron Specialties Co., the report disclosed, and consisted of radiation-detection equipment such as Geiger-Muller counters and electroscopes.

A clearance for shipment of similar items had been issued for the following month, the FBI discovered. The SS McCormack Lines was advised "that the questioned items must be removed from the Murmansk before it would be cleared from the New York Harbor. Such removal was immediately effected."

The crates at Claremont Terminal, N. J., which the FBI learned on January 11 of this year were being held for Amtorg included four cases of 53 impulse registers and 30 mica window Geiger-Muller tubes supplied by the Cyclotron Specialities Co. under its contract with Amtorg.

"Officials of the Atomic Energy Commission advised that such material requires a special AEC export license," the report states. "The United States Customs was advised that this material was unlicensed and should not be loaded for shipment unless a license is granted."

Whether the license ever was granted, the report does not state.

The long report on Amtorg contains advice from various business firms regarding type of equipment being purchased by the Soviet agency.

An official of the Sensitive Research Instrument Corp., Mount Vernon, N. Y.—of whose products the AEC is "one of the chief outlets"—reported on February 2, 1948, that he had sold to Amtorg since 1936 and that "Amtorg's orders generally paralleled those of the AEC."

"This official," the report goes on, "said that orders of Amtorg were extremely specific and that from their nature it appeared that they had exact knowledge of what to order in the line of equipment that could be used for atomic research."

E. G. Brown of the Brown Instrument Co., Philadelphia, advised the FBI that N. N. Elshin, identified as an Amtorg buyer, had approached him in an "attempt to obtain some high vacuum equipment which was not available to the Russian government."

Elshin, the report states, solicited Brown to purchase this equipment from the manufacturer "ostensibly for the Brown Instrument Co., actually for resale to Amtorg."

Suspicious of Order

George S. Latimer of the S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Co., 10 E. 40th st., New York, told the FBI that on February 24, 1947, he received an order from Amtorg "for high value resistors which Latimer suspected might be used by the Soviet government on experiments dealing with atomic energy."

On April 1, 1948, the FBI learned that 10 multi-element flight recorders" were on a pier at Claremont Terminal, New Jersey, "with merchandise to be shipped to the USSR." The shipment was seized.

The report on Amtorg was dated January 27, 1949, and Palmer asked Lamphere:

"How long before that date were employes of the Amtorg Trading Corp. acting as Soviet espionage agents?"

Prosecutor Kelley ripped out an angry, instant objection: "The only persons interested in that would be the Amtorg Trading Corp."

But Judge Reeves overruled him and Lamphere replied than an extension of Soviet espionage on Amtorg's part had been expected with "the curtailing of Soviet diplomatic representation" in this country. He mentioned the closing of Soviet consulates in San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York.

The Judith Coplon trial has had enough stormy and dramatic moments for a dozen trials.

But nothing has approached the crescendo, almost the breaking-point, that it reached yesterday.

Momentous Reversal

It was a court day packed with naked emotions on the faces and in the voices of attorneys—prosecution and defense, of the witness, and of the slight girl who is the defendant.

For the prosecution had suffered a defeat of momentous proportions—not as far as the trial itself goes, for that will continue and with more prosecution evidence in the record than there would have been had Judge Reeves ruled in the Government's favor—but on the other matter of whether a portion of the FBI's counterespionage files should be stripped open.

The matter was not over even when Judge Reeves handed down his tensely-awaited ruling.

Kelley asked then that the documents be restricted to the jury and parties to the suit and not published.

Overruled Again

On this the prosecution was overruled.

Kelley then asked, in view of Judge Reeves' own statement that disclosure of the documents might endanger individual lives, that names be deleted from the documents before publishing.

Again the prosecution was overruled and the documents headed for the record for anyone to see and headed there unveiled, the names in.

Later, when Kelley referred again to the contention that exposing the names endangered men's lives, Palmer, red-faced, flared back:

"I consider that argument a joke—a farce."

Kelley pushed himself to his feet and his voice rang out: "It isn't—it's in your Honor's memorandum."

Palmer said he still considered it a "farce" and Judge Reeves admonished him, but softly: "You ought to have more respect for the court."

The all-too-obvious feeling between the towering, clipped-voiced Kelley and the squat, nonstop defense attorney flooded over into recess time yesterday.

Judge, jury and audience had filed out and only Palmer and Kelley—gathering up their paraphernalia—court reporters and newsmen remained. The newsmen were taking notes from the secret documents and Palmer began to address them.

"Don't you ever shut up?" Kelley, who is normally an iron-nerved man, finally snapped across to him.

Palmer's face purpled. "No—and you can't shut me up. Fourteen Mr. Kelleys can't shut me up."

Public Health Aide Gets New Post

LUCILE PETRY, of Lewisburg, Ohio, was sworn in yesterday as an assistant surgeon general of the Public Health Service, the first woman ever to hold the office. Miss Petry, who has been with the service since 1943, formerly was assistant director of the University of Minnesota's School of Nursing charges against Hiss before the House committee last August.

Lied for Hiss, Chambers Says

Stryker asked if he "took pains" in his statement to the committee to describe Alger Hiss as "a member of the State Department (who) later organized the conferences at Dumbarton Oaks, (the United Nations' first conference at) San Francisco and the United States side of the Yalta Conference."

Chambers replied that the identification had no political significance, as Stryker pressed him by saying, "You were cognizant of the general (1948 election) debate going on in the country at that time . . . and you knew one of the topics debated was the Yalta conference?"

Merely Sought to Identify Hiss

"Did you not think it would be helpful to one side of the debate to say that a person involved in the Yalta conference was a 'Communist?"

"I wasn't interested in that angle," replied Chambers, who added that he cited the relation "purely for identification."

With dramatic sarcasm, Stryker asked Chambers if he did not know when he first appeared before the House committee that he could "go down there and say anything about anybody and there would be no one there to cross-examine you?"

Chambers said he did not know this.

Q. "You knew that you were in the hands of Mr. (Robert E.) Stripling . . . and the chairman of the committee . . . what was his name, Mr. (former committee chairman, Representative J. Parnell Thomas) Thomas? . . . You got to know them pretty well?"

Chambers said he did, and frequently saw Stripling at his office.

Nixon Statement Ruled Out

Stryker attempted to bring into the record a statement made by Representative Richard M. Nixon (R., Calif.) before Hiss was indicted for perjury on December 15, 1948, in which Nixon—a key member of the Un-American Activities Committee—insisted that Chambers should not be indicted for perjury.

If Chambers were indicted for perjury, said Nixon, it would destroy his usefulness as a witness against Hiss.

On Prosecutor Murphy's objection, Judge Kaufman ruled out entering the Nixon statement in the record.

"Have you been told by the Government that you would not be indicted?" Stryker demanded of Chambers.

"I was not," replied Chambers.

Stryker later asked if Chambers talked to Nixon and he said he had.

Q. "Didn't you gather from Mr. Nixon's statement that he hoped you would not be indicted?"

A. "I don't remember Mr. Nixon's statement."

Hopes He Won't Be Indicted

Chambers would say only that he hoped he would not be indicted.

Chambers' admissions of perjury himself seven times before the grand jury came after Stryker, over Murphy's objections, gained permission of the judge to examine portions of the grand jury record.

Judge Kaufman, who examined the record himself, permitted this only after he said he found Chambers' testimony before the grand jury on October 14-15, 1948, to be "inconsistent" with his testimony at the present trial.

Chambers greatly expanded his account when he appeared before the grand jury during December 6 to 15—after deciding to accuse Hiss of passing documents to him

SPEAKING OF Furniture

By ALBERT McDONALD

A NOTE OF CHARM

Look at the above illustration for a minute. It has everything a furniture group should have . . . charm, comfort and utility . . . a perfect example of scale and balance in the modern home.

If you're planning on rearranging your living room, pay particular attention to the overall size and weight of the pieces used and where you place them. And, unless you want a very formal room, do not have everything evenly matched.

In many cases, where both large and small pieces are used, you'll find you can get the desired effect by counterbalancing the large piece within a group. A sofa, for example, may be balanced by two large chairs, or by a chair and a table.

The subject of scale can be explained in a few words. It means nothing more than the keeping of the pieces in each group in proportion to one another . . . and remember, furniture has height as well as width. Irregular heights may sometimes be attractively balanced by pictures, mirrors and other wall hangings. But by all means avoid grouping very large and very small pieces together.

If you have any furniture problem that's bothering you, please feel free to stop in anytime and discuss it with us. There is no charge for our interior decorating service.

AEC Investigation Stalemated Again

By Mary Spargo
Post Reporter

The Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee failed again yesterday to agree on how to handle its inquiry into whether or not persons with "strong Communist leanings," are being given access to atomic secrets.

Chairman Brien McMahon (D., Conn.) told reporters after a three-hour executive session that the committee had been unable to decide on a method of procedure by which Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) could present specific bases to back up his charges against Chairman David Lilienthal and the Atomic Energy Commission.

McMahon said he hopes the committee can reach a unanimous decision on this "most difficult" question before the end of this week.

Meanwhile, he said, Hickenlooper will go ahead today in a public hearing starting at 10:30 a. m. on another phase of the administration of the Atomic Energy program.

McMahon said he would be glad to give the individual whom Hickenlooper termed "Case A," and who was identified by Lilienthal as "the individual in the AEC program who is responsible for the preparation of the quarterly reports of the commission," an opportunity to appear before the committee.

McMahon said two security officers from the Argonne laboratory at the University of Chicago, will be available here today for questioning.

The two, James Yore, AEC security officer, and R. A. Hessler, presumably will be questioned about a security order to guards giving some 154 officials "and their guests" full access to Area "D" at all times, holidays and Sundays included.

The order specifically stated that names of guests were not to be recorded.

Asked who the guests were McMahon laughed and said "excursionists."

Mrs. Elisabeth May Craig, Portland (Me.,) Press Herald, asked "Girls, Senator?"

"I hope to find that out tomorrow," McMahon replied.

Other developments yesterday included:

1. Carleton Shugg, deputy general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission, said the United States is now turning out a mystery product which "needs a better name than 'deadly poison' to describe it." He told the Senate Appropriations subcommittee the mystery product is being turned out at the highly secret facility at Hanford, Wash.

2. Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson informed Chairman McMahon that "The Military Establishment has not attempted, and will not attempt, to take atomic energy away from civilian control and turn it over to the military." In a letter sent at McMahon's request to answer suggestions that the current inquiry into the AEC program is an indirect way of trying to return control to the military, Johnson said, "We have had no desire to handle the matter. We have none now. We want none of it in the future. We have plenty of jobs of our own to handle."

3. McMahon told reporters that the committee will be very glad to comply with a request from Senator Frank P. Graham that he have an opportunity to appear in open session. The names of Graham and Dr. Edward U. Condon of the Bureau of Standards entered the hearing in connection with the report that the commission cleared both for secret work after an adverse report from the loyalty board headed by former Supreme Court Justice Owen Roberts.

4. Asked if the same thing applied to Dr. Condon, McMahon said, "Well, I rather imagine he knows where I am and if he wishes to appear he will be heard."

McMahon said he would not describe the committee's failure to reach a decision on how to present Hickenlooper's cases as "a deadlock."

"Members of the committee are honestly troubled," he said, "and are trying conscientiously to search for a way to do this in fairness to all concerned."

Lilienthal appeared yesterday before the appropriations group and heard complaints from Chairman Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) and Senator Homer Ferguson (R., Mich.) that Congress is being asked to provide vast sums for the AEC without knowing what it is to be spent for.

The AEC is requesting $1,167,000,000 to spend in the 12 months beginning July 1. The House knocked $76,879,603 off that figure in an economy drive.

O'Mahoney called the AEC budget "one of the most gigantic appropriations in the history of the United States," and said it was greater than the entire Federal budget prior to World War II.

Ferguson criticized the AEC for asking Congress to okay one amount in contract authority for a new atomic facility and then going ahead and spending far more money for it without consulting Congress.

Specifically he mentioned the Hanford facility which started out as a $6,250,000 project and will now cost an estimated 24 million dollars to 25 million dollars.

Two Greater Washington area men among those in the Military Academy graduating class yesterday at West Point were Lewis R. Baumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baumann of 1317 4th st. sw. and Robert B. Ennis, the son of Col. and Mrs. Charles Ennis of 2804 Cameron Mills rd., Alexandria, Va. Baumann attended Woodrow Wilson High School and later Sullivan Prep. Ennis also attended Sullivan and once served as a private in the Infantry. (Their pictures were not received from the Military Academy with those published in The Washington Post, May 27.—Editor's note)

572 Graduate at West Point; Hear Army Secretary Choice

West Point, N. Y., June 7 (AP).—The United States Military Academy today graduated 572 cadets who were warned that they face stiff competition from officers who did not attend West Point.

"You and I know that they will not be required to make way for you simply because you are a product of the Military Academy," the graduates were told by Gordon Gray, acting secretary of the Army. Gray was nominated today by President Truman to be Secretary of the Army.

Gray presented the graduates with their diplomas and their commissions as second lieutenants in the Army. The No. 1 man in the class was R. T. Carvolth 3d, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Carvloth of Peckville, Pa.

Ninety-six of the graduates will be married within a short time. The first wedding took place shortly after noon today, and a total of 58 marriages have been arranged for the next few days in the three academy chapels.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retired former military governor of the American zone in Germany, told the graduates that "a good citizen is cognizant of the values of our way of life and is determined to protect and preserve them from foes from within and foes from without."

He said that at the end of the war the United States placed its faith in the United Nations as an instrument for peace and, believing others would do the same, disbanded its armed might.

However, he said, America found "that others gave mere lip service to the work of the United Nations" and sought to expand their own political philosophy.

The American program of economic assistance to worthy nations followed, he said, and the United States determined to enter into common security arrangements with its neighbors.

House Passes Intelligence Secrecy Bill

By The Associated Press

House approval sent to the White House yesterday a "hush-hush" bill to aid the intelligence system. The standing vote was 74 to 1.

The measure lets the Central Intelligence Agency do its hiring and spending in a secrecy not allowed to other Government agencies.

It also allows the agency to bring into this country every year up to 100 aliens who have helped American intelligence operatives abroad, and authorizes the CIA to assign its agents to schools, industrial organizations, labor unions, and other groups in this country for training.

Representative Marcantonio (A. L., N. Y.), only House member to speak against the bill, declared it is "dangerous and subversive of our Bill of Rights." He called it "a Gestapo system."

The House and Senate Armed Services Committees both held secret hearings on the bill, and told members of Congress that full details could not be discussed in debate.

The CIA acts as a clearing house for intelligence data assembled by all Government departments, including the military services.

Meanwhile the House Un-American Activities Committee talked behind closed doors with Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, one of the scientists who developed the atom bomb.

Everybody was tight-lipped after the session but Oppenheimer conceded to questioning reporters that he was asked about several people whose cases have been before the committee for some time.

Asked whether the committee sought information about alleged subversive activity, Oppenheimer replied:

"Well, this is the Un-American Activities Committee. I don't think they would be asking about the fishing laws."

Draft Hinted at Pay Hearing

Revival of the draft may become necessary unless Congress approves a military pay increase, an Army spokesman said yesterday.

Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, Army personnel official, made the statement during hearings before a House Armed Services subcommittee on a revised pay bill.

Selective Service has not been operating since the first of the year, as volunteers have been coming forward in sufficient numbers to fill vacancies. Dahlquist said this condition may not last, as enlisted men don't like the present "socialistic" pay system in which men are paid more according to the size of their families than their rank.

The original pay bill, defeated by the House last month, would have ended wartime family allowances that caused this situation. The new bill discontinues them after current enlistments.

"Would you say that it may be necessary to resort to the draft if the pay system is not revised," asked Representative Charles H. Elston (R., Ohio).

"That is correct,' Dahlquist replied.

Representative Pat Sutton (D., Tenn.), who led the floor fight against the original bill, followed the Army general to the stand. He opposed the revised bill, urging that all pay increases for generals be abolished and the difference be given to lower ranking officers.

Dahlquist, asked to comment, said the total additional pay that would be given to generals and admirals under the bill amounted to less than two million dollars, and that if distributed among the enlisted men of the armed forces, they would receive only 74 cents more a month each.

150 Millions Asked To Aid South Korea

By The Associated Press

President Truman gave a new pledge of American backing for South Korea yesterday by asking Congress for 150 million dollars in economic aid for the infant anti-Communist republic.

Mr. Truman termed Korea a "testing ground" in the struggle against communism in Asia. If the 21 million people under the southern regime can be made self-supporting, he said in a special message, Southeast Asia and the Pacific islands will be encouraged to "resist and reject the Communist propaganda with which they are besieged."

The 150 million dollars is for a one-year program which would continue American assistance at about the present rate but shift emphasis from relief to recovery. It is in addition to the limited military aid already being supplied the South Korean forces.

The United States, Mr. Truman said, has a "deep interest" in making Korea unified, free and independent.

He blamed Soviet Russia for the postwar split in the country, with nine million people of North Korea governed by a Moscow-backed "peoples' democracy." Russia, he noted, refused to permit the entry of a United Nations commission which last year observed the Korean elections preceding creation of the southern republic headed by President Singman Rhee.

Wartime Capital

Chinese Set For Flight to Chungking

Canton, China, June 7 (U.P.).—Remnants of the Nationalist government were expected to begin their flight Wednesday to Chungking, the new Chisese capital, as Communist armies pressed closer to Canton.

The Executive Yuan (Cabinet) chartered two planes and is expected to begin flying its files and government personnel to the city that served as China's wartime capital.

Semiofficial sources said the presidential archives and personnel were to be evacuated to the west by June 20.

Reports from Communist-occupied China said the Communists had completed the occupation of Tsungming Island at the mouth of the Yangtze River, bringing the whole of Kiangsu Province into Red control. Both Nanking and Shanghai are in Kiangsu.

hope, at least among the Western delegations, that a way might be found of uniting Berlin.

The problem of a currency for Berlin has not even been discussed.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman was in a mood for irony today. He noted that the Russians were proposing to go back to the kind of Allied controls over Berlin in effect in 1946.

He then recalled that when the council was discussing the unity of Germany, Vishinsky had wanted to go back to the Potsdam Agreement of 1945. Thus, Schuman said, it looked as though some progress were being made—a year had been gained.

India Assumes Sikkim Rule

New Delhi, June 7 (AP).—The government of India assumed responsibility today for the administration of the semi-independent state of Sikkim after a dispute among the native rulers.

The announcement said there had been disorders in the tiny state as a result of a conflict between the Maharajah Sir Tashi Namgyal, and the Sikkim State Congress, which had formed an interim government.

The Maharajah asked India's political officer to take over the administration pending appointment by India of a Prime Minister to whom the Maharajah would delegate powers until normal conditions were restored.

The state is crossed by important India-Tibet trade routes.

Vatican Official Scores Israeli

Vatican City, June 7 (U.P.).—The Rev. Alberto Gori, the Vatican's official custodian in the Holy Land, has accused the Israeli government of anti-Catholic acts and policies, it was made known today.

Father Gori sent his report in a circular letter to the Franciscan Order, of which he is a member.

His report said:

"Refusal to allow us to exercise our sacred rights, attempts to invade our properties and actual invasions, systematic refusal to grant our requests regarding the movement of our religious personnel, open hostility against some of our religious brothers . . . Grieve us deeply and take from us every confidence in a people who fundamentally should have a certain debt of gratitude, since we exposed our lives in order to safeguard and protect them even in recent times."

'Early' Ratification Of Alliance Urged

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday strongly urged "early" ratification of the North Atlantic Security Pact as the best possible insurance against a World War III.

A carefully worded 28-page report to the Senate backed up the committee's unanimous vote of approval. It said failure to ratify the 12-nation treaty would have "disastrous consequences abroad."

Stoutly asserting the treaty is "purely defensive . . . directed against no one . . . directed solely against aggression," the report said:

"The committee strongly believes that it would be in the best interests of the United States and indeed, the entire world, to sustain and encourage the momentum of confidence that has been building up in Europe, by ratifying the treaty at an early date."

Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas (Illinois) said the unanimous report "guarantees" ratification by the Senate. The Administration's labor bill now is before the Senate and Lucas said there are no plans to push it aside for the pact.

Neither Lucas nor Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Tom Connally, (D., Tex.), set a time table for the arms program implementing the treaty.

Connally held a press conference after the President called him to the White House to congratulate him on the unanimous report. Mr. Truman is reported to have urged approval of the arms program to back up the pact.

The Texan said the timing of joint action on the arms program is up to the leadership, but it will not be presented until the Senate has ratified the pact.

"We don't want to confuse the two things," he added.

The committee report likewise separated the two measures and cautiously refrained from specific commitment to the arms program.

It said the treaty places a definite obligation on each signatory "to contribute, individually and collectively, to the defense of the North Atlantic area."

But it added:

"It is equally clear, however, that Article 3 (of the treaty) does not bind the United States to accept the proposed military assistance program or, for that matter, any particular kind of implementation program."

As the committee filed its report, Great Britain became the second nation to ratify the defense pact. Canada, the first, approved it May 3.

Connally, who has predicted overwhelming Senate ratification, said yesterday he thought no more than 10—or 12 Senators at the outside—would vote against it.

He issued a statement saying it would be "a splendid thing if the millions of people behind the Iron Curtain had the same opportunity to read this report . . . as the people of the free world have."

"They would find a group of 12 states loyal to the purposes and principles of the United Nations and anxious to cooperate in every way to keep the peace," he said.

"But they would find that these 12 states are equally determined, if their efforts to keep the peace are undermined, to stand together to safeguard their freedom and their civilization against aggression."

The report did not mention Russia by name, but said free nations have been forced to draw together to meet a "threat to free institutions everywhere."

"Unfortunately one great power and a small group of nations under its domination have not only refused to cooperate in the establishment of a just and lasting peace, but have sought to prevent it, both within and without the United Nations," the report said.

"That power and its fifth columns in other countries have sought to prevent the establishment of such a peace. It has sought to obstruct efforts for the promotion of human welfare and stability in order to profit from human misery and hunger in propagating its own system and advancing its own imperialistic ends."

The report went out of its way to deny an armed attack on any one of the signatory nations meant an automatic declaration of war. It also answered in advance other questions raised by critics.

It said each party would determine for itself the nature and scale of assistance. Depending on the gravity of the attack, it said there are numerous measures short of war that might be sufficient, ranging from a diplomatic protest to "the most severe forms of pressure."

Saying the President's powers to use troops are neither increased nor decreased by the treaty, the report said:

"The President and the Congress, each within their sphere of assigned constitutional responsibilities, would be expected to take all action necessary and appropriate to protect the United States against the consequences and dangers of an armed attack committed against any party to the treaty."

Gray Named Army Chief

publisher was also Acting Army Secretary when notified of his appointment yesterday.

President Truman sent his nomination to the Senate after the White House indicated that Curtis E. Calder, New York utilities chief, had finally turned down the job. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson had been trying to persuade Calder to accept for some works.

Gray learned of his selection for the post on his return from West Point in the early afternoon yesterday. He had addressed the Military Academy graduating class.

Late in the day, after a talk with Mr. Truman, Gray announced that he was "honored" by the nomination and would do his best to carry out the job if confirmed. Several days ago there were reports Gray might decline the appointment, if offered, because of the wide search for another candidate.

Johnson issued a statement at the same time lauding Gray's appointment. He declared the latter had demonstrated "extraordinary talent" during his Army service and was thoroughly qualified for the post.

Selection of the young North Carolinian was hailed throughout the Pentagon and on Capitol Hill and his confirmation is believed assured. Through a multimillionaire, Gray lives very simply and gets along well with all types of people.

He is a prodigious worker. Although the heir to tobacco millions, he studied hard as an undergraduate at the University of North Carolina and finished at the head of his class. His usual working day at the Pentagon now runs close to 12 hours.

Gray was born in Baltimore, though his family has long roots in North Carolina. He attended Woodberry Forest School, Va., and went to Yale Law School after the University of North Carolina.

After a few years practicing law in the New York and Winston-Salem, N. C., Gray bought the Winston-Salen Journal, Twin City Sentinel, and Radio Station WSJS. He was elected a State Senator in North Carolina in 1939.

In May, 1942, he gave up his Senate seat and publisher's post to enlist in the Army. A year later, he went through Officer Candidate School and was commissioned a second lieutenant. He served overseas as a junior officer at Gen. Omar Bradley's Twelfth Army Group Headquarters.

A man of no hobbies, Gray likes to play golf and attend Tarheel football games. He also has something of a reputation as a raconteur—largely stories of North Carolina elections.

Germans Plan Koch Trial

Munich, Germany, June 7 (U.P.). Hans Walther, Bavarian Ministry of Justice official, said today that Ilse Koch would "definitely" be tried by a German court on charges of mistreating German nationals in the concentration camp run by her husband.

She is due for release from Landsberg Prison next October after serving a four-year term for crimes against non-German prisoners at Buchenwald.

Frau Koch was first sentenced to life imprisonment by a military court on circumstantial evidence that she had ordered lampshades made from the tattooed skins of murdered prisoners.

West Charges Reds Stealing Mail

Berlin, June 7 (U.P.).—The Western Allies today charged Soviet-zone postoffices with the "censorship, theft and delay" of mail. They allocated eight tons of airlift space daily to bring in letters and packages.

Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, commander of the United States sector, accused the Russians of "opening practically" all the mail they handled. He displayed letters with envelopes from the western zones that had been opened en route to Berlin by rail.

The city's Western commanders, Howley said, had decided to use the airlift because the Russians had diverted mail shipments by rail to Soviet-run postoffices for inspection.

91 in House Urge World Federation

Ninety-one House members yesterday demanded development of the United Nations into a world federation with strong law enforcement powers.

The lawmakers—64 Democrats and 27 Republicans—introduced a resolution to make this the "fundamental objective" of American foreign policy.

Representative Judd (R., Minn.), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said the resolution had "particular importance coming as it does when the Atlantic Treaty and the program for military assistance for western Europe are occupying the center of the foreign policy stage."

Another of the principal sponsors, Representative Hays (D., Ark.) said the resolution is intended to "supplement our present foreign policy by a clear statement of what we believe its objective should be." He added:

"The sponsors recognize that before any concrete measures can be taken to this end (world federation), much must be done to stabilize Russian-American relations as well as to improve the world situation."

Judd said the resolution doesn't direct the President to try to change the U. N. Charter right away, "but he will be expected to explore and take every possible opportunity to move in this direction."

The resolution states:

"It is the sense of the Congress that it should be a fundamental objective of the foreign policy of the United States to support and strengthen the United Nations and to seek its development into a world federation open to all nations with defined and limited powers adequate to preserve peace and prevent aggression through the enactment, interpretation and enforcement of world law."

Union Feud Hearing Is Ruled Mandatory

By The Associated Press

Federal District Judge Edward A. Tamm ruled yesterday that under the Taft-Hartley law the National Labor Relations Board must hold hearings on charges of jurisdictional fights between rival labor unions.

The decision was contrary to the opinion and practices of the NLRB general counsel's office. A. Norman Somers, associate general counsel, contended it was discretionary under the law for the NLRB to hold such hearings.

Judge Tamm's decision will have far-reaching effects. Somers indicated the NLRB may appeal it.

Somers told reporters that the NLRB already has dismissed without hearing about 90 per cent of the jurisdictional cases it has received so far under Taft-Hartley. The law says the NLRB is "empowered and directed" to hear jurisdictional dispute cases and render binding decisions on union feuds over job rights.

Somers argued in court that to make jurisdictional dispute hearings mandatory would flood the NLRB with such cases.

However, Judge Tamm said: "The court cannot subscribe to that argument. Whether 3600 or 36,000 cases arise cannot influence the court."

Judge Tamm said the United Telephone Organization, an independent union, is entitled to an NLRB hearing on its jurisdictional dispute with the AFL's International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers over installing electrical conduits.

The dispute concerns job rights at New York's Idlewild Airport and a number of major New York housing projects, including that of the United Nations.

Seamen Picket U. S. Embassy

London, June 7 (AP).—Canadian crewmen involved in a strike which has paralyzed a fifth of Britain's shipping picketed the United States Embassy tonight.

Sailors on a number of ships in Liverpool, Bristol and Avonmouth harbors, where stevedores are on strike in sympathy with the Canadian seamen, also walked out. They protested the use of British soldiers and sailors in unloading perishable cargoes and operating harbor lock gates.

The 35 pickets in front of the U. S. Embassy and nearby U. S. Naval headquarters carried signs saying, "America, keep hands off Canadian trade unionism."

They said they were members of the Canadian Seamen's Union, which contends the American Federation of Labor "is trying to dictate labor policy in Canada."

of the organization, that the concern had signed the new agreement with the carpenters in order to go ahead with the construction of four Alexandria schools—Madison Street, Maury, MacArthur and Charles Barrett.

Henry Thomas, president of Local 74, whose 2400 building laborers walked out a day after the carpenters, announced yesterday that 14 builders and subcontractors had settled with the union for an increase of 15 cents an hour. The laborers have been getting $1.35 an hour and originally asked for a 40-cent hike.

Largest of the companies to sign the new terms with the laborers was Kass Realty Co., constructing a dozen buildings in and around Washington, including an office building at 711 14th st. nw. Kass also agreed to a 10-cent raise for the carpenters.

Federal mediators will seek to bring builders and carpenters together today; builders and laborers tomorrow.

Counties Face Power Strike

A strike that may cripple power facilities in four Maryland counties has been called for June 19, it was learned yesterday.

Affected are 9500 subscribers of the Southern Maryland Electric Cooperative, Inc. The utility furnishes all electricity in St. Marys and Charles Counties, serves lower Prince Georges County, and all but the northern end of Calvert County.

The strike has been called by Local 70, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Charles M. Quinn, business agent, said 65 of the cooperative's 80 employes come within the union's jurisdiction and that about 80 per cent of these are union members.

Forrest Coakley, spokesman for the cooperative, said he expected enough workers would remain at their posts to continue operation.

The strike threat grows out of contract negotiations, begun last January, which have stalled on the unions' request for a 15 per cent wage increase.

C. & O. System Tie-up Looms

Richmond, Va., June 7 (AP).—Negotiations between the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway and the union representing 1700 of its firemen and enginemen failed today.

Union officials said they probably would set a date tonight for a strike that would tie up the entire C. & O. system.

G. W. Colman, chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen on the C. & O. network, said he had asked BLFE International President D. B. Robertson of Cleveland to approve a strike. The firemen and enginemen already have voted to walk out in lieu of settlement of "more than 600" grievances against the rail line.

Company officials had no immediate comment.

Coleman expressed the opinion that Robertson may seek a conference at "the top level" with W. J. Touhy, president of the railway.

CIO's Murray Denies a 'Deal' on T-H Issue

By The Associated Press

An angry quarrel among labor leaders rose to a new level of bitterness yesterday as Senators considered the hot issue of Taft-Hartley Law repeal.

CIO President Philip Murray, in telegrams to the 96 Senators, accused John L. Lewis of "false and malicious libels" and "lack of responsibility."

Murray denied Lewis' suggestion that he, Murray, made "secret" compromise deals on the Taft-Hartley issue. He called Lewis a "rule-or-ruin" union official.

During this dramatic outbreak of an old Murray-Lewis feud, these things happened at the Capitol:

1. The Senate's Democratic Policy Committee agreed to keep the Administration's Taft-Hartley repeal bill before the Senate until a showdown vote is reached. Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, said this will delay action on the North Atlantic Pact, formally sent to the Senate today by the Foreign Relations Committee.

2. Republican members of the Senate met and decided to hold back their labor proposals in the Senate debate until Administration leaders get through amending their own bill. Senator Taft (R., Ohio) said he and other Republicans won't oppose Senate adoption of five amendments offered by a Democrat-Republican group.

Monday President Lewis of the United Mine Workers wired all the senators that "reports are current" that Murray and AFL President William Green have "secretly agreed" to accept several "oppressive amendments" to the Administration bill.

An AFL official promptly denied the AFL had accepted any amendments secretly. He pointed out that the AFL executive council unanimously approved four amendments—including Federal seizure of plants in national emergencies—and publicly announced the action last month.

Yesterday Murray supplied the CIO's reply. He said Lewis can speak of "secret" agreements "more authoritatively than I, since I have never in my career made secret deals."

The CIO's position, Murray said, is to advocate passage of the Administration bill "without crippling amendments" as a first step toward "the full re-enactment of the Wagner Act, with improvements designed to furnish additional protection to labor's basic rights."

GUARD AGAINST THROAT-SCRATCH

enjoy smooth smoking

PALL MALL's
greater length of fine tobaccos travels the smoke further... filters the smoke and makes it mild

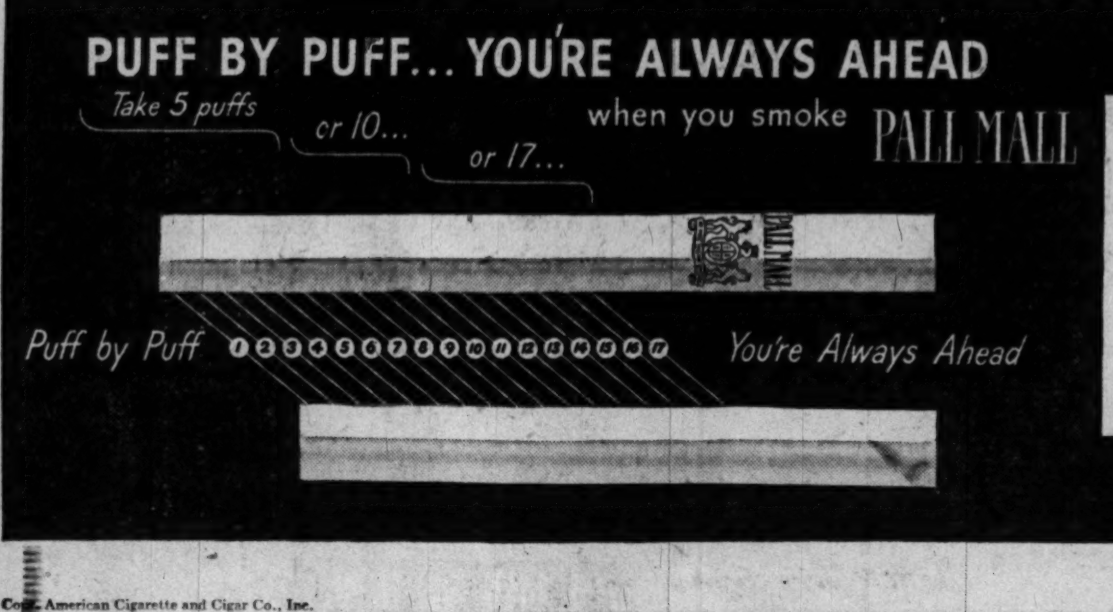
LET YOUR THROAT ENJOY SMOOTH SMOKING! Puff by puff—you're always ahead when you smoke PALL MALL. For PALL MALL's greater length travels the smoke further on its way to your throat—filters it naturally through PALL MALL's traditionally fine, mellow tobaccos—guards against throat-scratch. Thus PALL MALL's fine tobaccos give you a smoothness, mildness and satisfaction no other cigarette offers you.

THROAT-SCRATCH SPOILS SMOKING ENJOYMENT. You guard against it when you smoke PALL MALL. If you really want your throat to enjoy smooth smoking, ask for PALL MALL—the longer, finer cigarette in the distinguished red package.

PUFF BY PUFF... YOU'RE ALWAYS AHEAD



Study the puff chart! At the first puff, PALL MALL's smoke is filtered further than that of any other leading cigarette. Moreover, after 5 puffs of each cigarette—or 10, or 15, or 17—PALL MALL still gives you a longer, natural filter of fine tobaccos—guards against throat-scratch.

AMA's New Chief Stands by Its Policy

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7 (AP). The new leader of organized medicine in this country said tonight the fight against President Truman's compulsory sickness insurance plan "is not that of medicine alone; it is the fight of all America."

At his induction as president of the American Medical Association, Dr. Ernest E. Irons of Chicago declared in a prepared address at the AMA's ninty-eighth annual meeting:

"Politically controlled medical care supported by a compulsory tax is an early but essential part of the development of a socialized Nation, the forerunner of various forms of collectivism."

"Nationalized medicine," he asserted, "will be followed by nationalized industry. Industrialists see the threat to free enterprise and progress.

"Labor leaders are beginning to realize that "free medical care' is not what they thought it was and that with socialization of medicine comes later socialization of industry and ultimately Government ownership of business and facilities, with loss by labor of the gains of 100 years.

"The farmer, always an independent thinker, dislikes being told what and how much he can raise, and how much he will receive for it.

"None of these groups would now vote for a managed economy or a collectivist State, and yet this is the real objective of those who are urging nationalized medicine on our Government representatives."

Delegates Indorse Gag Rule on Fishbein

By a Post Reporter

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7—The American Medical Association's gag rule over Dr. Morris Fishbein was today backed 100 per cent by members of the organition's house of delegates.

The delegates, without dissenting vote, passed a resolution giving their "complete confidence" in the AMA board of trustees, who yesterday announced speaking and writing restrictions on Dr. Fishbein, editor of the AMA Journal.

In another action, the delegates, by vote of 61 to 59, refused to back up the Veterans Administration and the American Hospital Association in their efforts to provide non-service hospital care to pauper veterans with illnesses not associated with military services.

The resolution would have given AMA support needed to secure enabling legislation for the VA to permit payment to public and private hospitals for such cases.

Dorothy Kirsten Faces Suit For Defamation

New York, June 7 (U.P.).—Catherine Mastice, the young singer who impersonated Dorothy Kirsten on Milton Berle's television show, said today she would sue the opera star for $100,000 for "damaging and defamatory statements."

Miss Kirsten already has announced her intention of suing Berle for the imitation, on the grounds that it damaged her professional reputation.

County Gives School Plan

School population of 23,000 will be swollen to 36,000 by 1953.

The Commissioners and the board will meet at 9 a. m. Friday to discuss allocation of funds for the various projects, which will include four major high schools.

Answering suggestions that it might be better to build more and smaller high schools, C. Gardner Shugart, superintendent of schools, said the large high school to be built on the Christian Heurich tract on Colesville rd., will accommodate when completed all children of high school age from Mount Rainier, Hyattsville, Berwyn, Greenbelt and communities in between.

When this school is operating, he added, it will be possible to use the present Mount Rainier, Hyattsville and Greenbelt High Schools as junior high school buildings.

Shugart said the same situation applies to the proposed high school in Bladensburg. A third high school is to be built in the Oxon Hill-Suitland area. Construction on a fourth one, for Negroes, has already started in Fairmount Heights.

The Commissioners said from these same funds the county hopes to erect a new elementary school with 10 to 12 classrooms at a cost of about $500,000 to serve Mount Rainier and Brentwood.

At yesterday's meeting, the Commissioners also took under advisement a request that the county pay a flat rate of $100 a month to its retired teachers. At the present time, there are aobut 25 teachers who receive retirement pay ranging from $13.82 to $100 a month. The flat payment of $100 to all, it was estimated, would cost the county about $20,118 annually.

Brazilian Plane Crash Claims Lives of 26

Rio de Janeiro, June 7. (U.P.).—A Brazilian Air Force transport crashed in the mountains yesterday apparently killing all 26 persons aboard, the Air Ministry announced today.

The plane carried 20 passengers and a crew of 6. All aboard were Brazilians.

Aureomycin Found to Heal Milk Fever

By N S. Haseltine
Post Reporter

Atlantic City, N. J., June 7—Aureomycin, the "golden" has been found effective against all acute and "true" cases of undulant fever, a Johns Hopkins physician reported here today.

Unfortunately, said Dr. Perrin H. Long, professor of preventive medicine at the Baltimore center, too many cases of "my chronic brucellosis" aren't undulant fever. At least half of the reported thousands of undulant fever sufferers don't have the disease, he estimated.

The symptoms—aches, pains and fevers—are just as apt to be neurasthenic in origin as they are to be results of the disease organism of brucellosis, he declared. Aureomycin, while found effective against the "undeniably diagnosed cases of the disease," is losing its good name by its failures against "believed" cases, he said.

Dr. Long spoke here in the general scientific session of the American Medical Association.

He also reported the successful use of aureomycin against influenza meningitis, a rare but high-fatality infection in children under 5. Of the dozen or so cases treated at Johns Hopkins Hospital since January, he said, all responded within 24 hours after administration of the drug, and all recovered.

Earlier today, Dr. Alfred Blalock, developer of the now-famous "blue baby" operations on the heart, told the scientific assembly that new developments in heart surgery largely await perfection of some way to maintain blood circulation independent of the heart.

Most promising development to this end, said the Baltimore specialist, is the work of Dr. Gibbon (Dr. John H. Gibbon, jr., director of surgical research, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia), whose results were reported here Sunday before the society for vascular surgery.

"If one could operate on a relatively quiet, bloodless heart, the surgical repair of many heart disorders could be accomplished quite readily," Dr. Blalock declared.

Dr. Richard A. Sweet, of Boston, told a surgery symposium today that thoracic surgeons, taking advantage of the antibiotics and other medical helps, have been able to reduce the death rate of throat concers to fatality rates comparable to those of "cancer in almost any part of the body."

Surgically, he said, this death reduction has been accomplished by cutting out the diseased section of the esophagus or food gullet, and moving the stomach up, "even into the neck, when necessary," and joined to the foreshortened end.

As little as 10 years ago, throat cancers were almost always fatal. Today said Dr. Sweet, the survival rate is as high as one out of three, following radical surgery.

Group Shelves Housing Bill

mated, but that failed to change the committee.

Pace made these points:

1. That the cost to the Federal Government would be 9 to 10 billion dollars over the entire period, and not 16 million, as critics have charged.

2. The terms constitute "a firm commitment by the Federal Government" but funds to carry out the contracts would still be subject to annual review by the Appropriations Committees.

3. That the method provided for financing the program would result in substantially lower costs to the Government than direct Federal construction.

During the closed session of the Rules Committee, Chairman Sabath bitterly criticized members from rural sections opposing the housing program. He said Congress has voted an average of one and one-half billion a year for agriculture for the last 10 years, and the housing program, chiefly benefiting urban low-income groups, would cost less than a third as much.

I HATE DANDRUFF!

You can't combat it effectively with ordinary preparations that merely remove loose dandruff. They're no better than plain water and brushing!

Double DANDERINE GUARANTEES DANDRUFF RELIEF
Kills dandruff-causing germ—on contact!*

This refreshingly fragrant, easy-to-use dandruff preparation has given truly remarkable results—even in some of the most stubborn cases!

The most common kind of dandruff is not a natural condition. Top ranking authorities say it is caused by a germ. And to effectively relieve this handicap to good looks and social success, you must destroy the germ.

Ordinary preparations that simply remove loose dandruff are no more effective than plain water and brushing, because they can't combat this germ. But a remarkable product called Double Danderine is amazingly effective, because it actually kills this germ—on contact!

That's why we say Double Danderine guarantees dandruff relief. Try it. If you're not completely satisfied, return the empty bottle and your money will be refunded.

Pityrosporum Ovale, the germ which leading authorities say is the cause of the most common kind of dandruff.*

Gunmen Trapped After 5-State Chase

Washington, Kans., June 7 (AP).—Two desperadoes were trapped today by a washed-out bridge after eluding man-made road blocks for 72 hours in a wild flight across five Midwest States.

The two, Carl Bistrom, 27-year-old former convict, and 20-year-old Allen G. Hartman, both of St. Paul, and a hitchhiker with them were seriously hurt in the crash of their stolen car against a creek bank.

All the fight was gone from them. They had been closely pursued across five States since Saturday—the day they killed a suburban policeman in Minneapolis.

The third member of the gang, Arthur Bistrom, 37-year-old former St. Paul cab driver, surrendered last night at West Point, Nebr. His wife's pleas over the radio had convinced him further effort to escape was useless.

Bistrom was arraigned before United States Commissioner George W. Dittrick of Norfolk today on a Federal kidnap charge. His bond was set at $20,000.

The trio had kidnaped six persons, including a Mandan, N. Dak., policeman, in their flight as officers closed in on them by car and from overhead by plane.

Only yesterday they retreated to a Nebraska farmhouse where, for eight hours, they held occupants hostage.

The Senate yesterday confirmed by unanimous voice vote President Truman's appointment of former Representative Pete Jarman (D., Ala.) as Ambassador to Australia.

Youth Charged With Murder In Chapel Hill Tavern Slaying

A 16-year-old Chapel Hill, Md., youth was charged with murder yesterday in the fatal shooting Sunday of Willie Ford, 19, of Chapel Hill in a tavern there.

Prince Georges County police said they captured the youth, Vincent Lewis, at his home early yesterday. He had disappeared Sunday after running amok at Mary Mason's tavern and shooting Willie Ford, his brother, Clarence Ford, 24, and a waitress, Mary Warrick, 24, of Chapel Hill.

He also was charged with assault with intent to kill in the shooting of Clarence Ford, who was wounded in the arm.

The waitress was slightly injured in the wild fusillade of bullets Lewis fired at the Ford brothers.

Police said the shooting was a climax to several years of feuding among the two families.

Lewis was held in the Marlboro jail pending a preliminary hearing Friday.

Gunmen Kill Man Believed User of Gambling Slugs

Joliet, Ill., June 7 (AP).—Gamblers' gunmen fired eight slugs into a man's head today to make sure, police theorized, that he'd cheat them no more by using slugs to drain their slot machines.

The ambush from a car, two gun muzzles belching from its side, killed Myron August Gerbing, 44, who lived alone in a trailer camp in the town of Lake, near Milwaukee, Wis.

A peek under the hood of his car supplied State police with the motive. They found quantities of slugs in nickel, dime, quarters and half dollar sizes.

Seas Peril 16, 2 Feared Lost

Balboa, Calif., June 7 (AP).—Two persons were feared drowned and 14, mostly children, were rescued from choppy seas in the tragic end of a school boating trip to Catalina Island.

Survivors arriving here today told of an accident that swept the 16 off the deck of the fishing boat Otay yesterday. Some 23 children, from 4 to 16, and their escorts were aboard.

The 50-foot cruiser started to list when gas tanks drained unevenly. Swells loosened a live bait tank, which fell off, jolting the craft so it almost capsized. The 16 on deck were swept overboard.

Some of the survivors were in the water more than an hour.

The Coast Guard said Dr. Victor Mann, an optometrist, of Fullerton, Calif., and Geraldine Clark, 12, Houston, Tex., a student at Valencia Junior Academy, Fullerton, were missing.

FHA to Study Loans In Gift-Bribe Case

Gifts of television sets to personnel in the local office of the Federal Housing Administration came under FHA investigation yesterday in a probe of "questionable practices."

Assistant FHA Commissioner Warren Lockwood revealed that in addition to an investigation into what special gifts had been received, his office is now studying what services, if any, were performed by the District office because of those gifts.

Two men, including the director of the local FHA, have already resigned, following Lockwood's investigation, James A. Hewitt, director, of Norbeck, Md., and Thomas M. Burckes, chief underwriter, of Arlington, Va. Lockwood said Monday they resigned when confronted with reports they had accepted radios from mortgage institutions.

Yesterday, Lockwood said that the gifts accepted by Hewitt and Burckes were in fact television sets.

Burckes and Hewitt disclaimed any knowledge of "what Lockwood was talking about." Yesterday, Burckes said "as far as I know there was nothing dishonest in that office." He would neither deny nor confirm receipt of a television set.

Lockwood said yesterday that he "had reason to beleive" that mortgage institutions had distributed more than two television sets to members of the local FHA office, with reports of as many as 12.

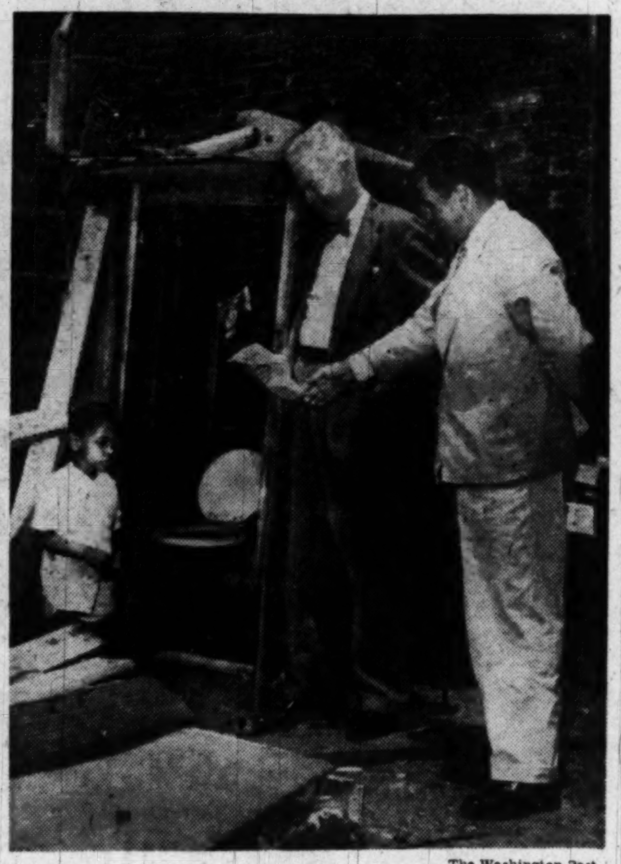
He also said that a trained investigatory staff was checking reports that wrist watches had also been distributed.

In addition to the investigatory staff, a special group of underwriters has been given the task of reviewing all loans insured by the District office recently to determine who, if anyone, received preferential treatment, and why, Lockwood said.

Meanwhile, Thomas Barringer of Langley, Va., an assistant FHA zone commissioner, has been appointed to succeed Hewitt as director of the local insuring office. J. W. Graham, an FHA underwriting supervisor, has been appointed to replace Burckes, temporarily.

Lockwood said his two investigations would be finished within one week.

Slum Conditions . . .



The Washington Post

INSPECTION TOUR—G. Yates Cook (right), chief of the Baltimore Health Department housing division, and E. Milton Dulin of the District Health Department, examine an open outhouse on their tour of District slum areas yesterday. A child stands by eliminated by making the broadest possible interpretation of health regulations and forcing landlords and tenants to toe the mark under threat of fines, Cook said.

Slum Drive Type Studied

That this is a slow, tedious process was indicated by Cook's report that it took one year to clean up one city block in Baltimore. The next year, this was raised to two and now there are 70 blocks "under fire" in the intensive drive. Complete success is away off, Cook noted, reporting that 2100 blocks are still listed as "blighted areas."

But once the block is cleaned, and repairs made, the cleanup spirit becomes contagious and neighbors vie with each other in planting of gardens and landscaping, Cook reported.

In Washington, where thus far the concentration has been mainly on refuse removal, the results are much different, Refuse Superintendent William A. Xanten told the Commissioners, "We clean an alley one week and then when we come through the next week, it's filthy again."

Xanten urged coupling refuse removal with a drive on improvement of structures on a block-by-block basis. This view was supported by Police Superintendent Robert J. Barrett, who said he would assign men to the drive. Lawrence Henderson, representing Senator Flanders (R., Vt.), also urged quick action on such a campaign.

After the meeting, Cook, Xanten and E. Milton Dulin, assistant director of the Bureau of Public Health Engineering, Health Department, toured the Fenton st. ne., alleys and Dixon's Court sw. Cook explained on what grounds he would force improvement of the areas, but Dulin declared he had no such powers here.

Young Lauds Citizens For D. C. Traffic Record

Commissioner John Russell Young yesterday paid especial tribute to "the individual motorist and individual pedestrian" as he accepted, in behalf of the District, the grand award for traffic safety presented by the American Automobile Association.

$7,042,996 Van Clief Estate Bequeathed to Sons, 22 and 24

An estate valued at $7,042,996 was left by Mrs. Margaret Good Van Clief, who died April 3, 1948, at her home, Nydrie, near Esmont, Albemarle County, Va., it was learned yesterday.

Mrs. Van Clief's husband, Roy Van Clief, a consultant of the War Manpower Commission, and active in industry and finance, died in 1945 from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Recording of the inventory and appraisal of the estate were completed yesterday in Albemarle County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Van Clief left her estate to two sons, Daniel Good Van Clief, 24, and Roy Alan Van Clief, jr., 22, to be held in trust until they reach 30, when each will receive half the estate. The will was dated April 15, 1947.

Intangible personal property valued at $5,993,970—mainly in stocks and bonds—made up the bulk of the estate.

Other figures showed realty holding in the county and elsewhere of $601,393; $105,661 in cash; and personal property valued at $341,972, including jewelry, $166,708.

The home at Nydrie was appraised at $94,700, and two other tracts in Albemarle County were valued at $1224.

Property at 2234 Massachusetts ave. nw., Washington, was appraised at $70,000, while other holdings of $396,000 were said to be located in Staten Island, N. Y., and West Bermuda.

Drama Of Freedom

An out-of-date editorial urging adequate funds for the Washington sesquicentennial celebration crept into our columns the other day. It deplored the niggardliness of the Senate Appropriations Committee after the Senate had partly corrected its committee's action by allowing two million dollars for the celebration without tying it up to any private matching fund. We especially regret this slip because the Senate is entitled to credit for taking a larger view of the proposed exhibition. It is to be hoped that the conferees on the bill and later the House too, will realize that this is not a local project but a national undertaking intimately associated with our heritage of freedom.

It was not the District but Congress itself which decided that the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the Government in Washington should be celebrated. Having taken that decision, Congress is under special obligation to make the exposition a success. A cheap and tawdry show would belittle the great Nation that sponsored it. Fortunately, this Freedom Fair is not planned as a great commercial show comparable to the World Fairs in Chicago and New York. Its special feature is to be the dramatization of our political achievements as a free people and its chief exhibit the documents associated with our freedom. Substantial funds must be forthcoming, however, if an exposition with even this limited theme is to be made a success.

It is estimated that $300,000 will be necessary to build the amphitheater in Rock Creek Park where historical productions centering around the establishment of the Government here are to be given through the summer of 1950. This would be a permanent improvement of great value. Funds must also be assured for temporary buildings to house State exhibits, to insure and transport historic paintings to be assembled on loan from many sources, to produce a historic motion picture and literature connected with the event. It is estimated that the exposition will cost nearly nine million dollars, but most of the money will be raised from admissions, rental of space and so forth. Chairman McGrath of the Senate District Committee expressed confidence that the advance from the Government would be repaid, but the appropriation is nonetheless essential to assure the success of the undertaking.

Congress appropriated three million dollars for the Texas Centennial and an even larger sum for an exhibit at the World's Fair in New York. Apparently the most that can now be hoped for in connection with the Freedom Fair is two million dollars. Any further trimming of that sum approved by the Senate would involve the risk of shabbily dramatizing the great heritage that every American is willing to fight to defend.

Meaningless Oath

An admitted Communist has given the ultimate proof of the absurdity of the non-Communist oath required by the Taft-Hartley law. Max Perlow, secretary-treasurer of the CIO United Furniture Workers, has announced that he has resigned from the Communist Party so that he may sign the affidavit under the labor law. In his resignation, however, Mr. Perlow made it plain that he had not relinquished his Communist beliefs.

It would require a fantastic naivete to suppose that this technical compliance with the law in any way lessens Communist influence in the United Furniture Workers. If anything, it increases the danger, for it gives the sanction of legality to something that is a patent fraud. The usual means by which Communists have evaded the Taft-Hartley law is for Communist union officers to resign and maneuver behind the scenes while stooge officers sign the oaths. Now the Commies apparently have an additional out—perfunctory compliance, with mental reservations.

The only possible use of the anti-Communist oath is for perjury prosecutions in the event that signers are found to be Communists. But it is not the front of admitted party members that constitutes the real menace, but the secret members whose names do not even appear in party records. How often this has to be emphasized! Surely it is time to end the farce which, without contributing to the ouster of Communists from unions, only gives the Commies an additional legality under which to hide.

Explaining The Treaty

In giving unanimous approval to the North Atlantic Treaty the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has also sought to dispel every imaginable doubt that might be raised on the Senate floor. Does the pact undermine the usefulness of the United Nations? Is it just another old-fashioned military alliance? Does it connote approval of the colonial policies of the treaty partners? Does it obligate the United States or other partners to report their defense plans to the Security Council?

On these and a dozen other doubts, some of them genuine and some just foolish, the committee utters a resounding "no!" and then proceeds, in clear and simple language, to analyze the intent and the effect of the treaty. Not everyone will agree with every one of the committee's interpretations, but reasonable men and women should find the report helpful and satisfying.

Sometimes, however, the committee report falls into legal hair-splitting of the kind that a few Senators seem always to demand and enjoy. One of the silliest of these efforts—made necessary, apparently, to satisfy Senator George—is the long and solemn assurance that the treaty neither increases, decreases, nor changes the President's constitutional powers. The assurance on this point strikes us as a meaningless statement of the obvious.

Fortunately the committee report contains strong and positive statements as well. It faces up boldly to the fact that under Article 3 "a definite obligation is undertaken by each party to contribute individually and collectively to the defense of the North Atlantic area," although the timing, the nature, and the extent of the obligation is not specifically stated. In the same way it says that Article 5, dealing with armed attack, "carries with it an important and far-reaching commitment for the United States," based on the self-evident truth that for the present-day United States "an armed attack in the North Atlantic area is in effect an attack on itself." The Senators have resisted any temptation to whittle away the effect of the treaty, or to make it mean what it does not say.

In view of this candor it is all the more a pity that the Foreign Relations Committee dawdled and fussed over the treaty for almost three weeks after the end of the public hearings. The fussing was caused by the effort to propitiate Senator George and thereby to achieve a unanimous report. Our own feeling is that the committee's unanimity was too dearly bought. It would have been better to report the treaty to the Senate a fortnight ago, even with a dissenting minority of one, than to have waited so long. Mr. Acheson's hands would have been strengthened at the very start of the Paris Conference and the Russians would have been left in no doubt that the Senate took the treaty seriously. As it is, the committee's painstaking report should help to get an overwhelming vote from the Senate. General Marshall said last weekend that prompt ratification "is very important to the world." Ratification cannot be "prompt" if it must wait until the Senate has acted on a labor bill. Is it too much to hope, even now, that the Senate leaders will see the facts of international life and act accordingly?

Blockade

For nearly six weeks the Territory of Hawaii has been under a blockade, a blockade just as real as if it had been imposed by an enemy navy. Not a ship has moved to or from Hawaii since the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union called a strike against stevedoring companies on May 1. Trade with the mainland has ceased, and business houses are closing down. An estimated 2000 men, in addition to the strikers, will be out of work by June 15 if the tie-up continues. Serious food shortages have developed especially in citrus fruits and protein feeds necessary for dairy cattle. Sugar and pineapple exports are piling up and overflowing warehouses.

The issues in the strike have been obscured by the rupture of emotions. On the one side it is charged that the strike is a Communist plot led by Harry Bridges—who is under Federal indictment for concealing his Communist affiliation—to control the island's industries. On the other side, it is contended that the industrialists are out to break the unions. Intervention of the Mediation and Conciliation Service has been unsuccessful, with the last effort to bring arbitration on the issue of wages refused by the stevedoring companies. Regardless of the stakes in what is essentially a struggle for power, it is plain that the half million people of Hawaii are the victims.

Because of Mr. Bridges' involvement, the strike is being used as a tool for fanning commiphobia in the islands and in Congress. Reasonable persons familiar with the scene, point out that there is no more Communist influence in the islands than on the Pacific Coast. Nevertheless, it cannot be doubted that the Communist implications of the strike have been seized upon by opponents of Statehood for Hawaii. The real answer, as a matter of logic, is not to deny Hawaii Statehood, but to give Hawaii more effective means of protecting its own interests by voting representation in Congress. It is inconceivable that similar paralysis would be tolerated if a State were involved.

Here in microcosm is the problem of the power of determined unions or employers to shut down industries vitally affecting large numbers of people. The Hawaii situation has become an emergency, if not for the whole Nation, at least for half a million American citizens whose welfare and livelihood are at stake. Despite the President's distaste for the Taft-Hartley law, he will be derelict to his duty, it seems to us, if he does not invoke it to appoint a fact-finding board and ask for an injunction. Even this belief would be only temporary, however, and Hawaii's plight demonstrates graphically the need for seizure powers in any revised labor legislation.

Exit Of An Oracle

The AMA's muzzling of Dr. Morris Fishbein as the first step toward his "retirement," though not wholly unanticipated, comes as something of a shock in its completeness. The self-elevated oracle of organized medicine henceforth can write little and speak less with the voice of the medical profession. As soon as successors can be adequately trained, he will be eased out of all his positions—executive and editorial—in the AMA.

At first glance this looks like a simple revolt against Dr. Fishbein's long-held and astutely promoted status as the spokesman of the entire profession. That it is, to be sure. But despite the disclaimers it is also a reflection of the growing dissatisfaction among the doctors with Dr. Fishbein's stand-pattism. For Dr. Fishbein over the 37 years of his service has made opposition to any change in medical economics synonymous with the initials AMA.

The disciplinary action of the board of trustees is certainly drastic, arousing thereby the ire of some of the doctors who think it gives short shrift to a faithful servant. Perhaps so. But if drastic it is also overdue. If Dr. Fishbein accurately represented the views of the AMA in the past, it was largely because he made those views.

That is no longer true. Organized medicine has finally come around, under the persuasion of events and of its more advanced thinkers, to see that unyielding opposition to any kind of medical insurance itself insures the worst kind of insurance. Dr. Fishbein's extraordinary energy and talent have been extremely valuable to the medical organization. But his policies have probably done it more harm than good in recent years, and it is mete that he should make way for others not committed to the past.

Batory Incident

The Department of Justice would have been remiss in its duty if it had not thoroughly examined the crew of the Polish liner Batory—the vessel on which Gerhart Eisler escaped—when it returned to New York Harbor. There are suspicious circumstances connected with the case, including the "vacation" in Poland of the purser who issued a ticket to the convicted perjurer after he had been discovered on the Batory as a stowaway. Had collusion to remove Eisler beyond the jurisdiction of the American courts been shown, the United States could have started proceedings to seize the vessel.

There seems to be no excuse, however, for the extremes to which the search of the vessel and the detention of passengers was carried. None of the 683 westbound passengers could have had anything to do with Eisler's eastbound escape; yet 111 of them were sent to Ellis Island for further investigation. Nearly all of them were later released. Incidentally, the Immigration Bureau has recently boasted that only 1 per cent of the passengers arriving on incoming ships go to Ellis Island for inquiry or detention. In this instance more than 16 per cent of the passengers were sent there. The impression left is one of harassment regardless of how vehemently officials may protest that they were merely doing their duty.

Tighter control over the movement of potential spies between the United States and the iron curtain countries is of course desirable. The Immigration Bureau ought not to be given the impression that rigid enforcement of the law will be looked at askance by the easy-going American people. But surely its tightening-up efforts should not take on the appearance of political reprisals, as they have done in this case. Presumably no evidence connecting the captain or crew of the Batory with Eisler's escape was found in the bureau's frantic weekend search, notwithstanding Senator McCarran's flamboyant claim that he has such evidence from other sources. The bureau will naturally want to question the missing purser when and if he returns, but it also has an obligation to keep its inquiries on a plane that will be worthy of a great free country given to neither tyranny nor vindictiveness.

WITCH'S DAUGHTER

I love shadows,
And deep, black water,
For I am a dark thing,
A witch's daughter.

Red, laughing roses
Kissed by a bee,
Waters filled with sunlight,
What are they to me?

These things I treasure:
A ragged, black cat,
An old black kettle,
A vampire bat.

What is morning's shining,
Blossoms sweet and white?
I prefer the nightshade,
I prefer the night.

Witch-light, and elf-light,
And owl-faced moon,
And an old black thorn-tree
Dancing to a tune.

"Open The Door"

The press services have reported the excellent editorial carried by The Washington Post, May 30, on statehood for Hawaii and Alaska.

I am particularly struck by this sentence: "To be sure there are some Communists in Hawaii, and the denial of statehood puts into their hands an excellent weapon for recruiting more." That puts the finger right on one of the points never to be forgotten in this whole campaign for statehood.

I have lived in Hawaii continuously for nearly 40 years, and as a youngster, was first here in 1905. I have, I can honestly say, a very wide acquaintance with people in all elements of the community.

I don't believe there are any more Communists here than in the average mainland industrial and seaport centers, and a great deal less than in some of those. Communism is a doctrine alien to the home loving, hard working, industrious and truly patriotic people of Hawaii.

Just now we are in the throes of a waterfront strike but even though there may be some Communists at work among the strikers, I am positive the very great majority of these men are just as patriotic as those on the opposite side.

The long-continued denial of statehood for Hawaii is exactly the sort of discriminatory treatment which artful Communists know well how to put into use. And they can do this all the more effectively if among the major reasons advanced for denying statehood to Hawaii is the fact that we have here a considerable number of people of the Oriental races.

On that point, however, it should never be forgotten or obscured that the largest single element in Hawaii's total population is the Caucasian element. And this preponderance is apparently increasing. That in itself is one answer to the racial argument against statehood.

At the same time, the denial to Hawaii of statehood on the grounds that there are a very considerable number of peoples of the Oriental races here could and would be adroitly used by the Communists who are sedulously working to drive a rift between the Asiatic and the American peoples and governments.

Thanks again for an intelligent and forceful editorial.

Defense Of Lilienthal

I want to raise my voice in behalf of a great public servant whom I have known through the years, David E. Lilienthal. Perhaps I am in a position to know Mr. Lilienthal and his fine public record as few men know it.

I was all through the conservation fights in the Taft Administration; went to be an aide to Secretary Franklin K. Lane in the Woodrow Wilson Administration; then an assistant to Secretary Harold L. Ickes, in Interior, with the Public Works Administration. I was Ickes' Undersecretary and then for six years administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration.

Because of the work in Public Works, Interior, and REA, I came into intimate contact with Mr. Lilienthal. He was the administrator of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

I had known the Tennessee Valley country since the early days of 1910, when it was a "run-down-at-the-heels" section, and I had seen it bloom like the biblical "green bay tree" under Mr. Lilienthal's highly efficient, wise and constructive leadership. Certainly TVA's great national and international reputation is due to this man's hard work, keen appraisal of men and superb leadership.

I know the host of people in the valley who knew David E. Lilienthal all admired and praised his efficiency and great work. This man has long been a fighter in the public interest both for TVA and the Atomic Energy Commission, and I feel that his mentor, the late Senator George W. Norris, would speak out now in his favor if he were alive today—and when an effort is being made to destroy him.

"Dr. Bunche Declines"

Between the lines of your brave and able editorial, "Dr. Bunche Declines," in your June 4 issue, I could hear the recording of Lincoln: "If our democracy is ever destroyed, it shall be done from within."

Your editorial and the comments from the Ambassador from India serve as a reminder of the freedoms that represent democracy in its true meaning.

Military Vs. Civil Pay

Much comparison has been made between previous salary increases for civil service and for military personnel by those advocating the new military pay bill. Too much stress has been placed on basic salaries, not enough on the "extras" and hidden advantages such as the fact that military people pay income tax only on their basic salary, not on their food, quarters and family dependent allowances.

Consider the situation for civil service and military personnel doing comparable work. The following chart shows the minimum take-home pay under the new revised bill of the lowest grade sergeant and a CAF-4, both who have served a couple of years in their respective services working up to their present rate and who are married.

	CAF-4	Sergeant
Salary	$2724	$1668
Food and quarters allowance	....	1212
Clothing	....	50 or free issue
Gross	$2724	$2930
Minus retirement	163	....
Minus income tax	208	52 basic salary only
Take home pay	$2353	$2888

This chart does not include the free medical and dental care for the sergeant and his family. Retirement at the end of 20 years when the sergeant is only 40 years old, or possible disability retirement earlier, free college education for officers, PX privileges, and so on. No wonder Representative Sutton who knows both sides of the case is not satisfied.

"For A Free Europe"

Allow me to thank you for your June 3 editorial, "For a Free Europe."

In view of the fact that farmers' organizations in this country are non-political, the American public entertains a number of misconeptions concerning the peasants and the peasant movements of Europe as well as the International Peasant Union.

Well-informed Americans know that the peasants are the backbone of any effort at the reconstitution of democracy on the Continent and the realization of a united Europe.

The peasant movements are national political parties which, especially in the countries behind the Iron Cutain, command the confidence of the overwhelming majorities of the populations, including that of both industrial labor and intellectuals. Urban and rural democratic elements rely equally on the peasant movements not only because of their political strength and effective organization, but also because of their progressive democratic progams in relation to national as well as international problems.

Although reconstituted here on July 4, 1947, after the ascendancy of the Communist regime, the International Peasant Union is neither new nor a temporary organization. The international solidarity of the peasants is just as firm as nationally the peasant movements are strong. The organized peasantry is in a position to play a decisive part in the reconstitution of democracy nationally as well as in the integration of Europe internationally. In the meantime it is the core of resistance against the Communist regimes.

There is no division among the leaders of the peasant movements; there are no disagreements among them as to the means and ends of the struggle. In the International Peasant Union the national peasant movements are represented either by their elected leaders themselves or, as in the cases where those leaders were unable to flee their countries, by executive members formally authorized to act for them. Those behind the Iron Curtain who pretend to represent the peasants are mere stooges of the Communists eventually to be called to account for their acts.

This is the main reason that, in spite of the difficult circumstances under which the organization has had to operate, all peasant movements of the nations behind the Iron Curtain without exception are affiliated with it. As a matter of fact, those of two nations which the Kremlin considers integral parts of the Soviet Union itself are active members in it.

In western European countries the organization has been equally successful even though there the political strength of the peasantry is not up to its potentialities. In addition, the International Peasant Union has reached agreements for close collaboration with all international democratic organizations.

All this has been accomplished without any material assistance from either public or private sources. The resources of the peasant movements, ample under normal circumstances, were totally unavailable in this case. Many of the peasant movements have considerable number of nationals in this country. Yet, in spite of the difficulties, neither moral nor material support has been solicited from them, a scrupulously correct attitude being maintained toward the American people as well as the United States Government.

Uninformed as to American conditions, the peasants are somewhat disappointed by what they construe as indifference on the part of American public opinion as to the efforts of the organization and their own cruel lot which they are inclined to ascribe to deficient international democratic solidarity, knowing that their own leaders are doing their best under the circumstances.

When the time comes they shall be told of the moral support that papers as The Washington Post have shown the organization in the fight for the restoration of their democratic institutions.

Refugees' Gift To The U. S.

By Malvina Lindsay

Displaced Make Good

TWO THOUSAND more displaced persons are beginning this week to hew out new lives for themselves in the United States. What contribution will they and those who have already arrived make to American life, character and destiny?

Those familiar with the performance of such refugees say it is not unlikely that a century or so hence this country will have an honorable and exclusive society known as the DOD—Descendants of the Displaced. Records of displaced persons being settled here indicate the seventeenth century may be repeating itself. Once again political and religious refugees are bringing here a supply of skill and stamina that may be needed for the conquering of the Nation's next "wilderness."

No "bad DP" out of the more than 21,000 already settled here, says a report of the Displaced Persons Commission. Not a single public charge, not a single refugee sent home. Communities that have received these settlers are generally enthusiastic and asking for more. Sponsors and employers are highly satisfied with the industry and initiative their charges show.

Other countries, most of which have been more generous to DPs than has the United States and who have not limited entry by the severe racial, religious and vocational restrictions that exist here, have had similar success with DP settlers.

IT IS likely the DP impact on history will be great. What these refugees are taking to the new state of Israel, to this country, to Scandinavia, South America, other places, may show up some day in national fortitude and achievement. Being refugees themselves from fascism and communism, and having the backbone to dare penury and frustration the rest of their lives rather than surrender their principles, they could well be the yeast of enduring democracy throughout the world.

The skills of these people are helping them to create new jobs, also to improve old crafts. In this country, glass workers have introduced Bohemian glass techniques. Other craftsmen have improved leather work and enlarged its scope. The same is true in glovemaking.

Thrown on their own resources in their camps, the displaced have created articles of use and beauty out of virtually nothing. Such hand skills have been especially lacking in this country. For Americans prefer to engage in big bold endeavors and generally lack patience for pursuits that require attention to detail. But probably the most valuable DP contribution to this and other countries will prove to be fortitude—a virtue that industrialized peoples tend to lose as life becomes softer.

HOW THE "virtues of adversity" have helped groups, nations, civilizations, to power is emphasized by Arnold Toynbee in A Study of History. He credits New Englanders with winning out over other American colonists for control of what became the United States, and attributes this to the integrity, self-reliance, energy and fortitude they developed under adversity.

Like the European DPs, early New England settlers had known a background of persecution, homelessness and harsh toil. Then in a bleak and barren environment they had to continue relying on their ingenuity, invention and stamina. They met, as Toynbee says, "severe challenge of environment" and conquered it. He sees their mechanical invention, courage and resolution as largely responsible for setting the course of this Nation's development.

But they were not this country's only refugees. Much of the pattern of early American life was set by those who, like the DPs, had fled political and religious regimentation. To Maryland came men seeking freedom of worship. After 1700 a tide of Germans who were discontented with political straitjackets, or in escape from religious hostility, flowed into Pennsylvania. Scotch-Irish fled oppression at home to settle in Pennsylvania and the valleys of Virginia and Carolina. French Huguenots also found asylum in America.

Many present DPs parallel in history and character these early day settlers of America who refused to be controlled in mind or spirit. Most of the early DPs were victims of nazism. Many of the more recent ones are refugees from Communist autocracy of iron curtain countries. All, like the sturdy pioneers to which most strong nations now point with pride, have known the "virtues of adversity."

Boat Safety

As the summer season rolls around we seem to be in for the usual number of boat disasters. A boat is a potentially dangerous thing—danger of sinking, explosion from bilge-confined gases, and collision because of relative lack of maneuverability and ability to stop.

Yet there is no inspection required of craft. The Coast Guard may inspect but seldom does. Many boats are largely home built, often by persons with little knowledge of safety precautions.

As a boat owner I hate to make the suggestion as I realize that a boat is one remaining outlet for unrestricted self-expression for many. But the number of floating deathtraps I have seen indicates that it is about time that a yearly boat inspection somewhat like automobiles have should be required.

China: A Summing Up II

HONGKONG — Even at 10,000 feet, you sense it—too many people, too little food. Most countries look almost uninhabited from the air. But China, with its scratched and scrabbled land, its scarred mountains, its endless jumble of mud villages, its brick red rivers carrying precious topsoil to the sea, looks like some vast hungry ant heap.

The Communists are inheriting the ant heap. Now they are faced with the ancient, unanswered question which has faced all China's rulers: How are the ants to be fed?

This is the central fact. China's ageless ills have not suddenly disappeared with the substitution of one political power for another. When the Communists took over the big cities, they also took over China's deficit economy, and they are beginning to suffer the consequences.

Now, for the first time, they are having trouble with the peasants. The reports of peasant resistance to food collections come from so many sources that they must be based on fact. The reason is obvious—the peasants are now being forced to share their production with the hungry populations of the great cities. Partly because of peasant reluctance to share the food and partly because they lack skilled technicians, the Communists are also having trouble with their newly won urban industries.

A EUROPEAN recently returned from the Great Kailan coal mines in the north told this reporter that production fell off almost 50 per cent after the Communists took over. There are other reports of the same pattern being repeated elsewhere.

Not enough food and not enough industrial production spells inflation. In Peiping the "peoples' banknote" was officially pegged at 80 to the dollar. It has slithered down to hardly a tenth of that value.

In Shanghai the Communist currency is reported to have depreciated by half in a single day.

Inflation begets corruption, because honest officials starve. The Communists' chieftains are believed wholly incorruptible. But corruption is already attacking the lower reaches of the new officialdom. According to one reliable firsthand witness, for example, "You can buy your way through Tientsin right now if you've got the money."

All this does not mean that Communist China is faced with imminent economic collapse, nor that inflation and corruption have even begun to reach the full and hideous flower they attained in Nationalist China. Yet an ancient process has started, and for precisely the same reasons that it has always started in China: too many people, too little food.

THE CENTRAL committee of the Chinese Communist Party has now announced how the party means to attack China's economic disease—by what amounts to a slavish imitation of Russia's five-year plans. The whole political and economic emphasis is to be shifted from the peasants to the big city industrial workers. This program has horrified China's pro-Communist intellectuals, who, like many American intellectuals, have fondly imagined that the Chinese Communists were kindly agrarian reformers.

For it is obvious on the face of it that the Communists plan to industrialize China as Russia was industralized—by the blood and sweat of the peasants.

Another fact is obvious on the face of it. Let the peasants sweat till they drop, China cannot even be started on the way toward an urban industrial economy without very extensive trade with the West. Russia can supply no substitute for Western trade, which built Shanghai from a mud flat to the fourth greatest city in the world. Moreover, the Communist leaders know it.

HERE the evidence is conclusive. It ranges from semiofficial assurances conveyed to Western businessmen in Shanghai to the fact that the Communists have approached a great Belgian bank to act as their trading agent in Hongkong; from the trade which has already quietly started between Japan and the Communist north to the alacrity with which Shanghai has been opened to Western shipping. The Communists mean to trade with the West simply because they must. Their only alternative is a China permanently condemned to a subsistence level agrarian economy; too many people and too little food.

This suggests a conclusion worth pondering. Only the Chinese Communists can now provide what the Western nations desperately want—a China independent of the Kremlin. But only the Western nations can provide what the Chinese Communists desperately want—the wherewithal, from machine tools and capital to technical skills, to industralize their country. In considering Western policy toward Communist China, it is worth bearing this fact in mind. For to have what another nation wants is to be capable of influencing the policy of that nation.

Congress Amends Law On Enlisted Aviators

The Senate yesterday concurred in a House amendment to a bill repealing a wartime law that 20 per cent of pilots in the Air Force shall be enlisted men. The bill went to the President for signature.

The amendment provides that at least 20 per cent of the total of aviation cadets designated by the Navy and Air Force must be from their enlisted ranks.

House Votes Children's Aid

By the United Press

The House yesterday passed a bill to continue United States contributions to the International Children's Fund, but agreed that the United Nations should take over its work after next year.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, would permit this Government to spend 21 million dollars already appropriated and available for the agency's work of helping young victims of the war.

The House accepted an amendment by Representative Donald L. Jackson (R., Calif.) which specifies that United States contributions will end when the present program runs out June 30, 1950.

He said the work now is handled by an emergency United Nations organization, and that it should be turned over to a permanent U. N. group. The United States has appropriated 75 million dollars for the program, or about 72 per cent of its total funds.

A Republican minority report from the House Foreign Affairs Committee contended most of the money goes to children inside the iron curtain. It opposed plans to extend the plan to areas such as Latin America, which were not devastated by war.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Atomic Fishing Expedition

THE KIND of fishing expedition Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper is conducting is bound to bring to light some surprises. No project so vast and difficult as the development of atomic energy involving so many people and surrounded with a wall of secrecy, could possibly be perfect.

Childs

Whether the fish will be big or little—that is to say minor errors or major errors—the public may never know except in the most general terms. So strict are the security regulations that Senator Hickenlooper himself may have violated them in his statements about "enriched uranium" missing from the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago. When asked if this was a security violation, Atomic Energy Commission spokesmen reply with, "No comment."

There are, however, facts which can be known, and it is possible that a fishing expedition may not bring them to the surface. Take, for example, the commission's struggle to enforce security in contracts being carried out by private manufacturing firms.

This involved a decision to order an end to collective bargaining with the United Electrical Workers, the principal union in the electrical industry. The commission took that step last fall, requiring the General Electric Co. to cease recognizing the UEW as the bargaining agent for workers at the atomic energy installations in the Schenectady area.

The reason for this step is obvious. The UEW has been repeatedly charged with Communist domination at the top; a charge made by officials of the CIO who are seeking to purge the Communist direction of certain CIO unions.

WITH THE pressure that unscrupulous union officials could bring to bear on individual employes, who might themselves be completely loyal, such a union could not be tolerated. If the UEW could function as the collective bargaining agent for workers on highly secret contracts at Schenectady, the same union would probably be interested in organizing the atomic plant at Hanford, Wash., which is also operated by General Electric.

The decision was taken only after the union had been offered a full opportunity to come forward to try to resolve the question of loyalty. Rejecting this opportunity, officers of the union elected instead to bring a million-dollar damage suit against the company and the commission. A Federal court has upheld the action of the AEC.

This is only one example of the kind of positive action taken by the commission in the interest of ever-increasing security. It was not easy to do, particularly since no other agency of Government had taken such a step. The Navy today has contracts for work just as secret as that of the AEC, and the UEW is the bargaining agent for the employes engaged in that work.

THE PROBLEM of the use of fissionable material by several hundred persons in various laboratories illustrates the gravity of the security problem. The U-235 referred to by Hickenlooper, in the story deliberately "leaked" by someone on the inside, is constantly passing through one process after another. It cannot be catalogued in exact quantities from hour to hour nor even from day to day.

The fissionable material that is stored is checked each day. Likewise the bombs are counted each day. Incidentally, think what a job that would be—to count those eggs of mass death and be sure that each one was in its proper place.

Chairman David Lilienthal and the other members of the commission are fearful that the positive side of security will not be developed in the current fishing expedition. They are well aware that incidents can be blown into headlines, which serve chiefly to increase the atomic jitters afflicting at least a portion of the population.

One special phase of security has just been tightened and double checked. A special effort is being made to prevent the deliberate leaks that seem to originate with a handful of disgruntled persons who wish to discredit Lilienthal.

The story of the missing U-235 was an instance. If espionage had been involved, which the commission and the FBI specifically and emphatically denied, the sensational stories would have been a warning that the search was on. They would have made the problem of the FBI, on a trail already cold, that much more difficult. And meanwhile the fishing expedition goes on under the fierce light of all the modern instruments of publicity.

Lied for Hiss, Chambers Says

—and Judge Kaufman said that testimony was "substantially consistent" with his current testimony.

Testimony Varies

In his October appearances, Chambers, in a series of questions, had declared he had no knowledge of any Government employes furnishing unauthorized information, never received such information himself and could name no one guilty of espionage.

Some of the questions were repeated in different form leading to a total of the seven occasions on which Chambers only declared today that his answers were all false and constituted perjury.

Stryker noted that on December 6, Chambers said he turned over secret papers only to a Col. Boris Bykov, whom Chambers had identified as a Russian agent, and had not mentioned giving documents to another agent, "J. Peters."

"My intention was not to lie," said Chambers.

Q. "You've had a change of recollection?"

A. "Yes."

Stryker (sarcastically): "Well, we won't check that as another perjury."

Judge Kaufman ordered the last remark stricken from the record, upon Murphy's objection.

Murphy, during the redirect examination which will continue when the trial resumes tomorrow, got into the record a number of statements by Chambers to counter points raised by the defense during cross-examination.

He brought out that during the taking of pretrial depositions in the Baltimore libel case, Chambers himself told Hiss' attorneys that he (Chambers) once lived for a year with a woman named Ida Dales, who was not his wife.

When he obtained a job with the WPA's National Research program in Washington in 1937, said Chambers, and made some false statements in his job application, he sought the job for two purposes:

He was known in Communist circles only as "Carl," he said, and because he was at that time contemplating renunciation of communism, he wanted to have a means of genuine identification if any attempt should be made on his life. In addition, he said, he needed the money "to finance my break" from the Communist Party.

In using the false name of "Adams" when he left home at the age of 17, he did this only to conceal his whereabouts from his parents. Chambers said he was the first to give this information to Hiss' defense counsel in the Baltimore depositions.

When he used the name "Robert Cantwell" for a period after joining Time magazine, he said, he did it with permission of the real owner of that name, a Time employe.

Pro-Religious Articles Shown

In an attempt to offset the lengthy defense attacks on Chambers as a "moral leper" and a completely irreligious man during most of his life, Murphy inserted in the record, but did not read, lengthy pro-religious articles written by Chambers which appeared in Time magazine of August 16, 1943, and March 8, 1948, and Life magazine of February 2, 1948.

Yesterday, Stryker read part of a poem which Chambers wrote in remorseful reflection upon the suicide of his brother, Dick, who took his own life at the age of 22 after unsuccessfully urging Chambers to join him in a suicide pact.

The poem was read originally during an obvious attempt to portray Chambers as a neurotic and he admitted that his brother's death "greatly affected me."

Pleased to Reread Poem

While Stryker read only the last three lines of the poem which ended, "my perfection for death I am waiting for," Chambers read the full poem today, at Murphy's direction.

With what appeared to be a gleam of self-satisfaction, Chambers reread the lines he had penned in 1926. To court observers they represented normal poetic symbolism.

Since Chambers took the witness stand, Dr. Carl Binger, a psychiatrist, has been present in the courtroom to "observe" him, at the request of Hiss' attorneys.

General Motors Tops Sales List Of 50 Biggest

By S. Oliver Goodman

General Motors led as the largest industrial corporation in America, based on sales figures for 1948.

With total dollar volume of $4,701,770,340, General Motors was well ahead of the $3,300,785,651 recorded by the runnerup, Standard Oil of New Jersey, according to a compilation released yesterday by Standard & Poor's Corp.

The 50 largest industrial corporations, based on 1948 sales, are listed by the research agency as follows:

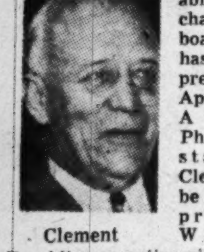
VEPCO HIGH BID: Union Securities Corp. and associates submitted the apparent high bid of 101.12 for 20 million dollars of Virginia Electric & Power Co. 2⅞ per cent first and refunding mortgage bonds. Subject to formal award, the group is expected to reoffer the 30-year bonds at 101½ to yield better than 2.80 per cent to maturity.

REPORT: Martin W. Clement, 67-year-old president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is expected to announce his retirement today. He will probably be elected chairman of the board. Clement has been PRR president since April 24, 1935. A report from Philadelphia states that Clement will be succeeded as president by Walter S. Franklin, executive vice president. Franklin started with the PRR in 1906 as a freight platform worker, while Clement will celebrate his fiftieth year of service on August 1.



Clement

DISMISSED: Richard S. Boutelle, vice president and general manager of Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp.'s plant at Hagerstown, Md., has been fired. J. Carlton Ward, jr., chairman of Fairchild, announced that Boutelle had associated himself with Sherman M. Fairchild, former company head who is engaged in a proxy contest with the company management. Ward said that as a result of Boutelle's action, he had been relieved of his position.

BIDS INVITED: The Maryland State Roads Commission is trying again for bids for the construction of the substructure of the proposed 45-million-dollar Chesapeake Bay Bridge. The new bids will be considered during July and August. It is recalled that only one bid was received by the commission last March. At that time the bid was about nine million dollars more than anticipated and was turned down. The Free State financed construction costs of the new bridge last October through sale of 19 million dollars of term 3.20 per cent bonds and $18,500,000 of serial bonds. Service charges on these bonds are being met from revenues of the existing Potomac and Susquehanna Bridges, pending erection of the new structure. Revenues of the two existing bridges totaled $1,629,000 in the 12 months ended April 30, 1949. This was an increase of 14.9 per cent over the preceding 12-month period. Combined revenues of the spans during April were reported at $158,000, up from $124,000 in the same 1948 month.

PITTSBURGH VIEW: "We should realize that we are in the first stages of economic depression. We need a kind of realism that is not now evident in Washington, where some people are still tilting at the windmills of an inflationary bubble that burst some months ago," declared Paul G. Benedum, president of Hiawatha Oil & Gas Co., at stockholders meeting in Pittsburgh.

AWARDS: Public Service Electrict & Gas Co. awarded 75 million dollars of 2⅞ per cent bonds to a group headed by Morgan, Stanley & Co. and Drexel & Co. The buyers expect to reoffer the 30-year bonds at 101¼ to yield 2.815 per cent. Interest cost to the company over the life of the bonds will be 2.84 per cent annually, based on the banking group's high bid of 100.68 . . . A syndicate headed by National City Bank of New York submitted the apparent best bid for 84 million dollars in veterans' bonus bonds, due July 1, 1950-59, put up for competitive bidding by the State of Minnesota. The group's bid was 100.0277 for a combination of coupons with a net interest cost to the State of 1.45769 per cent.

Modest Rally In Stocks Led By Railroads

New York, June 7 (AP).—The stock market rallied today after heading point-blank toward a five-year low.

The rally didn't amount to much in terms of price. But many recently hard-pressed stocks emerged with small gains and the market generally stopped just short of what Wall Street considers highly critical price territory.

Trading volume topped one million shares although it failed to measure up to 1,380,000 shares yesterday when the market took one of the steepest dives of the year to a two-year low. Turnover amounted to 1,040,000 shares, a better than average figure but below what brokers would like to see to sustain a decisive advance.

The market got off to a wobbly start. Selling pressure, recently severe, let up later and signs of a rally appeared. Not until late in the day, though, did demand increase at all. In the last few minutes of trade, several issues stumbled but most stocks ended at their top prices for the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of 1 point to 59.5. An advance of equal size was made May 25 and May 16 but not exceeded since May 14. Railroad issues easily outdistanced the industrial and utility sections.

Grains and cotton rallied with stocks. Wheat at Chicago gained ⅝ to 1¼ cents a bushel, corn 1 to 1¼, and oats ¾ t ol cent. New York cotton futures jumped 95 cents to $1.75 a bale.

Firestone Joins In Price Cuts

Akron, Ohio, June 7 (AP).—Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. today announced tire price cuts of 5 to 7½ per cent.

Firestone said it had cut the price of super balloon tires 5 per cent and of de luxe champion tires and all regular tubes 7½ per cent. The 600-16 de luxe champion tire will now list at $14.75, which the company said was below the 1939 price.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced similar cuts Saturday, to become effective yesterday. The B. F. Goodrich Co. and General Tire & Rubber Co., the other two members of the industry's "big four," are expected to adjust their tire prices downward soon.

Standard Oil Co (Ohio) started the price break in the tire industry May 16 by slashing prices on its Atlas tires by 19 per cent.

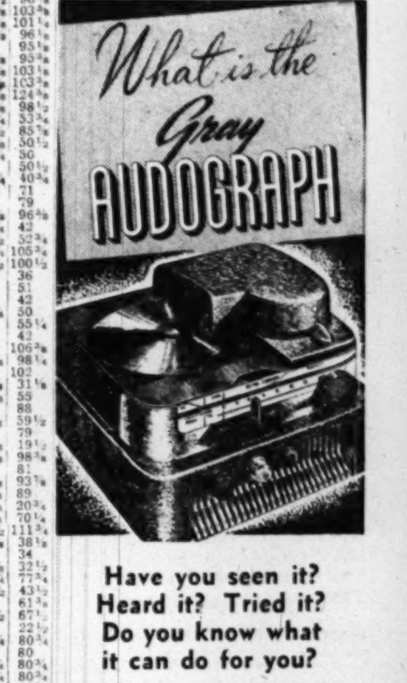
'Business Outlook' Is on Vacation

J. A. Livingston is on a three-week vacation. His "Business Outlook" column will be resumed upon his return.



What is the Gray AUDOGRAPH

Have you seen it? Heard it? Tried it? Do you know what it can do for you?

Here is an entirely new kind of electronic Business Recorder especially created to help you get things done more easily, quickly, conveniently. Here is an instrument that records dictation, telephone conversations, meetings and conferences on paper-thin, virtually indestructible plastic discs you can slip in an envelope and mail—discs that cost but a few pennies yet record for over 60 minutes.

Moreover, the AUDOGRAPH is incredibly light—the smallest and lightest of all dictating instruments, lighter than most portable typewriters, taking far less space than a letter tray. No turntable. No recording or playing arms to manipulate. Just simplicity itself—a masterpiece of American manufacturing resourcefulness, star-studded with revolutionary new features never before available in any instrument.

Before you decide on any dictation instrument be sure you see the AUDOGRAPH in action! Phone or write for FREE demonstration and FREE TRIAL in your office on your desk, no obligation, of course.

Truman Signs Bill For Grain Storage

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

The Truman Administration moved dramatically yesterday to keep one of its most productive farm-belt campaign promises.

Ten minutes after President Truman signed a bill to permit Commodity Credit Corp. again to provide storage for surplus grain, Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan:

1. Tossed in 25 million dollars to build storage at once for the near-record wheat crop now being harvested in the Southwest and told the anxious farmers "there is more where that came from."

2. Announced that "distress" loans will be made on wheat piled on the ground in the open, where proper facilities are not available. These loans will amount to 75 per cent of the full support level. Farmers getting them must agree to provide satisfactory farm storage within 90 days. Then the remaining 25 per cent of his loan will be granted him.

Will Find Emergency Storage

3. Announced that "in areas where it is not feasible for farmers to leave wheat in the open or in other temporary storage" the Government will "find suitable emergency storage."

4. Made 25 million dollars available as loans for farmers to build farm storage. Farmers will be loaned up to 85 per cent of the cost of such storage at 4 per cent interest, with five years in which to pay.

5. Announced that CCC will contract at once for storage facilities to be built on leased or purchased sites at "strategic points throughout the country, for the storage of CCC-owned or controlled grains when other facilities are not available."

This storage, Brannan said, "will be required to carry over considerable grain stocks from year to year, both as a result of price-support operations and in providing for carryover of part of the necessary reserve supply in the national interest."

6. Called a meeting here Friday of manufacturers and suppliers of on-the-farm type of grain storage. At that time a survey will be made of the capacity of each to produce and deliver storage, and the areas where storage is most needed.

Precedes Farm Meeting

The speed with which Brannan acted showed that careful plans had been made to take full advantage of the new authority.

His action comes on the eve of the Democratic national farm meeting scheduled for Des Moines, Iowa, this weekend. At that conference the Democrats boast they intend to nail down their claim to the Midwest farm vote, as the "real friend" of the farmer.

President Truman last fall carried the traditionally Republican Midwest corn States of Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, South Dakota and Wisconsin. One of the chief issues was failure of the Republican Eightieth Congress to provide more grain storage facilities.

Brannan also said he is considering making use of some Government surplus war property for temporary grain storage. He mentioned the Blue Bonnet Arsenal at McGregor, Tex., as one under consideration. Thousands of bushels could be stored in that one location.

Aide Appointed To UCS Staff

PAUL R. CHERNEY, former regional representative of the Children's Bureau, is the new secretary of the Family and Child Welfare section of the United Community Services, it was announced yesterday by Frank R. Laborites Back 'Austerity' commented only a few hours earlier that Churchill would like to know the date of a general election which is fixed by the government in power.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps received a vote of confidence in the almost unanimous rejection of a resolution demanding that the government lift restrictions on wages and profits.

Cripps warned of the "pincer movement" of Tories on the right and Communists on the left seeking to persuade the country that it faces "economic annihilation."

"We are the most virile democracy in the world," he said.

Cripps said the nation had not yet reached the top of its difficulties despite four years of struggling but steady progress.

Ovation Given Atlee

"We are not at the moment making the headway we must with our exports to the United States," he said. "In fact in the first four months of this year the rate of exports to the United States was 14 per cent lower than in the last quarter of 1948 . . ."

Cripps blamed high expenditures on defense, social service and subsidies and said any reduction in taxes would mean a reduction in one of these or in some other services.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee drew an ovation after a long tribute to Labor's record in its first four years when he said that former governments would have been "exhausted" by a single phase of the vast Socialist program of social services which evoked the "wholehearted admiration" of other nations.

Price Fall Hopes Discouraged

Baltimore, June 7 (AP).—Don't expect prices to return to prewar levels within the next few years, a University of Maryland economist advised today.

If prices did suddenly go back to the prewar level, the drop would be more severe than experienced between the 1929 peak and the 1933 depression depth, Dr. John H. Cover said.

Dr. Cover testified before the Public Service Commission at the hearing for a rate increase asked by the Cheapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. The hearing recessed for two months, when opponents of the increase will start cross-examination of company witnesses.

Dr. Cover is director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at the University of Maryland. He appeared for the company.

He said he expects a "moderate downward price readjustment" in the next two or three years, but doubts if it will go 15 per cent below the level of last December.

Dr. Clover concluded therefore that the telephone company will not experience significant reductions in wages or prices of materials. The company says it needs higher rates to obtain a fair return on its investment because of such rising costs.

Temporary Phone Hike Granted Virginia Firm

Richmond, Va., June 7 (AP).—A temporary rate increase approximating 25 per cent on residential and 30 per cent on business telephones was granted the Virginia Telephone & Telegraph Co. today by the State Corporation Commission.

The increase is effective July 1 and expires automatically October 3, unless the SCC in the meantime decides to grant a permanent increase to the company.

Meanwhile the commission continued the hearing of the rate application to September 12 and announced that its own rate experts and engineers will be directed to make an investigation of the company to determine a fair rate basis.

New York Cotton

New York, June 7 (AP).—Cotton futures turned firm and active today, paced by aggressive short covering in nearby July futures which met only scale-up offerings. The technically strong situation in nearby July contracts was attributed by traders directly to operation of the Government loan which has created a tight situation in free market supplies of spot cotton. The Government is estimated to hold in the loan well above half of the total supply of cotton remaining until the new 1949 crop becomes available.

Final prices were 95 cents to $1.75 a bale higher. On the upturn a leading spot firm which is heavily long in July futures sold about 15,000 bales of those contracts.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, June 7 (AP).—Corn and oats resisted selling at the Board of Trade today, and at the close carried other grains higher, in a good rally.

The session started with wheat inclined to be easy, and the bread cereal dragged until near the close when it spurted to catch up with earlier advances made by corn.

Lard and soybeans had a difficult day, but advanced with other futures at the finish, which found wheat ⅜ to ¼ higher, corn 1 cent to 1¼ up, oats ¾ to 1 cent higher, rye 2 to 2½ higher, soybeans mixed, 2 cents higher to 1¼ lower and lard 5 cents a hundredweight higher to 10 cents lower.

Bergner to Open Outdoor Theater

By Richard L. Coe

A NEW SUMMER STAGE is rising—and right in the heart of town.

Already workmen are erecting a stage and dressing rooms at 15th st. and Florida ave., corner of Meridian Hill Park. This will be an open air theater seating 917. The first production will be Elisabeth Bergner in Giraudoux "Amphitryon 38," opening the weekend of June 26. An eight-week season of plays and visiting stars is planned.

This heartening news culminates two months of dogged labor and interest on the part of Productions Incorporated, which is sponsoring the theater in association with David Polland.

Official name of the venture is The Washington Theater Festival and the chiefs of Productions Incorporated, Horton Foote and Vincent Donehue will be executive directors. General manager will be Winston O'Keefe, the managing director of New York's New Stages.

David Aaron, designer in residence at the Institute of Contemporary Arts, has designed the stage, fitting it into a natural setting at the edge of Meridian Hill's lower pool and facing the statue of President Buchanan. His stage is 36 feet wide by 24 feet deep; dressing rooms will open off both sides of the stage. The stage and its wings will be covered with a blue, waterproof canvas and Aaron has worked out a curved sounding board which may make an artificial P. A. system unnecessary.

The audience will be seated under the sky, and from Aaron's plans and the loveliness of the setting it should enjoy an open air gem. There is a natural incline of steps and terraces leading down from the statue to the pool, which guarantees all excellent vision and gives promise of fine acoustical effect. If a P. A. system should prove necessary, it will be installed.

Size of Audience Limited

By limiting the size of the audience, the theater is most unlikely to repeat the recent experience at the Sylvan, where "Medea" was fine for some, a loss for others. The price scale will run from $1.20 to $3.60 and there will be evening performances only.

How the theater came into existence and gained financial life is a story of patience and generosity on all levels that warms the soul. More than 60 people from all walks of life have raised $18,000 to build the stage and guarantee initial expenses with Actors' Equity. There is no "Big Angel," 45 per cent of the investors are Negro, 55 per cent are white. They have simply determined that they would do what they could when the chance was offered them. If there should be any profits at the end of the summer, they will receive a certain amount; the rest will be put into a fund to build an indoor, winter theater long planned by Productions Incorporated.

That these on-the-line believers in getting theater back to Washington, even though it means playing under the stars, stand to lose is a possibility they all face. A long spate of rainy evening could endanger the entire financial setup, but to take out rain insurance for the entire season would eat up $14,000, so this is a calculated risk. Given half a break by the weather, the season can be brought off successfully.

Fine Advantages

Miss Bergner's Alkmena in "Amphitryon 38" she created in the original Paris version, but she has not played it in America. The version previously used here has been by S. N. Behrman, but our adaptation this summer will be a new one by Miss Bergner and her husband, Dr. Paul Czinner. The Behrman was used last year at Olney by Haila Stoddard.

Other attractions still are in the iffy stage, but among them are Estelle Winwood, Angela Lansbury and John Buckmaster in "The Importance of Being Ernest," Fay Bainter in "First Lady," Betty Field in "See Naples and Die" and Joan Blondell in "Happy Birthday." Don't count on any one in particular, but that's the type offering the group hopes to present.

Those who recall the prewar Chamber Music Concerts held in Meridian Hill don't have to be told of the charm of this setting and its advantages. The 16th st. traffic is scarcely heard, the planes don't fly directly over the spot, the trees are splendid. It is easily accessible and is neatly secluded from the park itself.

So to all who've contributed and given the leadership in this "from the people" summer stage, this Capital owes a heap of gratitude. May the weather and assorted Fates be as generous in their contribution.

Woman Charges Gaston Chased Her From Home

Wilton, Conn., June 7 (U.P.).—William Gaston, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Congress and former husband of Actress Kay Francis, was arrested today after making himself "obnoxious" to a divorcee and chasing her out of her home, State police reported.

Gaston, about 50, was intoxicated when he went to the home of Mrs. Jeanne Shea, chairman of the Wilton Democratic Town Committee, according to police. Mrs. Shea told police Gaston chased her out of the house.

Nats Lose First to Indians, 13-11, in Wild Game

This Morning

—With Shirley Povich

BILL VEECK has reacted to the civic panic in Cleveland, where the Indians were lately in seventh place, with the announcement, "This has gone far enough, and here's where Old Will takes over." But somehow it isn't very reassuring.

Veeck's promotional genius has been well-established. He built up a frenzy of baseball interest in Cleveland, and got the crowds into the park last year in record numbers. But unless he can grab a bat and promote some of the basehits the Indians haven't been getting, or put on an infielders' glove and plug the holes at third base and shortstop, Old Will may be in foul shape.

POVICH

He promised drastic action, with hints that he was dickering for such as Bob Dillinger and Gerry Priddy of the Browns, and he called in Manager Lou Boudreau for a supposedly momentous conference. But thus far he has brought forth only a mouse-like change. He switched Boudreau from shortstop to third base.

That bit of shuffling found Veeck confirming what everybody else in the league had long suspected—that Boudreau had slowed incredibly and was no longer the ball-getter who made the records of Cleveland pitchers look good.

THE INDIANS, who are supposed to be defending a pennant, have been looking like a team that has cracked up. Boudreau benched both Ken Keltner and himself last week, because neither was hitting nor coming up with ground balls. Joe Gordon, too, was told to sit down and let Johnny Berardino handle the second base job. Bob Feller can show only one win against five defeats. Gene Bearden, the rookie pitching sensation of last year, has been belted freely, and has won only four against four defeats.

Veeck was boasting last winter that the Indians would win the pennant by 10 games. As of this morning, they were 9½ games behind the league-leading Yanks, and only a whisper out of seventh place. His club is making look good those prophets who said the Indians were playing over their head last season, and were depending too much on a bunch of guys who happened to have the greatest year of their lives, all at once, in 1948.

There isn't anybody resembling a .300 hitter on the Indians. Dale Mitchell, with .270, is their top man, and leaving red-faced such as Tris Speaker, who predicted that Mitchell would be the game's next .400 hitter. Mitchell, with his bad throwing arm and lack of long hits, is of no great value to the club unless he hits .300.

BOUDREAU, who hit .355 last season and was runner-up to Ted Williams for the batting crown, is a mere .250 hitter thus far. The suspicion is that he may be plate shy after being nicked frequently by pitched balls. His exaggerated plate-crowding stance invites that sort of thing from pitchers who know him as a hitter doting on outside pitches, and prefer to pitch him inside. An offering doesn't have to be far off line to hit Boudreau.

Like many a star shortstop and second baseman before him, Boudreau may find a refuge at third base since slowing up. At that spot, the range is not as great, and Boudreau can do nicely, perhaps be a great third baseman. He isn't too old as ball players go, but weak ankles and feet that took much punishment on basketball courts curb his agility.

Boudreau's transfer could solve the Indians' third base problem, but those Cleveland pitchers will have no such support at shortstop as Boudreau used to give 'em. "He kills us," rival managers used to moan at Boudreau's super plays. They are all happy to see him moved out of the shortstop spot.

THE INDIANS' batting averages down the line look like the time of day before 3 o'clock. Keltner is batting only .253. Mickey Vernon, too, is at .253. Joe Gordon, .264. Larry Doby, .243, and Thurmond Tucker, also a regular outfielder now, is .252. The Indians' pitchers are not getting all those runs that came in so handy last season.

Veeck didn't exactly distinguish himself with his deal with Washington last December, when he engineered the swap that sent Eddie Robinson to the Nats in exchange for Mickey Vernon and Early Wynn. After a slow start, Wynn has been doing nicely for the Indians, but Vernon has been far overshadowed by Robinson who is now hitting .321 for the Senators.

At a time when the Indians are screaming for more run-production, Robinson has socked in 36 runs for the Nats, only five fewer than the total batted in by Vernon and Larry Doby, the Indians' two leading run producers. Old Will can move in and take over as he sees fit, being the president of the club, but he can't talk any runs across the plate.

Leoffler Seeks Pat on Back, Is Told He Owes U. S. $119,515

61-year-old concessionaire forcefuly read a 21-page statement refuting criticism of his 28-year stewardship of the golf courses.

Leoffler fought like a tiger. He pointed out that his books have been audited for years by the Interior Department, the GAO and the Internal Revenue Bureau. He told the subcommittee he recently retained William Gordon Buchanan's accounting firm to make a study of his bookkeeping system.

Then Leoffler introduced this observation by Buchanan into the record: "From our observation, and as indicated by the foregoing summary, it is our opinion that the records are entirely adequate, modern and comprehensive. It is also apparent that they are being intelligently and efficiently maintained."

Leoffler bitterly attacked the representatives of the D. C. Recreation Board, saying, "I have been amazed at the misinformation, the deviation from the truth and the scandalous distortion of facts that have been furnished this committee by them."

Present was Leoffler's chief critic, James E. Schwab, sr., vice chairman. Later Schwab said, "I certainly have heard nothing from Mr. Leoffler that refutes any of my charges."

Among other things, Barr, GAO auditor, found in his examination:

1. That the S. G. Leoffler Operating Co., which became the S. G. Leoffler Co., on January 1, 1944, transferred furniture, fixtures and equipment carried on the old books at a value of $12,491.28 and set them on the partnership books at $48,618.01.

2. That the $360 appraisal charge of the American Appraisal Co. was made against the "buying" company, not the "selling."

3. That a credit was made to the Capitol Golf Construction Co. of $6701.19. James E. Milton, a Leoffler employe, appeared to be sole proprietor of the company. Investigation didn't disclose any office or any work being performed in the company's name but the 1131 15th st. nw. address is the office of Oscar J. Bernstein, accountant for the S. G. Leoffler Co.

4. That files didn't disclose any invoices covering services by Bernstein. However, upon request, copies were furnished that showed total charges for the five-year period by Bernstein to be $25,215.

5. That Alton E. Rabbit received payments amounting to $10,578.10, including $1700 for automobile expense, for a period from June 21, 1946, to March 27, 1949. Rabbitt was employed as greens superintendent and at the same time employed on a full-time basis by Navy Department, Bureau of Aeronautics.

Numerous other detailed information was given by Barr. When he finished, Representative Lloyd M. Bentsen, jr. (D., Tex.), asked if he thought there was evidence of fraud.

Representative Poulson immediately objected. "That's a question for the Public Lands Committee or a jury to decide," he interjected.

When Bentsen and Chairman Redden insisted that the question was in order, Barr said, "Such determination requires a legal conclusion. I prefer not to answer it."

Redden, at that point, said he didn't think any judgment was in the province of the investigating subcommittee. He explained that all it had to do was to report on the bill prohibiting the Secretary of Interior or any other department officer from making any contract or lease relating to golf courses in the District.

Chairman Redden called another meeting for 9:30 a. m. today. At that time, he expects to wind up hearings and have the subcommittee take its vote.

Tigers Whip Yanks, 5-2, Take Over 2d Place

Detroit, June 7 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers clipped a full game off the New York Yankees' American League lead today as they saw lefty Hal Newhouser beat Yankee Southpaw Ed Lopat,, 5-2, for his first setback of the season.

The victory gave Detroit temporary undisputed possession of second place, just 5½ games behind the New Yorkers. The Washington Senators who were tied with Detroit for second place play tonight.

Lopat, who had won five straight up to today, saw the Tigers bunch six of their nine hits in two innings—the first and fourth—for all their runs.

Musial's Pair Of Homers Top Giants, 3-0

New York, June 7 (AP).—Stan Musial and Harry Brecheen teamed up tonight to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-0 victory over the New York Giants before 50,000 fans.

Musial belted two homers, his tenth and eleventh of the season and drove in all the Cards' runs. Brecheen allowed only five hits.

Nats Expedite Hittle Delivery, Send Thompson to Oakland

They completed a transaction whereby Lefthander Lloyd Hittle, their $65,000 purchase from Oakland of the Pacific Coast League, would join them Friday instead of reporting next spring as the deal was originally consummated.

To expedite the delivery of Hittle, who was purchased 10 days ago, the Nats sent Pitcher Forrest Thompson, another southpaw, to Oakland on option. Thompson left here for Oakland via Washington tonight, while Hittle joins the Griffs in Detroit Friday.

The announcements were made here by Manager Joe Kuhel, who received the glad tidings in a telephone conversation with President Clark Griffith.

Nats Expect to Hear From Roberto Today

Roberto Ortiz, Washington outfielder who jumped to Mexico, yesterday applied for reinstatement in organized baseball and was assured of a kindly welcome when he arrives here from the Maracaibo, Venezuela, team with which he now plays.

President Clark Griffith of the Nats said he expected to hear from Ortiz today. His reinstatement is virtually automatic following Commissioner A. B. Chandler's lifting of the five-year ban against all jumpers.

Hittle, for whom the Nats paid $50,000 in cash and Pitcher Milo Candini, has won seven games and lost four for the Oaks this season.

According to spencer Abbott, who scouted Hittle and recommended his purchase, the Nats were so anxious to obtain Hittle for immediate delivery that Griffith offered the Oakland club an additional $25,000 for Hittle to join the Nats immediately.

Oakland Manager Chuck Dressen, former Yankee coach, objected however, being pressed for pitching talent himself. But when the Nats offered him the immediate services of Thompson, for the immediate services of Hittle, Dressen okayed the move.

Bothered with a sore arm early in the season, Thompson has compiled a 1-2 record with the Nats this spring. He's been used chiefly in relief roles, jobs which he filled with distinction last year, his first in the majors. The Nats drafted him from Atlanta in 1947.

Hittle Has Walked Only 20

The 24-year-old Hittle is a compactly built fellow standing 5 feet 10 inches and weighing 177 pounds. In 70 innings this season he has permitted only 57 hits and 29 runs. He's walked 20 and fanned 34. He had the lowest earned run average in a class B and A league respectively before joining Oakland this spring.

His purchase price represents the greatest outlay by the Nats for a player since they spent $65,000 for their present manager, Joe Kuhel from Kansas City.

The crying need of the Nats at the moment is a capable relief pitcher. Hittle may be the stopper they need. He'll get his first taste of action as a Nat next Monday in Cooperstown, N. Y., when the Nats play the Pittsburgh Pirates an exhibition game.

Lanier, Martin Turn Backs on Cards' Offers

New York, June 7 (U.P.).—Attorney John Flynn, representing Pitchers Max Lanier and Fred Martin, said tonight that the two players had turned down offers to return to the St. Louis Cardinals at their old salaries "because they are now making more playing in Canada."

"Not only that, but the Cards only asked them to come back on a conditional basis—Lanier and Martin would have to give up these good paying jobs they have now on the chance of sticking with the Cardinals," said Flynn.

Flynn said Lanier had asked the Cardinals to give him a release on his organized baseball contract but the request was denied by Card President Fred M. Saigh.

Flynn is acting for the players in damage suits asking a total of $2,500,000 from baseball because of their suspension which was lifted on Sunday by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler. He said the Cards offered Lanier $11,000 a year and Martin $5000.

Heroes, Meanies On Turner Mat

Washington wrestling fans will witness something new tonight when a trio of heroes meets a combination of meanies in a special six-man team match, main event of the wrestling program in Joe Turner's Arena at 8:45.

Heroes Gene "Mr. America" Stanlee, the Golden Superman, and Dutch Sweigert take on the villainous threesome of Babe Sharkey, Michele Leone and huge Harry Finkelstein of New York.

Roe Pitches Dodgers Into 1st Place, 7-1

Brooklyn, June 7 (AP).—Preacher Roe pitched Brooklyn into undisputed possession of first place today by striking out 10 men in a six-hit, 7-1, victory over the wobbly Chicago Cubs.

The veteran lefthander lost his shutout on Andy Pafko's seventh inning homer, but he coasted in after the Brooks routed Dutch Leonard in a four-run sixth inning.

Doby Slams Two Homers, Paige Hurls Relief Win

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

Cleveland, June 7.—In beautiful weather—for football—the Cleveland Indians scored two touchdowns and kicked an extra point to trim the Nats, 13-11.

The 1948 world champions had to come from behind three times to score their triumph in a windswept Municipal Stadium which was made more uncomfortable by the 44-degree temperature.

The victory was concocted on a formula comprised of two home runs by Larry Doby, a two-run sixth-inning triple by Rookie Shortstop Ray Boone and some spectacular relief pitching by Satchel Paige who was credited with his second victory.

Despite the setback, which required more than three hours to be administered and which was the first for Cleveland in six games with the Nats this season, the Nats remained in third place as the Browns upset the Red Sox.

Thrills Varied

It was baseball that the topcoated crowd of 17,796 paid to see, but they got a little of everything thrown in in

There were four home runs—Bob Kennedy of the Indians and Clyde Vollmer of the Nats joining Doby in that phase of the game—a near fight between, first, Joe Gordon and Walter Masterson, and then Gordon and Al Evans—a beer bottle thrown at Umpire Bill Grieve and countless arguments between the Nats and Plate Umpire John Stevens.

The Nats used up three hurlers trying to stop Cleveland's 15-hit rumpus while the spendthrift Indians employed five in an effort to find one who could find the plate and finally hit the jackpot with Satchmo Paige.

Paige came in in the sixth inning with the bases loaded, one run already in and the Nats leading, 9-8. He struck out Sam Dente, got Pinch Hitter Buddy Lewis on a weak popup and fanned Pinch Hitter Gil Coan. The only two hits made off Paige in his four inning stint were Clyde Vollmer's eighth homer of the season in the 7th inning, a smash deep into the upper left field stands which found Eddie Stewart, who had singled, on base at the time.

The Gordon-Masterson-Evans rhubarb came in the fourth inning after the Nats had scored seven runs and were riding high with an 8-3 lead.

Doby Socks One

Masterson, who took over in the fourth after Haefner was belted out trying for his sixth straight success, hit Gordon with a pitch after he had been tagged for a 425-foot home run by Larry Doby. Doby's second straight homer—his ninth of the year—had tied the game at 8-8.

Gordon rushed out to the mound, bat in hand, charging that Masterson had hit him intentionally. As players from both teams rushed out to the field, Catch Al Evans intercepted Gordon and for a moment the whole fuss seemed to be over.

Seconds later, however, Evans and Gordon were just about having a go at each other and it took all four umpires, plus three stadiums cops to separate them and restore quiet.

Having countered Washington's seven-run fourth-inning with three runs in the third and five in the fourth to deadlock the thriller, 8-8, the Indians staged a four-run foray in the sixth to ice the contest.

Doby clouted his first homer in a three-run Cleveland third and it came seconds after Bob Kennedy had smacked a two-run homer off Mickey Heafner.

Homer No. 2 for Doby came in the next inning at the expense of Masterson who lobbed up a slow curve which Doby smoked deep into the right field stands. It also scored Mitchell, whose single had driven Haefner to cover, and Kennedy, who had also singled.

CHARLES TOWN

DEAR FOLKS: "Big Mutt" passed away last night in Martinsburg. Few knew his real name was George Kratz and that he was 53 and from Baltimore. However, most fans knew him around this track and the Maryland ovals as a "big bettor," particularly in the show position. There are as many legends regarding "Big Mutt" and his betting as there are about Paul Bunyon and his doings. They will tell you about his thousand dollar wagers to place and show and how he cleared thousands each year by betting lock horses for third. He was a rather quiet fellow who watched the odds-board a lot and seldom nosed around for tips. Just how well he did with his gambling perhaps never will be known. But I'm told that he owned a tavern in Baltimore where he always had "fresh money" available. At any rate he was a nice man and the tracks are going to miss him—particularly the mutuel department

Palumbo Scores by 3½ Lengths

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

Charlestown, W. Va., June 7.—African Sunray turned in his fourth straight victory here today, winning the Middleway Purse with a front running effort that found seven rivals behind him. Carrying the colors of Miss Rita Marzani of Clarks Summit, Pa., the remarkably improved son of Okapi finished 3½ lengths in front of Mrs. C. A. Lyon's Golden Pennant, the favorite. Three additional lengths back came E. L. Poston's White Easter.

Jockey Sammy Palumbo, after being beaten on four straight mounts, including some well-backed ones, rode like a ball of fire aboard African Sunray and brought the 5-year-old home to the tune of a $7.20 mutuel. The winner was clocked in 1.27 3-5 for the about 7 furlongs over a fast track.

A Steady Rise

The rise of African Sunray has been sensational. Unable to win last year, the gelding was beaten eight lengths in his first local outing. He followed by winning successively in the $1000, $1250 and $2250 claiming classes. Today he moved back into allowance company for his victory. In each performance, he has picked up weight and bettered his winning margin.

There was little to the race except a chase of African Sunray. Golden Pennant, with Eddie Ballenger up, was always second. The only come-from-behind move was a light rally by White Easter, ridden by Johnny Regalbuto.

The daily double on the 7 and 3 combination paid $72.40. H. G. Tonkin's Shalam, paying $16.80, put the finishing touches on the twin wager started when Jockey R. D. Scott won the first event at $5.60.

Ray Arduini kept his one winner lead in the race for jockey honors here. He rode his seventeenth winner aboard Mrs. D. N. Lee's Venci, a $6 shot, in the third race. Freddie Kratz turned in his sixteenth winner aboard M. Stanfield's Fast Slave, paying $5.80 in the seventh. Jockey Buddy Root, after being beaten on four horses finally came to life in the eighth race. He was aboard Wayne Kendrick's Doe Head and the mare took the top at the start and led every jump of the mile and one sixteenth.

YOUNG MAN
Here's your opportunity to earn a commission as an officer in the Air Force Reserve. Yes, you can become one of the skilled leaders and administrators who do their part in keeping our flying men airborne! How? Through the specialized training offered you at the U. S. Air Force Officer Candidate School.
If you are a United States citizen, 20½ to 26½ years of age, physically, mentally and morally fit, if you have finished two years of college training or can pass an equivalent examination, you may make the grade for appointment to OCS. No prior military service is required. You must, however, agree to serve three years as a commissioned officer with the U.S. Air Force upon graduation. During this time you will have a splendid opportunity to earn a Regular Air Force Commission.
See your local Recruiting Officer today for full details. It may be your first step toward an interesting and important career.

Griffin's 70 Wins Medal in M. A. Amateur

Billy Griffin of Manor Country Club toured the Columbia Club course in 34-36—70 yesterday to take medalist honors in the Middle Atlantic Golf Association amateur tournament. Griffin's even par round was one stroke better than Spencer Overton's 36-35—71.

Concurrently, Chevy Chase won the four-ball championship in a playoff with Columbia. Both teams finished with 303s but Ralph Bogart, Bobby Brownell, Jack Barr, and Beverly Mason won in the playoff from Karl Corby, Buddy Bowie, William Curtis, and George Miller.

First and second round matches in the amateur championship will be played today in both flights with the semifinals and finals scheduled for tomorrow.

After the withdrawal of the defending champ, Roland MacKenzie from Baltimore Country Club, two former champions were left to lead the Ralph Bogart and Volney Burnett, were favored along with Parker Nolan and Bob Brownell.

American Lou Trot Victor

American Lou, four-year-old bay gelding, owned by L. M. and V. J. Stevens, of Selbyville, Del., proved the champ of last night's harness racing program at Rosecroft raceway before 6000 fans.

The smooth-striding horse, driven by the Veteran Tom Lewis, took both dashes of the Chesapeake Stakes for $1700, winning the fourth, one-mile trot, by a one-length margin, and repeating in the sixth, over the longer distance of a mile and one-sixteenth, by three lengths.

American Lou beat Billy Rosecroft easily in the first dash, and in the second dash out-sped Connie Hal, driven by the Canadian-born Earl Avery.

Pope Faces Kline or O'Donnell

By Herb Heft
Post Reporter

Eastern and McKinley Tech, who've already met three times this season, renew acquaintances again tonight at Griffith Stadium with the Interhigh baseball championship at stake. Starting time is 8:30.

Jack Pope, seven-game winner, who whipped Eastern on a two-hitter last week, is Tech Coach Woody Smitherman's selection as starting pitcher.

Coach Bobby Hart of Eastern is undecided on whether to start Eddie Kline or Jim O'Donnell, both right-handers, who beat Tech in the first two meetings of the teams.

Game Sets Two Precedents

Kline, a sturdy fastballer, lost the 3-1 decision to Pope last week, making only one bad pitch, a three-run home run ball to Frank Beckett. He has a 3-1 record. O'Donnell is undefeated in five games, but lacks Kline's experience.

In two ways, tonight's game is setting precedent.

It's the first Interhigh championship game to be played under the lights, and a record crowd of more than 3500 is expected.

And it marks the first time the schoolboy league has permitted its players to perform in sandlot games and still remain eligible for further series play.

The latter precedent is the outgrowth of an argument over postponement of the title game from last Thursday until tonight, and has fanned the hot rivalry between the two teams.

When postponement was announced, Eastern's players turned in their uniforms, stating they were committed to play sandlot games over last weekend. Assistant Superintendent of Schools Norman J. Nelson then waived the rule which says an Interhigh player cannot play "outside" ball during the schoolboy season.

If Tech can win tonight's game, it means its first championship in 16 years. Tech's Smitherman coached Eastern's last titular team back in 1945.

Hoyas Whip Ft. Meade, 10-7

Georgetown University defeated Fort Meade, 10-7, yesterday on the Hoya field. It was Georgetown's eighteenth victory in 29 games. Ray Corley and Al Naples led the Hoya hitting attack, each getting two for four. Naples hit a homer in the second with no one on.

Georgetown will meet Fort Meade again tomorrow at Fort Meade and on the eleventh and twelfth will play Quantico at Quantico to wind up the Hoyas' baseball season.

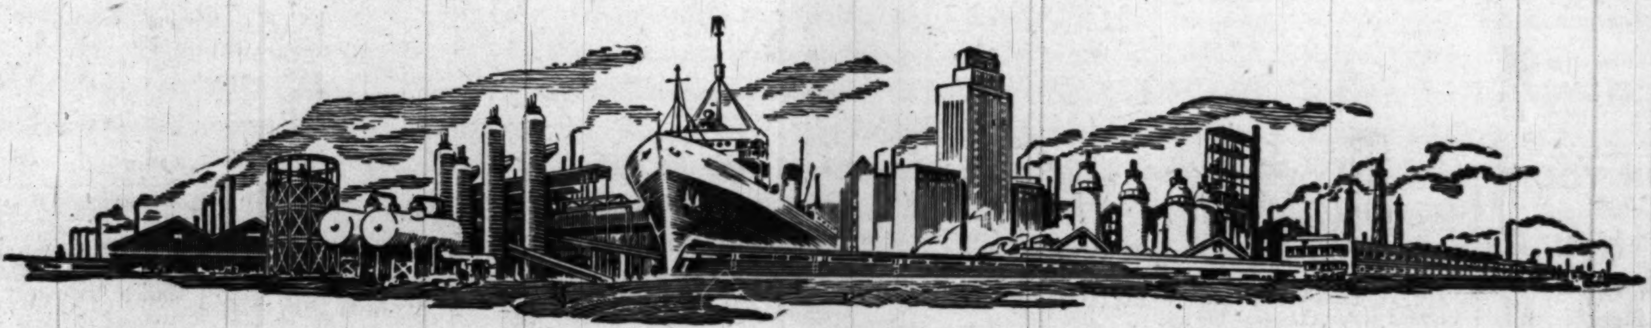
Here's one sure way to destroy America ...But Quick!



THERE'S a lot going on in this country today that you don't read about in the papers.

It has nothing to do with the threat of war—the atomic bomb—or the fact that the big bad wolf inflation, is now just about a dead duck.

It has to do with this steady, insidious chipping away at what we know as Freedom.

And we'll gamble that if the people really knew the whole truth, really knew how carefully the plans have been made—there'd be hell to pay from Canada to the Gulf—and all the way across.

We're talking about just one thing—just about the biggest single asset we have in this nation.

It comes under the heading of Freedom—and only you, in the end, will decide how much you want to give up for the substitutes that have brought plunder and wreckage to the countries we seem at times to be following.

This thing is not easy to define. But let's call it the Hope of Reward. It is present on every farm, in every store, every factory, every office building in this great nation. It's the mainspring of every man at every lathe, every drill press, every production line—here—wherever free men work and live.

It's born in every boy who sets up a lemonade stand on Main Street, U.S.A.

It was the driving force that built the great Ford business from nothing but a poor mechanic's dream.

It rides with every tractor, every mower, every reaper on the nation's farms.

It is back of every good and great thing this nation and its people enjoy. It is the motive power, the life-blood—the backbone this country cannot and will not get along without.

Whether our critics here and abroad like it or not—it's a blood-brother of profit. For profit is the reward. And progress, U.S.A. style—is the goal of profit. All the fancy economic theories ever dreamed up cannot alter that one simple fact.

We are what we are, and where we are because men have been free here to work where they pleased, risk savings, invest hard earned dollars, plow earnings back, grow, expand, progress—and never stop.

Who then is to criticize? Who is to erect barriers against this hope of free men? Who is to control and regulate the profits of business—the profits, through which the growing, expanding needs of this country must be met.

Think it over seriously. Think it over in terms of your own Freedom—your own Hope of Reward. And remember—as long as that Hope of Reward remains unlimited—unfettered, this country will remain truly free. Destroy it—and you destroy America—quick!

* * * *

6 More Agencies Are Unable to Meet Their Payrolls Today

Half a dozen additional Federal agencies today won't be able to meet their payrolls. If the second deficiency bill is delayed for another two weeks, more than 125 different agencies and activities will be broke and their employes will have payless paydays.

Treasury's Customs Service is the one big agency that can't meet today's payroll. Employes in its office of administrative service here also won't be paid. Several small Agriculture activities will skip today's payday.

Unless the deficiency bill is approved in the meantime, the Commerce and State Departments will miss paydays for some of their employes next week. Upward of 125,000 Treasury and Agriculture employes won't be paid on June 22, and the Budget Bureau and a large number of independent agencies will miss the June 20 payday. the Postoffice Department is running short on money to pay its half million workers.

Agencies that have already missed paydays because their funds are tied up in the deficiency bill are:

Smithsonian Institution, Bureau of Reemployment Rights, U. S. Customs Court, District administrator of rent control, United States marshals, fees of Federal court witnesses, and the medical and hospital services of Federal prisons.

Congress will be under heavy pressure to agree on the deficiency bill—pressure from their own offices. June salary funds for most legislative employes are tied up tight in the bill. It's expected that Congress will move into action fast when their own employes miss paydays.

VA: Friday will be the last work day for about 8000 employes in the Veterans' Administration. Thirty-day layoff notices for them become effective on that date. Less than 100 to be laid off are in this city.

Only a minor number of the 8000 will get work extensions. VA officials had hoped that the Senate would have restored House budget cuts by this time. Hearings, however, are still being held on the independent offices bill by a Senate subcommittee. It will be another week before the bill can be reported to the full committee. If VA eventually gets all the money it has asked for, a number of the 8000 people will be recalled to their jobs.

SEC: Three persons have support to fill the Democratic vacancy on the Securities and Exchange Commission. They are Don Cook and Francis Green, former SEC officials, and Clarence Adams, a member of Connecticuts' Securities Commission.

SEC faces the layoff of 60 employes—most of them here—unless the Senate restores House cuts in its budget. It won't get out tentative layoff notices to its employes.

MARITIME will furlough about 200 of its employes this weekend. The employes were given tentative 30-day layoff notices on the basis of House slashes in its budget. The agency has appealed to the Senate to restore its funds, which are also tied up in the independent offices appropriation bill.

ARMY: The President's appointment yesterday of Gordon Gray to be Army Secretary was extremely popular with the civilian staff. Gray is widely regarded as one of the ablest men in the military agencies.

RETIREMENT: The bill to allow former Federal workers with less than 20 years of service to withdraw their money from the Civil Service retirement system, with interest, has been sent to the President for his signature to make it law. The President is sure to sign it, since present employes who leave Government with less than 20 years of service may draw out their retirement money. In all such cases, however, they must forego pensions.

NOTES: Senator McCarran (D., Nev.) has a bill to require the Government to pay the premiums of the 600,000 employes who must be bonded . . . Senator Humphrey (D., Minn.) put in a bill to create an accident prevention bureau in the Labor Department . . . Edward H. Davidson and James E. Friend have been nominated by the President to be director and assistant of Interstate Commerce's locomotive division.

Hyattsville Council Asks Exemption In Slot Vote

Joins Greenbelt In Move to Bar Payoffs in Cash Within City Limits

Hyattsville yesterday joined Greenbelt in attempting to keep county-legalized slot machines from operating in its boundaries.

Sent to the Prince Georges County commissioners was a resolution adopted by Hyattsville's city council requesting the city be exempted from the bill legalizing slot machines.

In a county-wide referendum last Thursday, the slot machine bill won, but Hyattsville citizens voted against it, 3 to 2.

Note of this sentiment was taken by the Hyattsville City Council at its meeting Monday night when the resolution was drafted.

But apparently the City Council felt its request had little chance of success, for it also voted to impose an extra 20 per cent tax on beer and slot machines in the city.

The slot machine bill permits incorporated communities to impose their own tax up to 20 per cent of the county tax on slot machines.

Councilman Fred Coxen told his colleagues he had figured the city would collect, at the most, $800 from the 20 per cent tax on slot machines, while Hyattsville citizens would lose about $250,000 to the slot machines during the year. The average merchant will suffer because of this, he said.

Amendment to Be Asked

The City Council directed its attorney, Nicholas Orem, to prepare necessary documents to be submitted at the next session of the State Legislature next February to have the law amended to permit local option in incorporated communities.

Last Friday, officials of Greenbelt said they felt the cash-payoff slot machines could be barred in that community under Greenbelt's "home-rule" charter provisions empowering the City Council to set up regulations governing "the safety and moral welfare" of the city.

Both Mayor Thomas J. Canning and City Manager Charles T. McDonald predicted some action would be taken by the City Council when it meets next Wednesday.

First of Trials On Gambling Opens Today

The first of 36 persons indicted by the special District gambling grand jury last April faces trial today.

He is Henry E. Fish, jr., about 55, of 1007 K st. nw., a waiter at Hammel's Restaurant, who is charged with setting up a gaming table for the purpose of betting on horse races.

Fish was arrested March 25, when Government agents raided the restaurant at 416 10th st. nw. At the same time coowner Harry S. Kopel, and another waiter, Walter C. "Danny" Plummer, also were arrested.

District Court Assignment Commissioner Richard Collins set June 27 as the date for the trial of Plummer and Kopel on gambling charges.

Atillio Acalotti and Umberto "Chi-Chi" D'Ambrosio, also indicted by the grand jury, will be tried June 20, Collins said, on charges of lottery law violation.

Acalotti is also charged with threatening a Government witness, his former girl friend, Bernice Franklin.

Trial of 29 remaining indicted gamblers is being delayed pending pretrial litigation. Two indicted gamblers have died since the indictments were returned, Gamer S. Barbour, owner of Barber's Newsstand at 10th st. and Pennsylvania ave. nw., and Walter "Sonny" Mason, who shot himself in his home at 760 Newton pl. nw.

Ideal Father, 75, Is Patient, Kind And Generous

Patience, vigor and generosity are just three of the virtues which caused a Southeast woman to enter her 75-year-old father in The Washington Post's Ideal Father Contest yesterday.

According to Mrs. Lillian R. Levin, 3986 Pennsylvania ave. se., "There just isn't another as kind, as patient or as handsome as my Dad," Samuel Rotbart, 1035 7th st. nw.

"He would stomp through the deepest snow on the coldest day just to buy the freshest eggs and choicest chickens for his brood. We weren't rich either," she writes.

Nominating letters are pouring in to the Ideal Father Editor, Washington Post, Washington 4, D. C. Entries must be received at The Washington Post by the close of business June 16.

Anyone can nominate his Ideal Father. The winner will be interviewed on Father's Day, June 19, over Station WTOP. He and his family will be dined at the Statler Hotel with a show afterward.

Arlington Children Get First Look at Real Live Calves

The Washington Post

COUNTRY LIFE IN ARLINGTON—Children from a private kindergarten in Arlington, Va., are fascinated by "Effie," the calf, in the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miller, of 1130 S. 16th st. The Millers brought Effie and another calf down from their Frederick County, Md. farm to show to the children after learning that they had seen them only in cowboy movies

Zoning Division Sends Juvenile Kine Back to Country

A brace of Arlington kindergarten children had their first look at a couple of real-life calves yesterday—and vice versa.

The calves, from the Frederick County (Md.) farm of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miller, arrived at the family's Arlington back yard, 1130 S. 16th st., last weekend.

And yesterday, 20 youngsters from a nearby private kindergarten stroked the soft, clean coats of "Bambi," a 9-day-old Jersey calf, and "Effie," a 5-day-old Holstein.

Four-year-old Jan, the Miller's youngest, recently told his kindergarten buddies his family had "two cows." Children said they'd only seen the creatures in cowboy pictures. So Bambi and Effie were trucked in for demonstration purposes.

The kids loved it, and the calves didn't seem to mind.

Only villain in the piece was Arlington County. A zoning division man came around and warned that the presence of the livestock violated a county ordinance.

So last night, back went Effie and Bambi as they came—by truck. And the kids still haven't stopped talking about it.

L. N. Spangler Is Elected by Citizen Unit

Louis N. Spangler was elected president of the Metropolis View Citizens Association last night at the group's final meeting of the season at Crosby Noyes School.

He succeeds Mrs. Franklin G. Sartwell, who declined a nomination to succeed herself after six years in office. Jack Riley was elected vice president. Saviour Sidotte was reelected treasurer.

The association indorsed James H. Flanagan for reappointment to the Public Utilities Commission, heard a report from Mrs. Sartwell on the new sales tax law, renewed its demand that play areas be under the Recreation Board, and recommended that the man selected as the new commandant of the District National Guard be a local man.

The McKinley High School Alumni Glee Club sang.

Columbia Heights

Mrs. Ernest W. Howard of 1521 Monroe st. nw., was reelected president of the Columbia Heights Citizens Association for the fifth consecutive term at the group's final summer meeting last night at the Christian Church Hall, 1435 Park rd. nw.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, R. R. Stratton; second vice president, Joseph Lapiana, jr.; secretary, Mrs. Lafar Lipscomb; assistant secretary, Mrs. George Ellis, and treasurer, A. N. Schroeder.

Mrs. Howard and George H. Brown were elected delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations.

Before the elections the group indorsed the re-appointment of James H. Flanagan as chairman of the Public Utilities Commission.

MacArthur Blvd.

The question, "Do you want a liquor store on MacArthur blvd.?" was discussed and voted on last night at a meeting of the MacArthur blvd. Citizens Association.

The vote was against the liquor store, 70 to 7.

New officers were installed at the meeting: John H. Connaughton, president of the Federation of Citizens Association, presided at the installation ceremony and later spoke.

Assistant Cashier Is Accused Of Bank Theft by Fake Loans

John N. Birckhead, 43, 7808 Stratford rd., Bethesda, Md., was ordered held under $1500 bond yesterday on two charges of embezzling $1050 from the National Capital Bank, 316 Pennsylvania ave. se.

A bank employe since 1930 and the father of one child, Birckhead told U. S. Commissioner Cyril S. Lawrence he had signed statements admitting the embezzlement. He was held for action of the grand jury.

According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which arrested him, Birckhead embezzled a total of $3500 in more than 15 specific acts. He is charged with embezzling $800 on September 30, 1947, and $250 on December 24, 1948.

The FBI said Birckhead was released as assistant cashier by the bank on March 28, because he had authorized loans to too many bad risks. He authorized small loans to fictitious persons, the FBI said, and pocketed the money.

Birckhead returned to Washington voluntarily from Atlantic City and was arrested.

650 Attend District Bar Annual Outing

Approximately 650 lawyers and judges yesterday attended the annual outing of the District Bar Association at the Prince Georges Golf and Country Club.

A full afternoon and evening of events included golf, tennis, swimming and horseshoe pitching.

In the golf tourney, the low gross score was made by Ellis Edlowitz and John McClure, who tied for the prize cup. The judges' putting contest was won by Judge Walter P. Casey of the Municipal Court.

The Juniors of the Bar Association defeated the Seniors in a softball contest by a score of 12 to 10. The winning team was managed by Thomas B. Heffelfinger. Judge T. Alan Goldsborough of the District Court was one of the umpires.

James M. McInerny of the Justice Department won the horseshoe contest.

Chief Judge Bolon B. Turner of the United States Tax Court scored low gross to receive the judges' special award in golf.

Poll Tax Late

2 Arlington Candidates Miss Boat

Virginia's poll tax yesterday apparently had cut short the aspirations for public office—this year—of an Arlington husband and wife.

Arthur F. Souther, 1220 N. Quinn st., Arlington, a law student, was seeking the county's Democratic primary nomination for the Virginia House of Delegates.

Mrs. Souther, who heads the Selective Service Records Branch of the Army Surgeon General's office, was seeking nomination for the Arlington County Board from a "town meeting" of political independents, to be held June 15.

They paid their poll taxes June 2, the records showed. May 7 was the deadline for both candidates for the fall elections, county officials said.

Car-School Bus Crash Hurts 2; 40 Uninjured

Passengers in Auto Are Girl Students Of Bladensburg High

Two high school girls were injured yesterday when the auto in which they were passengers was in collision with a school bus at 42d st. and Bunker Hill rd., Mount Rainier, Md.

The school bus was carrying 40 children to the Cottage City Elementary School, but none of them was hurt.

Lacerations and contusions were suffered by Norma Greenfield, 15, of 3406 Newton st., and Sally McGrand, 17, of 3402 Newton st., both of Mount Rainier and both students at Bladensburg High School. They were treated at Prince Georges General Hospital.

They were riding in a car driven by Richard F. Shefflet, 23, of Landover. Police said the school bus was operated by John E. Roney, 38, of Largo.

A technical charge of reckless driving by colliding was entered against both drivers. A hearing in Hyattsville Police Court was set for June 20.

Six persons were taken to Gallinger Hospital early yesterday after an accident in the 5100 block of Sheriff rd. ne.

Admitted were John B. Savage, 26, the driver, of 458 K st. nw., who suffered a possible skull fracture; Thomas Evans, 42, of same address, with a fractured right arm, and Hilery Henderson, 27, of 1518 Olive st. ne., also with a fractured right arm.

Released after treatment were Annie Richard, 32, and Millie Evans, both of the K st. address, and John Shaw, 26, of 421 L st. nw. All suffered lacerations and abrasions.

Police said Savage was driving his car, containing five passengers, west on Sheriff rd. when he sideswiped a parked truck, bounced off and struck the rear of a parked auto. Savage was charged with failing to give full time and attention.

Central Suffrage Conference Presents Scroll to Kefauver

The District Central Suffrage Conference, bubbling with enthusiasm at Senate passage of the home rule bill, last night elected Culver B. Chamberlain, an attorney, as president and presented Senator Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) with a citation.

The presentation was made to Kefauver at an election-meeting in the District Building in behalf of his efforts in securing passage of the measure in the Senate. It now is awaiting House District Committee action.

Chamberlain, who formerly served with the State Department and who has lived in the District since 1920, defeated the incumbent, Wilber S. Finch, by a one-vote margin, 31-30.

The latter was elected first vice president without opposition.

Reelected were Miss Sylvia Altman, second vice president; Mrs. Milton Dunn, third vice president; Woolsey W. Hall, fourth vice president; and Jesse B. Manbeck, secretary.

Austin Fickling was elected treasurer and Dr. George W. Hodgkins, historian.

Kefauver, in accepting the citation, predicted the home rule measure will be passed in the House "and signed by the President before this session of Congress is adjourned" if "you all work as hard in helping the Representatives and urging them to action as you did in the Senate."

In taking the chair from Finch, Chamberlain told the group that "the art of self-government has to be learned . . ." He said "democracy perishes by neglect. We now have an opportunity to achieve our birthright. Let us not leave a stone unturned . . . let us dragoon, if necessary, members of the House . . . to give us suffrage in the District."

Melvin D. Hildreth, Democratic national committeeman from the District, also spoke briefly.

The group unanimously adopted a resolution proposed by Mrs. Frances Adams to put pressure on Representative John L. McMillan (D., S. C.), chairman of the House District Committee, urging action on the suffrage measure.

A committee of three was appointed to explore the possibilities of holding a torchlight parade to spur the measure. Those on the committee are Daniel Crystal, Bernard Chapman and Mrs. Charlotte Cillers.

Announcement was made of a luncheon meeting slated for Friday at 12:15 p. m. in the American Veterans Committee clubhouse, 1751 New Hampshire ave. nw.

The group voted also to send a letter of thanks to The Washington Post for providing the scroll presented to Kefauver.

Symphony's Fund Drive Hits Goal

The National Symphony Orchestra's Sustaining Fund Campaign to raise $190,000—the highest goal in its 19 years—has been achieved, it was announced last night.

This was well ahead of last year's schedule when the 1948 goal of $165,000 was not reached until October. Contributions from about 2000 additional individuals and business firms this year made it possible.

Chairman of the campaign was Emerson Meyers and vice chairmen were Mrs. Hans A. Klagsbrunn and Mrs. Theodore Dominick.

Raymond E. Cox, newly elected president of the National Symphony Association, said that Frank R. Jelleff's underwriting of the Watergate concerts made attainment of the goal possible. He paid tribute also to the campaign's volunteer workers.

"The National Symphony Association and the city," he said, "cannot be too grateful to the volunteer workers for this annual effort, and to the more than 9000 who contributed."

Report Assails Montgomery Negro Schools

A report on conditions in 20 Montgomery County public schools for Negroes was issued yesterday by the Negro School Committee of the Montgomery County Community Chest and the Council.

The report said inadequate and insanitary health conditions existed at many schools and added that most were remediable without large expenditures of money.

The Montgomery County Board of Education had announced some time ago that a long-range Negro school building plan was under way, aimed at erecting five consolidated Negro elementary schools in the county.

Council to Study Report

A contract already has been awarded for $150,528 for a ten-room elementary school at Emory Grove, near Gaithersburg. Completion is expected by early next year.

The 20-member committee was appointed by the Chest and Council to make periodic checks on the condition of Negro schools in the county.

The report was handed the Montgomery County Council during yesterday's regular council session at Rockville. The council took the report under advisement.

It cited leaky toilet facilities and insanitary water for drinking and washing.

Playgrounds at some of the schools are not properly drained, the report added, and at one school the playground also is used as a public driveway and a dump.

It objected also to infrequent inspections at the schools by members of the Board of Education and superintendent of school plants.

"It Is Not Surprising"

Inspections have averaged 1½ during the past two years, the report stated, and added, that under these conditions, "it is not surprising that adequate planning is hampered and the plant is neglected."

The county council, in other business, adopted a resolution ending the dual city and county police force set up in Takoma Park.

Beginning August 16, four county policemen and three desk clerks will be withdrawn and Takoma will receive about $15,600 the first year from the county in lieu of county police protection, according to the resolution.

Jewish Center Concert

The first of a series of programs entitled "Music Under the Stars" and sponsored by the Record Rendezvous Club of the Jewish Community Center, will take place tonight at 8:30 p. m. on the Center's starlight roof. The program will feature an all-Wagner concert.

Bid to Delay New Senate Office Plans Put Aside

Chavez Announces Razing of Homes On Building's Site Will Begin Soon

By Thomas Winship
Post Reporter

The Government soon will start razing 56 street and alley dwellings directly east of the Senate Office Building, Senator Chavez (D., N. Mex.) said last night.

The statement by the chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee, in effect, pigeonholes the resolution of Senator Ellender (D., La.) to delay tearing down the houses to make room for the contemplated new Senate Office Building.

But Senator Ellender, who believes economy should begin at home, made some headway in his one-man fight against the new Senate quarters at a spirited hearing on his resolution before Chavez's committee yesterday.

Architect Instructed

The committee instructed Capitol Architect David Lynn to return next week with "a far more modest" building proposal than the 20-million-dollar plans before the committee.

A seven-story, marble structure for committee chairmen only, and including cafeterias, a swimming pool, massage room and caucus rooms feature the present blueprint.

A bipartisan group in the committee said it would be much more interested in a new simple building providing more room for individual senators or perhaps "just the freshman crowd."

The House Appropriations Committee is expected to report out the legislative supply bill today, minus a requested 10 million dollar item to start construction.

On the Senate side, Senator Ellender holds chairmanship of the Appropriations Subcommittee which will handle the same money bill.

Contract to Be Awarded

Nevertheless, site clearance will go ahead promptly, Chavez said. He said the Government already has title to the entire block-long property, that 24 of all 33 standing street dwellings are vacated and two of the 23 alley units (Schott's Alley) are unoccupied.

He said the National Capital Housing Authority has promised to find accommodations for the remaining 21 low-income families.

Lynn said the razing job probably will be awarded soon to the lowest bidder—the Ace Wrecking and Building Material Co., a local firm. The bid would require the Government to pay $8,555.55 to clear the site.

Building up to a fighting economy-appealing climax, Ellender told his colleagues:

"Not on Your Life"

"We have here a beautiful chance to set the economy example to the Nation."

Chairman Chavez, with a smile, interjected: "We might even give you one of these new office suites."

"Not on your life," snapped Ellender, "in an effort to save money I am even thinking of dropping my administrative assistant."

The Government has spent close to two million dollars for the site and preliminary architect's plans.

Three Alexandria Women Convicted In Numbers Case

Three Alexandria women were convicted yesterday in Alexandria Police Court of operating, or placing a bet on, a numbers game.

Asillee Cleveland, 44, 314 N. Henry st., and Mrs. Janie M. Robbins, 48, 806½ Montgomery st., were both convicted of operating games at their homes. Each was fined $300 and given a jail sentence—60 days for Miss Cleveland and 90 for Mrs. Robbins. Both pleaded innocent and noted appeals.

Lillian H. Bonds, 19, 810 Montgomery st., pleaded guilty to the charge of placing a bet at Mrs. Robbins' house. She was fined $25.

Detective in Taxi Wins Auto Chase

Charles Simpson Nelson, 22, has an eye for fine cars, police will tell you, but he can't drive them too well.

At any rate, his driving ability was in question after he lost a brief auto dash to Detective Sergt. John Apostolides at about noon yesterday.

He was charged with larceny after trust and false pretenses. The first charge, police said, is the result of an adventure of last February 15 when Nelson sold a friend's car for $1300 and fled to California with the money.

California authorities were about to nab Nelson, police here said, when he jumped in his car and headed back for Washington.

Apostolides, who is attached to the check and fraud squad, said Nelson answered a classified ad Monday and bought a Cadillac convertible from Bernard T. Johnson, of 3112 26th st. ne. He gave Johnson a check for $2900, the detective said.

Nelson, who police said has been living at 406 N. Kensington st., Arlington, Va., then drove the convertible to Arlington and agreed to sell it to a used-car dealer for $2000, police said.

However, it was necessary for Nelson to accompany the dealer to Municipal Building here yesterday to make the transfer of title, according to police.

The dealer told police he finally became suspicious because Nelson was willing to sell the car at such a low price. The dealer called Johnson, Johnson called his bank, the bank said the check was "rubber."

Johnson called police and then left for the Municipal Building. Nelson saw Johnson as he drove up. At about the same moment, Apostolides spotted Nelson, whom he recognized as a fugitive.

Nelson raced to the Cadillac, climbed in and drove off. Apostolides commandeered a passing cab and finally forced Nelson's car to the curb at 6th and E sts. nw.

Ex-GI Wins Court Award For Travel

The Army must pay $1685 transportation expenses incurred by a former Rhodes scholar and his wife in returning to England after his discharge from the service, the United States Court of Claims has ruled.

A judgment was awarded Charles Johnston Hitch, now in California, who lived at 2869 28th st. nw. here for a time during the war.

Hitch, an American, went to Oxford as a Rhodes scholar in 1932, and later took a teaching post there. In 1942 he got leave to work with the American minister in London. This led to a position with the War Production Board here in 1942. He was inducted into the Army a year later.

The opinion of the court, delivered by Judge Evan Howell, stated that the Washington address could only be regarded as a mailing address.

"The nature of his work was such that he was required to maintain his home in England," Judge Howell said.

A brother, Thomas K. Hitch, lives at 3971 Langley Ct. nw.

Man Held for Jury

Andy Bryson, 50, of 2425 K st., nw., who, police say, has admitted killing his neighbor in a fight Monday night, was held for action of the grand jury at a coroner's inquest yesterday.

Police said Bryson shot and killed Charles W. Butler, 48, of 2423 K st., nw., when Butler tried to interfere in a four-day argument Bryson was having with his wife.

Citizenship Given to 61 In D. C. Court

An arctic explorer declared yesterday that one is more apt to get lost in Washington than in the frozen wastes of the polar regions.

The statement was made to reporters by Charles A. K. Innes-Taylor, 49, of 6431 Fairfax rd., Chevy Chase, Md., with the Pentagon in mind.

Innes-Taylor appeared in District Court where he was among 61 persons to be made American citizens in a naturalization ceremony. the swearing-in ocurred before Judge Matthew F. McGuire. A welcoming address was made by Godfrey L. Munter of the District Bar Association.

Served With United States Forces

The explorer said that he is of British extraction and for five years was on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. He served in the United States Air Forces during the war, receiving his discharge as a lieutenant colonel.

He did rescue, search and weather work as an officer in Greenland and Alaska. Since the war he has done several "off-the-record" explorations for the Government, he declared.

Also naturalized was 11-year-old Loula Anthon of 2220 18th st. nw., who said that she remembers hiding from German and Italian soldiers in her native Greece. Her father, Louis, fled to the United States in 1941 as Hitler's vanguard arrived in Greece. He joined the American Army in 1944 and was naturalized the following year. His wife and Loula joined him here in 1946.

join in announcing the National Committee for Free Europe, Inc.

WE WILL SEEK TO FURTHER the cause of freedom everywhere—

By supporting those democratic leaders who have escaped to the United States from Communist oppression in Eastern Europe...

By helping these leaders in their stand against Communism ... anticipating the day when the Iron Curtain will weaken and fall, and Eastern Europe will be ripe for democratic remaking.

We will assist these leaders:

☛ to maintain themselves in useful occupations during their enforced stay in the United States;

☛ to come to know the people of the United States and to understand their spirit and aims;

☛ to engage in efforts by radio, press and other means to keep alive in their fellow citizens in Europe the ideals of individual and national freedom;

☛ to establish effective means of cooperation with like-minded European leaders in the United States, and to coordinate their plans with those of similar leaders abroad.

We will encourage these leaders to maintain in this country National Committees which will stand as symbols of democratic hope to their peoples—the peoples of Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia to whom at Yalta in 1945 we promised free elections and the fundamental freedoms.

Arms and economic aid are indispensable but by themselves are not enough. Only in the field of ideas and spiritual values can victory be lasting.

A new operation begins in the American defense and counter-attack against the Communist assault. Money is needed to finance the fight.

We call on all Americans to join us by sending an urgently needed contribution. As the Communists like to remind us: "It is later than you think."

Fairfax Contracts For Four Schools

The Fairfax County school board awarded contracts totaling $148,651 yesterday for construction of four emergency four-room school houses to help meet a severe classroom shortage.

The low bidding firm, Cannon & Lewis of Alexandria, promised to complete construction in 60 working days. School officials said they hoped the schools could be equipped and ready to use when school opens in the fall.

The schools will be at Tysons Corner, Weyenoke, Hollin Hall and Penn Daw.

Schoolboard Chairman Fred W. Robinson said the unfinished cinderblock buildings will house about 500 students, half the average postwar annual increase in enrollment. Plans have been drawn so the buildings can be enlarged to 12- or 16-room schools when funds are available. Nearly all school construction has stopped in the county since the State Literary Fund, chief source of construction funds, dried up 18 months ago.

School officials estimated that costs not included in yesterday's contracts — such as classroom equipment, digging of wells and water and sewer connections—will bring total costs close to the $45,000 a school estimated by the board several months ago.

Original plans called for building six of these small units in the most crowded sections, but the board's construction fund contains only $220,000. A 10-cent tax rate increase for school construction was turned down by the county supervisors in April.

In other actions the board:

1. Voted to withdraw its support from the Regional Technical School at Manassas. Since the close of the war the school has been supported by State funds and Federal payments for veteran students. With the GI students thinning out, part of the burden will now fall on the counties. Fairfax, which sends 23 out of a total of 211 students at the school, agreed it will pay tuition on an individual basis, if necessary, rather than contribute the $5000 requested.

3. Authorized construction of a new classroom at the two-room Cub Run (Negro) School, which has about 100 students.

4. Agreed, by taking no action, to keep in effect the present policy of charging tuition to nonresident students attending county schools.

Liquor Law Changed

An amendment to the District's liquor laws was adopted by the Commissioners yesterday to permit officers of wholesale liquor firms to apply for salesmen's licenses. Previously, although the firms held wholesale licenses, officers could not obtain salesmen's permits until they completed a one-year residence.

Bill Offered On Premarital VD Tests Here

Representative Auchincloss (R., N. J.) yesterday introduced a bill to require premarital venereal disease tests in the District.

Similar legislation was proposed in the Seventy-seventh Congress, House District Committee aides recalled, but was set aside after strong objections by a spokesman for the Catholic Church against the idea of prohibiting a marriage by civil law.

Instead of outright prohibition on a marriage where either member of the couple was found to have a disease, he suggested that it would be practicable to require that the test results for each person be made known to the other.

The bill requires that before a marriage license is issued, applicants furnish a physician's certificate that they are free of syphilis or gonorrhea, or not infected to a stage where either would endanger the other.

The bill would set a 30-day time limit on the validity of marriage licenses issued under it. The period could be extended to 90 days, and the tests could be waived, by court order, if these actions would not injure the health of the individuals or the public.

The bill was referred to the House District Committee.

Graduates Told U. S. Fails To Define Its Foreign Policy

The confusion in international affairs is in large measure the result of United States failure to define its objectives, Dr. Vera Micheles Dean declared yesterday.

Dr. Dean, director of research for the Foreign Policy Association, said "lack of certainty about our policy disheartens our potential friends and gives aid and comfort to potential enemies."

Delivering the commencement address to 65 graduates of Mount Vernon Junior College, Dr. Dean said, "our policy should be determined not by mere reaction to what Russia does or fails to do, as is often the case, but by our own reasoned concept of this Nation's interests."

Dr. Dean spoke from the pulpit of Metropolitan Methodist Church, Nebraska and New Mexico aves. nw.

Commencement exercises also were held yesterday for 53 students of the National School for Girls. The Right Rev. Angus Dun, Episcopal Bishop of Washington, conferred diplomas in the Great Choir of Washington Cathedral. Dr. Charles W. Lowry, rector of All Saints Parish, Chevy Chase, was the speaker.

Antarctic Expedition Being Planned by U. S.

Secret preparations for another major expedition to the Antarctic have been under way for months by the Navy and other Government organizations interested in the project, it was learned yesterday. Indications are that it will be an even more ambitious undertaking than Operation Highjump, the Navy's 1946-1947 "Antarctic development project" in which 4000 officers, enlisted men, scientists and observers participated.

B-36 Inquiry Delays Gen. Knerr Retirement

NYHT News Service

Retirement of the Air Force's inspector general, Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Knerr, it was learned yesterday, has been postponed until the House Armed Services Committee completes its projected investigation of the Consolidated Vultee B-36 "Intercontinental" bomber.

General Knerr, a veteran of the Navy, Army and Air Force, originally was scheduled to give up his post last Friday, after 45 years' service.

$14,581,566 Budgeted by Maryland U.

Baltimore, June 7 (AP).—The University of Maryland's Board of Regents made public today a proposed working budget calling for expenditures of $14,581,566 during the 12 months starting July 1.

The budget is subject to the approval of the State Board of Public Works.

The 1949 General Assembly Budget Act appropriated $13,203,140 to the university. The budget also included an estimate of $560,511 to be received from Federal funds—for an over-all total of $13,763,651 available to the university.

Therefore, the $14,581,566 the institution now proposes to spend is $817,915 more than the Legislature contemplated.

Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, chairman of the Board of Regents budget committee, released a four-page statement including highlights of the proposed budget. She said no actual copy of the budget would be released because the Board of Public Works and Governor Lane might make changes later.

The report listed an increase of $76,362.90 in the estimated income from special funds, over the amount presented to the Legislature as an estimate.

School Pupils In Alexandria Above Norm

Alexandria's Negro students are below the national average, which includes both whites and Negroes, but substantially above the State norm for Negroes.

These averages, based on tests given by the Virginia State Board of Education in the fourth, seventh and eleventh grades, were reported last night to the Alexandria School Board.

The tests, it was pointed out, were given two years ago.

Fourth grade whites were exactly on the national norm, one month ahead of Virginia State norm for white students; fourth grade Negroes were one month below the national norm, three months above the Virginia norm for Negro students.

Seventh grade white students were six months above the national norm, eight months above the Virginia average; and seventh grade Negro students, two months below the national norm and eight months above the norm for Virginia Negro students.

Mindful of Dictator Grandmother and Strong Willed Mother, Girl Who Wants Forceful Mate Asks Why Her Female Kin Become Family Tyrants

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: At what turning-point does the adult mature woman who can stand on her own feet become the dominant, too capable female who is constantly in conflict with her husband?

I come from a line of domineering females. My grandmother, although well over 90, will dictate your every move if you will allow her. And my mother, although not quite so dictatorial, is definitely a strong-minded woman.

I have a desire to marry a man of strong character whom I can admire; yet lately I find myself attracting the dependent type of male, with whom many women of forceful personality seem to mate. So how can I improve the quality of womanhood in our family, beginning with myself?

I have heard that a girl who remains home with her parents makes the best wife; but also I have heard that to remain dependent much beyond one's teens is an undesirable sign of immaturity. Which to believe? E. P.

Infantile Husbands Warp Wives' Spirit

DEAR E. P.: If there is a turning point at which the adult mature woman who can stand on her own feet becomes the dominant, too capable female who is hostile to her mate, it probably is reached when she (1) realizes his character is infantile and (2) loses respect for him.

After that she may take care of him, more or less, but if so, she will do it impatiently, while inwardly battling against a rising tide of self-commiserating resentment at having to be "masculine-adult" to pinch-hit for his defects, when her instincts cry for opportunity to be "all feminine."

At least this is apt to be true of women whose forebears have been natives of the North American continent for several generations. Possibly women in the European, Latin and Asiatic cultures are unconsciously conditioned and expediently resigned to treat all males as incorrigible infants and "pearls of great price" even so;—and consequently never ferment actively with spiritual rejection of the proposition of being mother-mistress-slave in marriage, instead of co-adult in relation to an adult spouse.

Mature Man Fosters Wife's 'Femininity'

TO BECOME fully, endearingly, sincerely feminine—not merely cannily softspoken and fawning, as some women are who fall back on cynical chicanery in dealing with men,—a woman most needs enlightened "relationship-assistance" from a real man, i. e., a man who is himself mature in mind, spirit and character-quality; or who is consciously, intelligently striving to reach that goal, at any rate.

In response to your question—"How to improve the quality of womanhood in our family, beginning with self?"—may I suggest: Don't try to make over your female kin, because that would be trying to impose your will on them, the very trait you think "too dominant" in your mother and grandmother. Rather, attend to your improvement, by building habits of being unobtrusively helpful, agreeable and mentally open to others' ways of doing—without being putty in their hands.

Lastly, it's impossible to cogently discuss so rambling a question as whether an apronstring daughter or a self supporting one makes the better wife—because marriage is a new beginning, an intimate relationship like no other; and as said, much depends on whether the spouse will be a help or hindrance to feminine growth. M. H.

The Family Scrapbook

By Dr. Ernest G. Osborne

Spring and summer months are travel months. If the family has a car, there are sure to be week-end trips. If not, the train, the bus, and even the plane are waiting to be used for family excursions. Americans are becoming more and more of a traveling people.

Many a family has found that keeping records of its trips brings added fun and satisfaction. Road maps—free for the asking—can be used to bring back memories of all the things one has seen on trips. A heavy red or black pencil traces the route. Small pictures of interesting things or events can be placed on the appropriate spot. Sometimes children will draw these and paste them on the map. Sometimes pictures can be clipped from magazines to serve the purpose. Perhaps Junior's box camera will supply the illustration.

Postcards also will serve to bring back happy memories. And if there is a writer in the family, he or she can be appointed as official recorder, keeper of the records, or what have you. In our family we still look at the outline map we used on a trailer trip taken years ago. Mounted on a piece of plyboard, we put in small red thumbtacks to show were we had stopped at the end of each day's travel.

There are all sorts of ways of keeping records. Each family will want to work out its own method. The one thing in common is the fun that comes both from keeping the record and from poring over it later to freshen memories of good times together.

U. S. Girls All Alike Says British Editor

London, June 7 (U.P.).—Anne Edwards, the British fashion editor who thinks American girls have bad skins and dress alike, today described American career women as exquisitely dressed creatures who converse in copywriters cliches.

Miss Edwards, fashion writer for the Daily Express, said the career woman's office was done up like a boudoir.

Miss Edwards recently returned from a brief trip to New York. Last week she analyzed the "American look" as "completely stereotyped," and American girls are entirely lacking in individuality. She said they had bad skins but desired nothing more than to have an English complexion.

Today, in a "pocket portrait" of the American career woman, the reporter said, "she can accept your phone call charmingly. Then enthusiastically she makes a lunch date for the week after next.

"She receives you in her office,' standing so that the light from rose-shaded desk lamps throws a becoming upward glow.

"Her office looks like a boudoir done up in sprigged wallpaper and polished walnut or pastel walls and white pine, according to the 'personality' ascribed to her in her firm. In any case there are more armchairs than office chairs, more silk lamp shades than telephones.

"At lunch she talks with shattering enthusiasm about her job, stringing one copywriters cliche after another till you get the impression she never reads anything but her own advertisements—and believes every word.

"Occasionally she stops to ask you how 'things are in Europe' and at the end of the thoughtful silence that follows your reply she says, 'Well, I may be sticking my neck out—but I guess sheers are going over big this fall."

Miss Mills Becomes Bride

The wedding of Miss Augustina Benair Mills and Elijah White Titus, jr., took place yesterday in the late afternoon at the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Joseph Hillman Hollister officiated, and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abbot Paige Mills. Mr. Titus is the son of Mrs. Elijah White Titus and the late Dr. Titus.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with long pointed sleeves, fitted bodice and long train. Her French illusion veil fell from a cap of rose point lace, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and white orchids.

Miss Clara Mills, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Chatfield-Taylor of Seattle, Wash., Miss Mimi Griffin, Miss Jeane McBride and Miss Virginia Mills, all of this city.

Grove Smith served as best man. Ushering were Francis Addison 3d, Ashmead Fuller, jr., Terence O'Brien and Randolph Titus, all of Washington.

The bride is a member of the Junior League of Washington. She was graduated from the Potomac School, St. Catherine's School in Richmond, Va., and Vassar College. Mr. Titus was graduated from St. Albans School. He served three years in the Navy and then attended the University of Virginia, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity.

After a southern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Titus will make their home in Washington.

Women's Press Club Holds Elections

Miss Jane Stafford, staff writer of the Science News Service, was elected president of the Women's National Press Club at the annual meeting held yesterday. She succeeds Miss Dorothy Williams of the United Press, Washington Bureau.

Others elected include Miss Ruth Crane of radio station WMAL, first vice president; Mrs. Ruth Montgomery of the New York Daily News, second vice president; Miss Eleni Sakes, fashion editor of the Washington Evening Star, recording secretary; Miss Sarah McClendon of the McClendon News Service, corresponding secretary; Miss Margaret Davis, public relations department of George Washington University, treasurer, and Miss Maxine Davis, special writer, historian.

Only competition in the race was among candidates for the board of governors. Six out of nine were named to serve three, two and one year terms, depending upon the number of ballots received.

Elected to the board at last night's meeting were Mrs. Hope Ridings Miller, of Promenade Magazine, and Mrs. Mary Cottrell, of Cottrell News Bureau, for three-year terms; Miss Josephine Hemphill of the Department of Agriculture and Mrs. Gladys Montgomery of McGraw-Hill Magazines for two-year terms, and Miss Josephine Ripley of the Christian Science Monitor and Mrs. Estelle Welsh of the St. Louis Post Dispatch for one-year terms.

MRS. CORNELIUS VANDERBILT WHITNEY (left) smiles congratulations as she presents music scholarships to Joan Dedmon, 18 (center), and Betty Jean Mason, 17. Both will study voice at Florida Southern College. Miss Mason won the new $1000 Eleanor Searle Whitney Award and to Miss Dedmon went the $500 vocal award. The young recipients were two of 20 contestants receiving awards in music, art yesterday given by the Washington Chapter, National Society of Arts and Letters during the organization's benefit bazaar held at the home of Mrs. Robert Guggenheim

Arts and Letters Society Presents 23 Scholarships

By Genevieve Reynolds

THE Washington Chapter, National Society of Arts and Letters, yesterday presented $10,175 in scholarship awards and short story prizes to 23 talented, Washington area contestants.

Winners were announced and presented in a program at the organization's annual scholarship benefit held at the home of Mrs. Robert Guggenheim.

Opera Star Rosa Ponselle, who came with Mrs. George Mesta, later auditioned several of the young winners. Also she sang informally and played for a couple of the winners to sing, following the dispersal of the some 600 guests who turned out for the gala event.

Scholarship funds were raised by the Washington Chapter and contributed by individuals. Several were renewal of scholarships. Others were new.

Mrs. Samuel Peck of New York, daughter of the late Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney presented the Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney Trust Fund Awards in person. Richard Miller and Dominic Spadro each received $500 to study drama.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney presented two new Eleanoor Searle Whitney voice scholarship awards to Florida Southern College. Joan Dedmon, 18, was recipient of the $500 award and Betty Jean Masoen, 17, received the $1000 award. Scholarship renewals from the ESW awards went to George McWhorter, Mary Jane Abdill, and Lindsey Bergen who will continue to study voice at Florida Southern College.

Other Eleanor Searle Whitney awards went to Marguerite Martinelli and Helen Johnson to study voice at American University.

Among those receiving awards which will renew scholarships at various schools were Bert Ramsey, art, Corcoran Gallery School of Art; Barbara Rogers, voice, Holton Arms Junior College; "Sunny" Sturtevant, piano, Holton Arms School.

Charles Thrash won the new $1000 Bonita Crowe scholarship to study organ at Florida Southern College.

A new dance award went to Christine Mayer to study at the Washington School of Ballet.

George Kafig received a $250 piano scholarship to American University.

Recipient of a newly established award of $900 went to William Wayne Fraser to study materials and design at the Parson School of Design in New York City.

Flora Matioli received a $500 voice scholarship, given jointly by Mrs. John Davis Lodge and Mrs. C. V. Whitney.

Prizes of $100, $50 and $25 went to the three winners in the short story contest sponsored by the society.

First prize winner, Ralph Waldo, received $100. Hugh Jordan Dane took the second prize and William Michael Starrs, third prize.

Local and New York artists donated their works which were sold at the benefit. Mrs. Guggenheim, member of the Washington Chapter, NSAL,arranged the art exhibit.

Jackie Martin Honored on Book Publication

The American Newspaper Women's Club honored one of its own members—Miss Jackie Martin—at a reception yesterday at the clubhouse, 1604 20th st. nw. Occasion was to celebrate the publication of Miss Martin's new book—"Washington—City of Destiny," which she coauthored with Mrs. Alice Hager, who is now press attache at the United States Embassy in Belgium.

Belgium Ambassador Baron Silvercruys and Minority Leader of the House Joe Martin proffered champagne toasts to the honoree and Mrs. Hager who was absent.

Coco Roberts, Mrs. Evie Robert's poodle, put in a good yelp for the success of the book as his owner added her voice to the well wishers.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross, Mrs. Katherine Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Webb, Comdr. and Mrs. Brian Goddard of the British Royal Navy and Mrs. Goddard's sister-in-law, Mrs. Davis Pollock.

Others present included Rear Admiral and Mrs. Leo Colbert, Miss Mary Eben, Miss Roberta Barrows, Miss Louise Hachmeister, William D. Hassett, Maj. Edith A. Aynes of the Army Nurse Corps; Col. and Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, Mrs. George R. Holmes, Mrs. Lorton Sims, Charles D. Freight and Mrs. Rachel Wahl.

Taking turns at the punch bowl and tea table were Mrs. Robert Whitney Imbrie, Mrs. Dwight Webb, Mrs. John Steelman, Miss Etta Mai Russell, Mrs. William Pugh and Maj. Mary Elrod, and Mrs. Irene Caldwell, who gave the champagne for the party.

Mrs. Phillip Martin, received with her daughter Jackie, and Mrs. Lee Walsh, first vice president of the club.

'It's Liquor Or Democracy,' WCTU Is Told

"It is down to either liquor or democracy in this country," Dr. J. Warren Hastings, pastor of the National City Christian Church, yesterday told delegates to the diamond jubilee convention of the District of Columbia Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Speaking at the afternoon session, he declared that a "sober America never will go in for Communism. If liquor keeps coming, democracy keeps going.'

"The same crowd that wants to see liquor succeed is after the public school system,' he continued.

Then he recommended that the delegates read Paul Blancherd's book, "American Freedom and Catholic Power."

Deploring the use of alcohol, Dr. Hastings said that 1 out of 20 drinkers becomes a hard drinker.

He said that the psychology of the Nation must shift from "it's all right" to "it's all wrong" to drink.

Asserting that liquor has a bloody history, Dr. Hastings said, "How I wish we could work up a slogan that would emotionalize this temperance work so that it would go faster," adding, "It seems that no wit's let the liquor come and see the human values go."

Emphasizing his belief in the American people, he pointed out that this country believes in freedom and developing the individual. "We don't believe in mass movements," he concluded and reiterated, "a sober America will never go in for communism."

The progress of the WCTU during the past 75 years was depicted in a pageant last night at the organization's jubilee dinner, held at convention headquarters at the Eastern Presbyterian Church, 6th st. and Maryland ave. ne. Dr. John C. Palmer gave the invocation and a musical program was furnished by the Takoma Trio.

About Making Lamp Shades

Will you give me directions for making lamp shades of material that is silk or nylon and stretched on plain? Tell me about the lining and top, just how it is cut and put on.
N. F. S.

Cut the lining four inches longer than the total circumference of the frame and four inches wider than the height of the frame. First attach the lining to the outside of the bottom wire hoop, since this is usually larger than the top hoop. Attach it by using many pins pinned into the lining, over the wire frame and again into the lining. Place pins not more than a half inch apart so the fabric is fastened evenly.

When pinned, make a seam by hand where the two edges meet and whip the lining to the frame, using matching heavy thread. Now, put the lining in place, stretching the upper edge to the outside over the top wire hoop. If the top hoop is smaller, evenly distribute the extra fullness around the hoop by pulling it up tightly and placing four pins equally spaced around the top. This will divide the fullness in fours and if there is not too much it can be evenly distributed by pinning to the frame, placing the pins every one-half inch or so. If there is too much fullness you may prefer to put the fullness in seams which become wider at the top of the frame. When completely pinned, whip the lining to the top hoop as described above.

The cover for the frame is cut the same size as the frame allowing only two inches extra on all sides rather than the four as suggested for the lining. The easiest way to attach it to the frame is to sew it together and run a small hem in it top and bottom so that the width will be exactly the same as the height of the frame. Place the covering over the frame, sew the bottom hem to the frame with inconspicuous stitches. Run a cord through the top hem so the fabric can be gathered so exactly fit the frame. Fasten and sew the covering to the frame. Or, if you wish, the extra fullness in the covering at the top could be taken into evenly spaced seams on the wrong side of the covering. Decorative fringe or cords could be sewn to the top and bottom edges of the frame to give a finished appearance to the shade.

If I am not mistaken I read in your column a short time ago of a kind of paint which could be used on screens enabling one to see out but could not be seen through from outside. I am not able to find it. Could you give name or where it might be found?
W. R. L.

We mentioned that if a light paint such as an aluminum paint was applied to screens it would reduce the visibility from the outside. For this purpose, use an outside aluminum paint thinned down with one fourth to one third as much turpentine or thinned enough to avoid clogging. Outside aluminum paint can be purchased at well-stocked paint stores.

Where in Washington or mail order can I purchase T shirts for my children, husband and myself with our last name on them? If these are not available, can I do this successfully at home with textile paints? I have had no experience at this.
M. E. M.

The boys' department of a large Washington department store at 8th and E sts. sells a shirt which they will put either the first or last name onto. This shirt comes only in children's sizes 6 to 16. The size 16 is generous enough, however, to fit the average woman.

Yes, the names could be put on successfully with textile paints. These are sold at art supply and paint stores and each set comes with complete direction for using the make of paints you buy.

I'd like to know where I could have letters from Holland translated, by mail, if possible.
P. McM.

Listed under "translators" in the yellow pages of the telephone book are several organizations which translate all manner of foreign language written matter. Also, if the letter has been received in connection with a CARE package, the CARE office at 1344 Connecticut ave. has volunteer translators who will do it for you without charge. When you send the letter to them, be sure to inclose a stamped addressed envelope for its return since this is an extra service for which there is no budget.

Child Must Learn to Take It

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

THE yearning, affectionate parent wishes that she might spare her beloved child all that is disagreeable in life. She, herself, will take the blows, parry the thrusts, let the child slide through unwounded.

This is not good for the child. If all his experiences were pleasant ones he would begin to search for those that were not. Through his own efforts he would discover what was bitter, what was unhappy, what was punishing.

When such a child comes home with a split lip his mother may wail over it, but she should not. He has discovered some of life's invaluable truths. He has found what will and will not work in his association with other children; what they resent and will fight over.

If his encounter has been with a bully, who fights for the pleasure of combat, then his, "I won't play with that kid, again," has been the result of what he has learned, not what someone else has told him.

Even the small child has to learn, sometimes by punishing experiences, that stoves are hot, that stairs are treacherous for unwary feet, that chairs can tip and tables make unstable supports.

In the world of companionship he will find that all is not sweetness and light. There are children who bite and kick. There are playmates who spurn his hospitality and make away with his choicest possessions. There are parties to which he is not invited and opportunities for pleasure which for economic, or other reasons, he has to be denied.

It is useless to attempt to bring up a child with the belief that only happiness is his lot. He cannot develop the character for real life on such a faulty basis.

Any child can accept his lot in life, meet its problem, suffer its disappointments and sorrows, if he has parents who love him, approve of him and show it. Nothing else is as important to his well-being.

Having done that, they can rest assured that though he meet adversity, suffer disillusionment and grief, he can surmount them.

If You Would Be Prettier

USE A CREME rinse after your shampoo to help keep hair glossy and soft between washings.

BEST results are achieved with the new ammoniated anti-decay toothpowders when teeth are brushed for two full minutes and the mouth rinsed with a solution of the dentifrice in a half-glass of water.

MOLES and other unusual growths should be removed from the face and neck, not only for appearance's sake but for health reasons as well. Consult a good dermatologist if such a problem is yours.

PURE bland baby oil brushed on the eyebrows and lashes after you have applied make-up will eliminate the powdery look and give lashes and brows a glossy sheen. A tiny bit brushed on with the tip of the finger or an eyebrow brush does the trick

HAND CREAM or lotion rubbed into the elbows every night will help smooth and soften them into prettiness for short-sleeved summer fashions.

For Chicken Paprika

Make a quick chicken paprika dish by adding about a half cup of diced onion and a tablespoon of paprika to a large frying chicken when you are browning it; then add a cup of stock, cover the pan and cook until tender. Just before serving, mix a cup of sour cream into the gravy, correct the seasoning, heat thoroughly and serve over poppyseed noodles.

Go Lightly on Mascara

Do not use too much mascara when wearing glasses. It will be magnified through the glasses.

Hollywood's makeup experts say that if you are going to expose your ears in your new short hairdo, give them a dab of powder when you make up your face.

Plane Blast Murder Is Charged to 6

Manila, June 7 (U.P.).—Six persons were formally charged today with murdering 13 persons with a time bomb aboard a Philippines airliner in an alleged plot to eliminate a husband in a love triangle.

The plane, a Philippines Airlines craft, disappeared May 7 while en route from Daet to Manila. It apparently exploded in flight over the sea, with nine passengers, including two Americans, and four crewmen aboard.

Prosecutor Valentin Reyes filed the criminal complaints, which also charged the defendants with $50,000 property damage to the plane. The two principals were identified in warrants only as "John Doe" and "Mary Roe."

The four others were named as Amadeo Salazar, a well-known Manila racketeer; Gavino Largo, a convict who allegedly broke jail to participate in the bomb plant; Domingo A. Pla, 19, son of a wealthy landowner, and Jose Abierra, a taxi driver.

The love triangle was said to involve a Filipino woman whose husband was aboard the plane.

Hip Fracture Data Refused, Judge Testifies

Finis J. Garrett, chief judge of the United States Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, testified yesterday that Doctors Hospital attaches refused to tell him how his wife broke her hip.

The Garretts are suing the hospital and neurologist Dr. Robert H. Groh for $200,000 damages, charging negligence.

Mrs. Elizabeth Garrett, 69, fell in her hospital room and fractured her hip, after she had received the third in a series of electric shock treatments for melancholia. The injury became aggrevated when the hip was refractured during a subsequent nightmare and infection set in.

She is confined to a hospital-type bed, unable to turn over.

The trial is being heard before a jury and District Court Judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

Newest AF Jet Meets Tests Successfully

Los Angeles, June 6 (AP).—The United States Air Force announced today its newest jet fighter, the Lockheed F-90, successfully completed its first test flight Saturday at the Muroc Flight Test Base.

The F-90 is one of the largest fighters ever built, weighing approximately 26,000 pounds Pilots from the Air Materiel Command at Wright Field plan to take over the plane after Lockheed fliers have completed about 25 hours of test flying. The Air Force expects to put the craft into production in 1950.

Davies' Daughter Receives Divorce From Gen. Fitch

West Palm Beach, Fla., June 7 (AP).—Mrs. Rahel Davies Fitch, daughter of Joseph E. Davies, former Ambassador to Russia, was divorced today from Gen. Burdette M. Fitch.

General Fitch was on the staff of Gen. Douglas MacArthur both in the field and as supreme commander of Allied powers in Tokyo. At present he is in the Office of Military Personnel Procurement, Washington.

The couple were married December 19, 1941. A separation agreement signed May 24, 1949, gave custody of a minor daughter, Jennifer, to Mrs. Fitch, whose suit charged mental cruelty.

Minister's Suit Charges Louis With Adultery

Chicago, June 7 (AP).—Joe Louis, retired heavyweight champion, today was accused of adultery with a New York model in a divorce suit brought by a minister.

The Circuit Court suit of the Rev. Mathew C. Faulkner, Baptist minister and former Army chaplain, was a sequel to a $500,000 alienation of affections suit pending here against Louis.

His divorce suit accuses his wife, Mattie, 27, who models under the name of Carolle Drake Faulkner, of desertion and adultery.

The Chicago clergyman alleged his wife committed adultery with Louis in Chicago, New York and Detroit during November and December, 1947, and January, 1948. He charged she accepted gifts of furs, jewelry and money from Louis and deserted her husband January 13, 1948.

Probe Report Indorsed In Forrestal Suicide

By the United Press

Rear Admiral Glenn B. Davis, commandant of the Potomac River Naval Command, yesterday indorsed the report of a special board of investigation of the suicide of former Defense Secretary James Forrestal.

Davis said he would forward the report to the Navy's Judge Advocate General, Rear Admiral George L. Russell, who will review it and forward it to Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews. Davis did not make public any part of the report. Forrestal jumped to death from a sixteenth-story window at the Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital May 26.

What's the Verdict?

PUNCTUATION

Q. A wealthy man's will said: "After the death of my son John, I give my warehouse to his son George for life, if he be then living, remainder in fee, to any eldest son George may have living, at the time of his death, if George dies before his father, without such son, then remainder in fee to my son Frank. Any property not otherwise disposed of goes to the residuary devisees." George outlived John, leaving no son. Frank and the residuary legatees claim the warehouse. Who is entitled to it?

A. As the court said: "There is no difficulty in this case which could not have been forestalled by application of the fundamental rules of punctuation which the testator doubtless learned in grammar school." Was Frank to take if George should die before John without a son, or that he should die without a son anytime? The court adopted the argument that the will should be read as if the clause said: ". . . remainder in fee, to any eldest son George may have living, at the time of his death. If George dies before his father, without such son, then remainder in fee to my son Frank." The residuary legatees win. (Ownership of valuable real estate on 7th street thus turned on the placing of a period.)—F. L. D.

Two Are Named To Head Services' Medical Division

The Defense Establishment yesterday announced that Dr. Raymond B. Allen, president of the University of Washington, will serve for three months as director of the newly unified medical services of the armed forces.

Dr. Richard L. Meiling of Ohio State University has been named deputy director. Both will take office about July 1. Dr. Allen will organize the Medical Services Division, then leave October 1 when Dr. Meiling will succeed him. Dr. Meiling, 40, served as a flight surgeon with the Air Forces during the war with the rank of colonel.

Defense Secretary Johnson said that under the leadership of the two men he is confident that "great progress will be made toward the objectives of a more unified and effective medical service for the armed forces."

Wife Obtains Divorce In Literal Shellacking

Boston, June 7 (AP).—A wife won a divorce today after testifying her husband shellacked her.

Mrs. Grace Hoar told a judge her husband came home drunk, and found her shellacking the floor. Mrs. Hoar said he picked up the can and poured its contents on her head.

House Rules Body Approves Probe Of B-36 Contracts

A resolution authorizing an early congresisonal investigation of the Air Force's B-36 procurement program was approved yesterday by the House Rules Committee.

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.), said it would be the first order of business in the House today.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D., Ga.), of the House Armed Services Committee, asked the Rules Committee for permission to go ahead with the inquiry originally demanded by Representative James E. van Zandt (R., Pa.)

Van Zandt had quoted "well-founded reports" from "sources I cannot disregard" linking Defense Secretary Johnson, Secretary of Air Symington and millionaire Floyd B. Odlum with alleged irregularities in the B-36 buying program. Odlum controls Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corp., maker of the B-36.

COLLEGE GRADUATES
REAL CAREFULLY
2 young men who wished to get a college education came to us 3 years ago seeking a way to work themselves through college. Both of them not only paid for their education, but banked a lot of money. Mr. S. R. will be sent immediately to a managerial position with our company when he graduates from college in June. Mr. A. A. will also step into a very valuable position when graduated. These are only 2 examples from the hundreds of men who came to us from all walks of life and made good. This company has unlimited opportunity for men who seek betterment.

SHAKE HANDS WITH SUCCESS

We have men who never graduated from the 8th grade in school earning in profits or commissions over $5000 per year, merchandising a unique invention.

These men have had no previous selling experience.

If you are dissatisfied with your present income regardless of what you are doing.

TEMPLETON MANOR
Two hundred and fifty families are now comfortably settled in these exceptionally fine garden-type apartments. We have about the same number still under construction. There are a few choice units ready now, and there will be more coming ready during May and June.
These are truly spacious quarters, with venetian blinds, 6-foot Frigidaire and four-burner oven-control gas range. Locker spaces and metered laundry facilities in basements. Grounds beautifully planted and sodded.
We now have four fully equipped play areas for small children, and there are to be four more. Free recreation room space is being furnished for the operation of a cooperative Teen-Ager Club. We are also turning over one of the apartments for the free use of a cooperative day nursery to be operated by the tenants.
4-room unit, consisting of living room, dining room, bedroom, kitchen and bath at $86.50.
Two-bedroom apartments are priced at $92.50 (with dinette) and $96.50 (with full dining room). Utilities included in above prices.
DIRECTIONS: Out Bladensburg rd. to Peace Cross and bear right to Edmonston rd., left up Edmonston about one mile to Madison st. Or: Capital Transit bus or trolley to Mount Rainier and transfer to East Riverdale bus, Route B-4, to subdivision. Resident manager at 5433 55th pl., Apt. 101.

Interested in Beautiful Rambler Priced to Sell?

Only one now left in this beautiful locality. Perhaps you were out to see our "Better Homes and Gardens" model house when we placed it on exhibit? If so, you know of the beauty of our development and our homes. Of 71 homes built, only 6 are unsold.

Drive straight out Columbia pike over 14th St. Highway Bridge about 1 mile before Annandale where you'll see our sign, "Columbia Pines." This is an opportunity you cannot afford to miss. The owners have said "Sell!" in order to proceed with remaining development. This is your chance. Custom-built home at a steal-away price. Call Mrs. Veach for any further information desired. OW. 9196 FA. 4000.

Pop Gets Brief History Lesson From Son

Then there's the story about the fellow who always had trouble waking his sleepy son for school.

One day, to lend emphasis to his verbal prodding, Pop said:

"You should be ashamed of yourself for being so lazy, son. Do you know what Abe Lincoln was doing at your age?"

"No," replied the lad, "but I known what he was doing at your age."

THAT'S DIFFERENT, TED

Ted Bullockus of 6323 Luzon ave. nw. was very worried when he discovered that sidewalk photographers get arrested for standing in one place for more than five minutes.

"I might as well go down to police headquarters and give myself up," sighs Ted. "I'm guilty of violating that law every time I make an appointment to meet my wife downtown."

THIS SAVES STAMPS, TOO

Since my radio program was terminated, I've gotten a number of letters expressing regret, and asking when I'd be on again.

I wish that I could answer each of those letters personally—if only to say "thanks for your interest." As a matter of fact, I began with good intentions, and did answer the first dozen or so.

But I'm afraid that if I try to answer them all, I won't have time left to write a column. So, with your permission, let me make this an open letter to:

Mrs. Arthur E. Beach, 4609 30th st. nw.; Mrs. William S. Baker, 60 Randolph pl. nw.; Mrs. R. L. Petzold, 1226 Noyes dr., Silver Spring, Md.; Jennie D. Dear District Liners:

Thanks for the kind words.

I have no definite plans to do a program at present, because I'm going on vacation soon.

WTOP's manager, John Hayes, says that he wants me to resume the program just as soon as he can "find a suitable time segment for it."

If that doesn't materialize by the time I get back from vacation, I'll see what can be worked out with several other radio and television offers which have come in meantime.

So one way or another, we'll probably be getting together via the airwaves again, by Fall. Until then, keep a light in the window for me.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

T-H Caucus Bares Dem. Split

By Drew Pearson

Humphrey

The dramatic, day-long caucus of Senate Democrats to thresh out their labor differences showed up some of the basic cleavages in the Democratic Party. Senators closed down the Senate, crowded into their stuffy conference room, pulled all doors shut behind them, and let down their hair for eight hectic hours.

They came out better educated, but just as widely split over replacing the Taft-Hartley law.

Only the low rumble of voices leaked through the thick, wooden doors. But here are the highlights of that important meeting.

Hottest issue was whether to authorize the President to seize plants and keep strikers working in industries affecting the national welfare. North Carolina's amiable Senator Clyde Hoey, who still wears striped pants and swallowtails to work, wanted to adopt an injunction-power provision right then and there.

Big Paul Douglas of Illinois, the popular liberal who shows signs of going conservative, suggested letting the Government operate the struck plants for a 90-day cooling-off period only. Minnesota's scrappy Hubert Humphrey thought 30 days was long enough.

But it was sharp-as-a-needle Millard Tydings of Maryland who got down to brass tacks. He not only insisted upon giving the President authority to operate struck plants, but warned bluntly: "If you don't do it, you'll lose 19 Southern votes, including mine."

This caused dynamic Matt Neely of West Virginia, an old labor warhorse, to explode.

"You may make a lot of compromises around here," he bristled. "You may even pick up six Southern Democrats and five Republicans. But you'll lose 10 million Democrats at the next election."

Barkley Does Amos 'N' Andy

Before the fireworks began the morning session started off more like a classroom lecture. Labor Chairman Elbert Thomas of Utah, author of the Taft-Hartley repealer, played the professor, explaining his bill and answering questions. It was all very scholarly until Virginia's Willie Robertson, whose views out-Taft Taft, accused Thomas of telling him how to vote.

This brought the usually gentle Utahan to his feet, puffing angrily.

"I'm not telling anyone how to vote," he exploded. "I'm not here pleading for the bill. I'm here to explain it."

At the height of the morning session, Vice President Alben Barkley walked in and brought the discussion to a temporary halt. He was reminded of Henry Van Porter, he drawled, a character on the Amos 'n' Andy radio program.

"As Henry Van Porter would say, 'We are all brothers in the lodge,'" cracked the Vice President.

Barkley then gently chided the assembled Democrats on their obligations to party platform pledges.

"I don't want anyone to vote against his principles," he said, "but it is important to remember that we are writing a labor policy and we made certain assurances to the people."

Down To Brass Tacks

The caucus finally got down to brass tacks when Illinois' Douglas suggested five compromises worked out by a coalition of liberal Democrats and Republicans.

Douglas' amendments, since made public, call for collective bargaining, non-Communist affidavits, financial reporting, free speech and a 90-day cooling-off period in strikes affecting the national welfare. These apply both to management and labor.

In presenting these compromises Douglas stressed that he had been given the green light by labor.

"If Bill Green (AFL) and Phil Murray (CIO) hadn't approved of these," declared Douglas, "I would not offer them."

Humphrey followed up with four amendments along the same lines, but not as strong as those advocated by Douglas.

"I am not going to be for any amendments," added the Minnesotan, "unless there is a gentlemen's agreement to go down the line and support this measure. If the labor law of the country is going to be a rehash of the Taft-Hartley Act, let the Republicans do it. I want no part of it."

Thomas warned that he never would accept any amendments not "in harmony with the intent and spirit of repealing the Taft-Hartley law."

Majority Leader Scott Lucas argued that it was better to write a moderate labor law than to leave Taft-Hartley on the books. Though no vote was taken, most of the Democrats approved of compromising.

Most outspoken against compromise was Neely, who shouted: "I know what happened when Chamberlain appeased Hitler. That's what is going to happen to the Democratic Party."

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida agreed with Neely that every one of the compromises were "Taft amendments."

Those who argued for even more compromises were Senators Holland of Florida, McFarland of Arizona, Hoey of North Carolina and Robertson of Virginia.

McFarland insisted that State laws should have priority over any Federal labor law, and the other three chorused their agreement.

Meanwhile, the fight that started in the Democratic caucus has been carried over to the Senate floor.
